Reds Slaughter Nationalists

Chinese Provincial Force Annihilated by Foe in Surprise Attack

Reverses Met Elsewhere as Chiang Takes Over Army Command

[illegible] (China) Dec. 7. (AP)—[illegible] from Northern Hupeh Province today said 20,000 Reds surrounded and attacked an almost equal number of Provincial troops, virtually annihilating the latter.

The loss was regarded as one of the most severe suffered by the military since the campaign against [illegible] and Communism was inaugurated immediately after the [illegible] of the Civil War. The attack occurred between Kwangshui [illegible], less than 100 miles [illegible] of this important interior [illegible].

The government suffered reverses [illegible], principally along the [illegible] River, where a great outburst of activity by Communist cannon severely handicapped domestic and foreign shipping.

All this in spite of the announcement today by President Chiang [illegible] that the government was making its supreme effort [illegible] the Reds. The President-[illegible] has again brought into play Nanking's "silver bullets," [illegible] "those who surrender, bringing with them arms and ammunition from the enemy, will receive a reward and pardon, while [illegible] responsible for the capture, [illegible] or alive, of any Communist [illegible] will be richly rewarded."

Chiang himself assumed command of the campaign against the Reds today. The Generalissimo arrived at Hankow from Nanking [illegible] expected to establish headquarters [illegible].

[illegible] of Red batteries along the [illegible] during the last forty-eight hours was most severe between Hankow and Ichang, 200 [illegible]. American, French, [illegible] and Japanese vessels suffered [illegible], although only one [illegible] was reported.

[illegible] gunboat Tern, convoying a group of commercial vessels, was among those attacked. The [illegible], silencing the batteries and enabling [illegible] to escape unharmed. [illegible] cargo vessel, attacked [illegible] above Hankow, was heavily [illegible]. A Chinese seaman [illegible].

[illegible] American cargo vessel [illegible] attacked below Yochow. [illegible] American ship was convoyed by a United States gunboat [illegible] to Hankow.

[illegible] Chiang Kai-shek said [illegible] plans, if necessary, [illegible] troops, twenty gunboats and thirty airplanes against [illegible] in the Yangtse Valley.

POISON FOG SPREADING

Invasion Feared in England

Mysterious Cattle Deaths at Yorkshire Cause Grave Concern

Queen Elizabeth Pays Visit to Belgian Victims in Meuse Valley

CROSMOUNT (Yorkshire, Eng.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Fear the mysterious fog-borne malady which has taken toll of men and beasts in the Meuse Valley of Belgium, may be spreading to England was caused today by the inexplicable death of ten cattle on a farm near here.

Neither the veterinary surgeon attending the cattle nor the district veterinary inspector ever encountered a similar outbreak and they definitely have concluded the symptoms are not those of any known disease.

A certain amount of fog has prevailed over the Yorkshire region the last few days, but none of the other farms has been similarly affected.

QUEEN OF BELGIANS VISITS VICTIMS OF FOG

BRUSSELS, Dec. 7. (AP)—Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians, accompanied by her staff, visited the death-stricken villages of the Meuse Valley today, entering the homes of several of the sick and sympathizing with the bereaved.

Her Majesty and Red Cross delegates listened to the stories of the slowly recovering victims who told of an intense prickling sensation in the throat immediately after they entered what they called the poisonous fog.

Three more deaths, bringing the total to sixty-seven, and the fact that many still are suffering despite the lifting of the fog were advanced as an argument that the deaths were caused by noxious fumes released from an industrial plant.

These statements of the sufferers have caused the judicial authorities to proceed with post-mortem examinations of several of the victims, despite official statements the deaths were due alone to the cold fog.

Sensational statements as to poison fumes continued to circulate today. Eyewitnesses said they noticed a narrow dark cloud which originated in a neighboring height and which rolled along the valley.

Authorities investigating possibility that some industrial plant permitted noxious fumes to escape visited a number of plants within a radius of twenty miles.

A similar calamity occurred in the winter of 1911 claiming as victims—both men and animals. Post mortems at that time disclosed the deaths were from pulmonary emphysema. Fog epidemics of the same nature occurred in 1902 and 1897.

TWO SCORE IN GERMAN RIOTS HURT

Sunday Clashes Between Communists and Fascists Result in Many Wounds

BERLIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—More than forty persons were seriously injured, one probably fatally, in the usual Sunday political clashes in Berlin and other German cities today.

At Bernau, near Berlin, Communists stoned a parade of Fascists and then turned the same missiles on police who stepped in to quell the riot. Twenty policemen and Fascists were taken to a hospital.

At Dortmund one Fascist was reported to be dying as a result of injuries in a Communist-Fascist fight.

A Fascist attempt to break up a Republican Reichsbanner at Hamlen, near Hanover, resulted in ten being seriously injured and many slightly.

A dozen were reported wounded in riots here.

Twelve Fascists were seriously wounded by bullets at Bonn, in the Rhineland, and as a precaution against further trouble the police prohibited a Fascist torchlight procession scheduled for tonight.

Storms of Life Nearly Done for Padre of Rains

SAN JOSE, Dec. 7. (AP)—Father Jerome S. Ricard, head of the astronomical department of the University of Santa Clara, suffered a relapse tonight and his condition is so critical the last rites of the church were administered.

Father Ricard was confined at O'Connor Sanatorium here from January to September with a failing heart, his recovery for a long time despaired of. In September, however, he had recovered sufficiently to return to the university, although his condition was such he never actively resumed his duties there.

Fire Destroys Block in Iowa

CRESTON (Iowa) Dec. 7. (AP)—Fire which razed one-half black in the business district, including six first-floor stores and second-story apartments of thirteen families, today caused an estimated damage of more than $100,000.

The fire was discovered by C. A. Lease, whose family occupied rooms in rear of center of the building. Lease and his wife spread the alarm to occupants of the apartments, all of whom escaped in their night clothing.

SLIGHT QUAKE FELT AT SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—A slight earthquake shock was felt in this city and vicinity at 5:25 p.m. today. The shock lasted approximately thirty seconds, according to reports. No damage resulted.

Little Hoover Trio Installed in White House

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—From across the continent three little Hoovers, Peggy Ann, Herbert III and Baby Joan, arrived from Southern California today to occupy their special suite in a White House already filling with Christmas presents and plans.

Brought by their mother they came prepared to stay, with a trained nurse for Joan and a governess for the older two, with complete wardrobes, plenty of playthings and the special feeding rules that doctors lay down nowadays for growing boys and girls.

For they are to live with their grandparents while their father, Herbert Hoover, Jr., is recovering from illness at Asheville, N. C. Mrs. Hoover, Jr., will return to her husband in Asheville.

Lisbon Police Seize Guns in Revolt Plot

LISBON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Continuing their investigation into an asserted revolutionary plot, disclosed in the discovery within the last few days of almost 200 bombs in various parts of the city, police today seized five machine guns and ammunition at the fertilizer factory of the Commercial Agricultural Alliance.

The owner of the factory, Candido Alves Riberiro, was arrested. The police charge the guns were obtained by Luis Mala Monteiro, who at present, is ill at the prison hospital.

Extending their investigation into the provinces, the police seized forty-three sticks of dynamite at Oporto, together with cartridges and chlorate of potassium.

Californian Dies in Nevada Crash

RENO (Nev.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Samuel J. Howell, recent arrival from Red Bluff, Cal., was killed; Fred Danne of Sparks, Nev., was injured probably fatally, and Abe Diamond of Sparks received two fractured ribs when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Southern Pacific freight train at a crossing west of here this morning.

ONE LIFE LOST IN ROOMING-HOUSE FIRE

HELPER (Utah) Dec. 7. (AP)—Christina Evanoff, 11 years of age, was burned to death, her mother and brother were seriously injured and several other persons fled into a cold night in scanty attire early today when fire destroyed a rooming-house here.

FLORIDA ANNOUNCES DINOSAUR EGG FIND

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Dec. 7. (AP) The Florida Times-Union says in a dispatch from Ocala, Fla., that a dinosaur egg, estimated to be from 2,000,000 to 7,000,000 years old, has been found in a phosphate pit near Dunnellon, in Marion county.

BARTHOU CABINET BLOCKED

French Senator Fails to Form New Government Due to Radicals' Action

PARIS, Dec. 7. (AP)—Senator Louis Barthou late tonight relinquished the task of attempting to form a concentration Cabinet and tomorrow morning President Gaston Doumergue will seek someone else to succeed Andre Tardieu.

Senator Barthou, after negotiations in the afternoon which pointed to success, was blocked tonight by the Radical party, which at a party meeting voted refusal to co-operate with a Cabinet containing a representative of the Extreme Right group which is headed by Louis Marin.

Former Premier Tardieu was slated for a post in the concentration government, and he insisted that some member of the Marin faction must have a portfolio, since this party always voted steadily for him 100 strong. With Tardieu on one side and the Radicals on the other, Barthou gave up the job at midnight.

The Radicals asserted the Extreme Rightists had pronounced against the secularization laws and fought the policy of peace pursued since the Treaty of Locarno, both vital articles in the Radical program.

Direct Wireless Communication With China Open

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—H. H. Kung, Chinese Minister of Industry, Commerce and Labor, today sent a greeting to America to celebrate the opening of direct wireless communication between China and the United States.

His wireless message, sent to the Associated Press from Nanking, read as follows:

"Upon the establishment of direct wireless communication with America we wish to extend warm greetings to the American business world."

The new radio circuit, operating between San Francisco and Shanghai, formally was opened yesterday with an exchange of messages between President Hoover and Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Chinese government.

Mexico Bandits Slain in Fight

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7. (AP)—Dispatches from Aguascaliente say thirteen bandits, members of a gang led by the notorious Jose Velasco, were slain in a fight with agrarian troops near the frontier of the State of Jalisco. Velasco escaped.

The bandits shortly before had held up an automobile load of tourists, killing two of the occupants.

FIVE IN PLOT FACE DEATH

Russians Cheer at Verdict

Other Three Conspirators Given Ten-Year Terms and Lose Property

Moscow Takes on Holiday Air as Throngs Gather for Trial Finale

MOSCOW, Dec. 7. (AP)—Eight once prominent engineers, on trial since November 25, last, under charges that they conspired with foreign interests to overthrow the soviet regime, heard with stoicism today a verdict that condemned five of them to death and the other three to ten years' imprisonment, with confiscation of all their property.

Prolonged cheering and handclapping greeted the verdict. However, even all this cheering in the old ballroom where once Russian nobility promenaded failed to shake the eight men who previously had confessed fully into a microphone and before grinding film cameras.

All have forty-eight hours to petition the Central Executive Committee for clemency, and after that time those condemned to death may be shot at the convenience of the authorities.

THOSE LISTED TO DIE

The men sentenced to death are:

Leonid Ramsin, 43 years of age, former professor in the Moscow Technical Institute and director of the Heat and Power Institute.

Victor Larichev, 43, second in command to Ramsin, and former head of the fuel department of the State Planning Commission.

Nikolai Charnovsky, 62, professor in various technical institutes and president of the scientific and technical council of the Supreme Economic Council.

Ivan Kalinikov, 56, former official of the State Planning Commission and professor in the Military Aerial Academy.

Alexander Fedotov, 67, eldest of the conspirators; professor in various institutes and chairman of the Scientific Research Textile Institute.

THREE SPARED

Those sentenced to ten years' imprisonment are:

Vladimir Ochkin, 30, the youngest of the group, secretary to Ramsin in the Heat and Power Institute and manager of the research section of the Supreme Economic Council.

Sergei Kuprianov, 59, director of the technical section of the Supreme Economic Council.

Xenophon Sitnin, 52, engineer of the All-Union Textile Syndicate.

The three men whose lives were spared smiled somewhat happily as they heard the verdict of imprisonment.

Crowds began gathering around the House of Columns at 4 o'clock this afternoon to hear the verdict and squads of mounted police finally found it necessary to surround the block containing the building to keep the entrance clear.

LIKE HOLIDAY EVENT

The doors opened at 6 o'clock and in a few minutes the galleries and main floor of the courtroom were jammed. For an hour or more the spectators kept their seats and then gradually moved out to the lobbies. There stood laughing and chatting girls, resembling persons attending an opera rather than awaiting a decision that might mean death for eight men. Their escorts were gay, too, and the whole thing was considerable of a holiday affair.

The buffet on the second floor of the building did so great a business that all its tea and mineral water were sold out early in the evening, for no one who had the luck to get in deserted the building. Some brought sandwiches and apples to munch as they strolled along the corridors.

By 11 p.m. everyone looked weary but persistent, and the four judges, who had been locked in their chambers since around noon yesterday, also appeared tired as they took their seats.

TASK FOR JUDGES

The judges had worked practically day and night since retiring, as under soviet law they were not permitted to leave their chambers until the verdict had been written. They also were not permitted to see anyone except special Red guards who were assigned to take them their meals.

Some fifteen minutes later a bell clanged and a great dash for seats resulted.

The eight defendants filed into the prisoners' box and soon arc lights began to sputter and motion-picture cameras to buzz.

The men were somewhat pale as they entered, but regained their composure when seated, thereby drawing some favorable comment from the jammed courtroom. Prof.

NAVY WANTS MORE MEN

Secretary Adams in Annual Report Says Promotions Should be Regular

Congress Urged to Pick Site for Air Base in West Soon; Sailors' Health Good

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Secretary Adams sailed straightaway into a statement of the wants of the Navy for men and money today in his annual report.

Addressing President Hoover, he called for more man power, better pay and promotions at regular intervals to prevent the "stagnation" of officers through long periods in the same grade.

The Navy Secretary pointed out that the present level of compensation is 11 per cent above that received in 1908, but said the cost of living has more than doubled since that time.

Other legislative proposals for which he advocated Congressional approval included:

Authorization to modernize the battleships New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho.

Establishment of a naval airship base on the Pacific Coast.

AVIATION CITED

Bans against photographs, sketches or maps of vital military and naval defense installations and equipment.

The increasing importance of aviation to the naval forces was evident throughout the report. A six-plane patrol unit will be added to both battle and scouting fleets and two scouting squadrons of twenty planes and twelve planes, respectively, will be attached to new light cruisers.

"A need exists for additional airplane carriers in order to exploit to the full the possibilities of naval aviation in operations with the fleet," Adams said. A west coast air base is considered essential and selection of a site was urged upon Congress at an early date, whether or not the Navy orders construction of a new giant dirigible.

REPLACEMENTS SOUGHT

During the year the "number of enlisted men was not adequate to man fully all types of ships and it was necessary to operate most types of ships with allowances which were considerably under the actual complement of the ships."

The allowances averaged 87.9 per cent of the actual complement of the ships, which the Secretary said "does not keep a Navy fully prepared for war."

BEN LINDSEY STIRS RIOT

Church Thrown Into Uproar

Former Jurist Ousted From New York Cathedral and Placed Under Arrest

Fight Starts Over Challenge of Manning's Denunciation of "Free Love" Idea

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Former Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver was forcibly ejected from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine today and arrested when he attempted to reply to Bishop William T. Manning, who denounced him from the pulpit. Tumult ensued.

Lindsey, with one friend at his side, sat tense among the 3500 well-groomed worshipers and heard himself scored as the author of a book "one of the most filthy, insidious and cleverly written pieces of propaganda ever published in behalf of lewdness, promiscuity, adultery and unrestrained sexual gratification."

JUDGE QUOTED

Bishop Manning during his sermon read a newspaper clipping quoting the opinion of Chief Justice Greely W. Whiteford of Colorado, in the disbarment of Lindsey, citing "professional misconduct, embracing acceptance of fees while he was judge."

Expressions such as "break down the moral defenses of the young," "efforts being made to destroy the moral foundations of our life," "foul and wicked thing" were uttered by the bishop.

At this point Lindsey seemed about to make a reply.

"It is not a question of free speech," the bishop concluded, "or the right to hear all sides of these questions. The question is whether the clergy of our church, the guides of our young people, should give the countenance and indorsement of their invitation to a man who stands openly and publicly for legalized free love under cover of the term companionate marriage."

SHOUT RESOUNDS

The bishop, coldly calm, brought his sermon to an end with a denunciation of "a man who stands openly for legalized free love under cover of the term 'companionate marriage.'"

He turned his back to the congregation and bowed his head in prayer.

The Denver champion of companionate marriage strode forward and leaped upon a table just below the pulpit in which the bishop still intoned the ascription.

"Bishop Manning" he cried, his voice electrifying the thousands who had been listening to the bishop's excoriation, "You have falsely represented me! If this is not a house of justice, it is not a house of God! In justice I ask for five minutes to answer your unfair attack."

PRAYER DROWNED

The prayer of the bishop of the diocese of New York was drowned by the voice of the former Juvenile Court judge of Denver. The bishop remained with his back to the pews.

Two ushers sprang forward, pulling Lindsey from the table. The cathedral, one of the most famous churches of the world, buzzed with voices of richly dressed women and men in morning dress.

A hundred or more men and women arose in their seats, pushed into the aisles and rushed forward. A man's voice cried, "Punch him!"

Another man struck Lindsey on the head.

Profanity was heard. The aisle leading toward the press table at which Lindsey had been sitting and on which he had leaped, filled with pushing, excited worshipers.

"HE LIED ABOUT ME"

Everyone seemed to have forgotten the church was in prayer; everyone save Bishop Manning, who, his back still to his congregation, continued his petition for divine blessing.

The words of prayer were drowned in the hubbub, above which rose the voice of Lindsey, crying, "He lied about me. He had no right to lie about me. This is no house of justice! This is no house of God!"

No voice was raised to silence the uproar. The bishop himself re-

MAROONED ANGELENOS SAFE

Navy Planes Searching for Missing Fishermen Rescue Shipwrecked Yachting Party

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—The story of how eight persons escaped in a skiff from the teeth of a southeast gale that whipped their fifty-five-foot yacht onto the Pinnacle Rocks of Guadalupe Island was related here this afternoon when the U.S.S. Aaron Ward put into port with nine survivors of the Eola, which dragged anchor while off the southern islands November 30 and was pounded to pieces by the surf.

Rescue of the party from the barren island, 220 miles south of here, was effected Saturday by the aircraft carrier Langley and the destroyer Aaron Ward, engaged in a search for the missing San Pedro fishing boat Fidelity.

Those brought in by the destroyer are:

L. Sayers, master of the ill-fated yacht, 2307 Wellington Road, Los Angeles; J. F. Frisbee, Lucile Frisbee, 19 years of age; Hazel Frisbee, 10; Mrs. Mary Johnson, daughter of Frisbee; Verlee Johnson, 3 1-2 years of age, and Mrs. Anna Frisbee, all of 2438 Eastern avenue, Los Angeles; J. M. McFate of San Diego; H. R. Tiffany, Binghamton, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Watson and their son, Theron Watson, 11, were spending the night on the yacht. They live on the island and will remain their until the company sends another boat south. They have provisions for about thirty days.

The entire party, with the exception of Frisbee, McFate, Tiffany and Hazel Frisbee, was aboard the yacht when a gale blew up with unexpected suddenness and played with the craft like a match on the waves, despite the fact that anchors had been thrown out from both bow and stern.

"Everybody but myself retired about 9 o'clock last Sunday night," said Capt. Sayers, who has been on the sea ever since he was a boy. "The clouds were racing high up

OLDER TACTICS "SAVOR OF PERJURY SUBORNATION"

Story of Publisher's Twelve-Year Campaign to Get Estelle Smith to Recant Identification

This is the sixth of a series of daily articles presenting an exhaustive analysis of the State Supreme Court's recent hearing of new evidence in the Mooney-Billings cases, resulting in a denial of Billings's plea for a pardon recommendation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—As has been seen, in the division of "work" to be done on the "vital witnesses" whose testimony convicted Mooney and Billings of the Preparedness Day bombing, that in and around San Francisco itself fell largely to Fremont Older, successively editor of the Bulletin and the Call and now of the two papers, merged some months ago.

It was Older, it will be recalled, who instantly suspected Mooney of the dynamiting, though at that time there was no evidence to connect Mooney with it. It was the evidence tending to impeach the witness, F. C. Oxman, which will be described later, that changed Older's opinion, he told the Supreme Court. Having changed his opinion he went to the opposite extreme and, as he informed the court at its recent hearing, is now so convinced of the innocence of the pair that their own confessions of guilt would not change his belief.

Older received about $1500 from the Chicago Federation of Labor to finance his efforts in behalf of Mooney and Billings, he testified, adding that he also spent a few hundred dollars of his own money. There was no effort to make an accounting to the federation for the funds expended; in fact, Older himself was vague as to its disposition. Part of it, he thought, went to Maxwell McNutt, attorney for Mooney, and some to an investigator. A "loan" of $300 made by Older to one of the "vital witnesses" was never repaid and never accounted for. Another witness in the same classification got $70 in cash or its equivalent, a wrist watch and a string of pearls. That seemed to be his outlays, though one of his re- about all Older could remember of porters told of spending a considerable sum to entertain MacDonald.

Of the various witnesses available to Older for "working on," the most important one in his mind appears to have been Estelle Smith, the dentist's assistant who identified Billings as the man who came into her office and whom she saw descending from the roof of 721 Market street with an old suit case shortly before the suit case-bomb, of identical appearance, was planted at Market and Steuart streets. Several other witnesses corroborated this. As will be recalled, it was the theory of the prosecution that 721 Market was the original rendezvous of the dynamiters and that they went from there to the scene of the explosion in Weinberg's jitney. The testimony of Estelle Smith and at least four others supported this theory so strongly that it became very desirable that she should retract it. Older took on this task, spent twelve years, off and on, at it and succeeded in getting what he described as a retraction—only to have Estelle repudiate it at the last minute.

REMARKABLE CAMPAIGN

The story of how Miss Smith was finally induced to sign, without reading it, an affidavit in which she was represented as repudiating her identification of Billings is one even more remarkable than that of John MacDonald and his repudiations. It is a story of subtle influences skillfully applied at hundreds of interviews over a dozen years, of lavish attentions and valuable gifts, of friendship and confidence laboriously built up with a single end in view, constant importuning directed at a not-too-clever girl whose mind ultimately came to be so dominated by that of Older that she signed blindly whatever he asked her to sign—in that case an affidavit "fixed up" by Older's aides in the office of the Call and in which Miss Smith appeared to say that at the time she identified Billings she was a drug addict and not mentally responsible; in effect, that the identification was false. In her testimony to the Supreme Court she repudiated this and reverted to her original story that the man at 721 Market street was Billings.

What the Supreme Court thought of her original testimony, of Older's long campaign to induce her to change it and of its results is succinctly set forth in the decision signed by six of the seven justices. It says:

"We are satisfied that Estelle Smith told, as nearly as such an emotional, voluble, impressionable personage could be expected to tell it at a public trial, the truth as to the main episode of her contacts with Warren K. Billings with a suit case at 721 Market street a short while before the Preparedness Day explosion . . . and that her story as to the persons and circumstances connected with her later repudiations of her former testimony bears so far the evidences of sincerity and truth as to satisfy our minds that the means employed in the effort to intrigue, overpersuade, suggestionize and seduce her into repudiation of her former truthful testimony savored strongly of subornation of perjury."

According to the testimony, Miss Smith first met Older in the spring of 1917. She was taken to his office by Draper Hand, a policeman on whom Older "worked" for two years in connection with the testimony of another witness, of which more later. Up to that time Miss Smith had come in for a lot of harsh criticism by the Mooney-Billings proponents. Older thought that was bad strategy and he took the opposite tack. He talked kindly and sympathetically with the girl, took her to dinner, got her to tell the rather drab story of her life. Describing these tactics Older testified:

"It occurred to me that if I could . . . obtain her friendship, I might possibly interest her in trying to modify the statement she had made in court, under oath, about her identification of Billings."

Having gained the girl's confidence, it further occurred to Older, he testified, that Billings's own life story might be sufficiently similar to that of Miss Smith to establish a bond of sympathy between them. So he took Miss Smith to Billings's cell and had him relate to her some—probably not all—of his personal history. At the end of it, according to Older, the girl wept and promised to help Billings all she could.

A little later, Older said, he took Miss Smith to a beach restaurant and questioned her as to how she came to be a witness in the bomb trials. The result was an article in the Call attacking those who, Older said, had "suggestionized" Estelle Smith into identifying Billings. Peculiarly, Older did not appear to consider his own tactics as "suggestionizing." After this statement appeared Older sent Miss Smith to Los Angeles with one "Jack Black" and another person. Older said this was because she feared harm. Miss Smith said it was so that no one else could reach her. Later in the same year, 1917, she returned to San Francisco and the interviews with Older were resumed, all working toward the same end.

GIFTS OF WATCH, PEARLS

On Christmas Eve, 1917, Older called Miss Smith down to his office and presented her with a valuable wrist watch. The following year he gave her a string of pearls. On a third occasion he gave her a $20 merchandise order. On still another he sent her a check for $50. This, she testified, was at her request, her mother being seriously ill and Older informed her the money must be returned by a certain time. When the time came she did not have the money and Older said: "It is all right; you can pay me later." Later, she said, she came into possession of two Panama hats which she gave to Older in settlement of the debt. Older, by the way, declared it was only one hat. On two or three occasions Miss Smith would have a bookseller pick out a volume and would take it to Older as a return gift. She gave Mrs. Older a shawl and some preserves, too, Older said.

These gifts from Older to Miss Smith appear to have been a part of his program for "obtaining her friendship" and thereby securing the desired modification of her testimony against Billings for, as will appear, Older did not make outlays of this kind without a definite motive.

The interviews and "suggestionizing" continued at intervals over the years. Miss Smith says she met Older "hundreds of times" during which her part in the Billings case was discussed. For months, if not years, it was Older's custom to take her to dinner two or three times a week.

At some point in the campaign Miss Smith came into possession of an important piece of information about Billings. She says Billings himself told it to her at her first interview with him. Older says he was the one who imparted the facts. At any rate, Older admitted on the stand, he had known it for months, even years, without letting it become public.

This was that, on the day of the Preparedness Parade, Billings was engaged in sabotage for the Painters' Union, whose members were then out on strike. His job was to go up and down the streets with a list of automobile numbers, a syringe and a supply of acid. When he found a car with a license number that was on his list he would squirt acid on it so as to ruin the finish and make it necessary for it to be repainted. The idea was to flood the garages with work so that their proprietors would have to recall the strikers to work on their own terms. The relevance of this will become apparent later.

FIRST "RECANTATION"

The "work" on Miss Smith went on and in 1920 a scarehead story appeared in the Call in which the girl was represented as saying that she might have been mistaken in her identification of Billings. The article was prepared by a Call reporter from what Older told him of a conversation he had had with the girl. In it she seemingly recanted to the extent of saying, not that she had positively seen Billings at 721 Market street, but that she had seen "another man who looked so much like Billings that it startled me."

In her original identification two of the points on which Miss Smith based it were a small scar on the forehead of the man she saw with the suit case and a badly damaged thumbnail, both characteristic of Billings at the time.

In the Supreme Court hearing she was questioned about the 1920 Call story as follows:

Q.: Isn't it a fact that later on, after the trial, you, in some writing, indicated that you were doubtful about Billings being the man who visited your office on that occasion?

A.: I have talked to Mr. Older constantly since I first met him.

Q.: Would you kindly answer that question?

A.: And I said I did believe I could be mistaken; if he could show me another man with the mark on his forehead, with his thumbnails in the same condition—I would have to say it was a double—that it would be a double person.

It does not appear that Older was able to produce any such extraordinary coincidence of scars and thumbnails but that did not prevent the exploitation of the statement "by Estelle Smith" that she might have been mistaken in her identification of Billings.

The unusual circumstances surrounding what was heralded as Miss Smith's final recantation, in her affidavit of 1929, as they were brought out in the Supreme Court hearing, will be described in the next article.

FIVE RUSSIANS IN PLOT TO DIE

Throng at Moscow Court Cheers Death Verdict

Other Three Conspirators Given Prison Terms

Ramsin appeared paler than the others, but he smoked cigarettes nonchalantly as he glanced about at the crowd. Two of the other defendants whispered to each other.

Only the grinding of the cameras and the sputtering of the lights were heard as the judges arose for the verdict and all others stood likewise, for all must be on their feet during the reading of a verdict in a soviet court.

Judge Vishinsky began the words that meant life or death.

EARPHONES ADJUSTED

As the prisoners rose they adjusted their earphones—they wore these during most of the trial in order to hear the words spoken into the microphone—and their faces were drawn as the spotlights turned full upon them.

Ramsin tightly gripped the desk in front of him, Larichev stood with downcast eyes and Charnovsky gulped two glasses of water after requesting an attendant to bring them.

N. B. Krilenko, with shaven head and fierce mien, looked the indomitable prosecutor as he stood and seemingly scowled at the prisoners and spectators.

Judge Vishinsky's voice grew hoarse as he read and halted occasionally to sip a glass of tea.

The verdict required about forty-five minutes to read and it reviewed in brief virtually all evidence that had been submitted during the two-week trial.

COURT'S FINDINGS

It found that military intervention had been sponsored by the eight defendants, backed by "capitalists and military circles of France and the Torgprom (Russian emigre organization in Paris) and the Industrial party of Russia."

The court also asserted "the anti-soviet engineers produced the most hostile and most violent leaders of counter-revolutionary organizations."

Answering charges from abroad that the trial was a frame-up, the verdict asserted the mysterious French agents "K" and "R," named by the defendants as passing on information from Moscow to general staff officers in Paris, are actual persons.

Regarding this same thing, the verdict said the court will "make special application to the government on the matter" which was proved at a closed session after an order had been issued against mentioning foreign governments in open court.

While the engineers previously had confessed to plotting foreign intervention and sabotaging soviet industry through the organization of the Industrial party, the court found this party is "not connected with the masses and has no support from the laboring population and peasants."

Prof. Ramsin has a young and beautiful Georgian wife, but if any relatives of the defendants were in court when sentence was passed the fact did not become known. The families in general have kept away from this trial.

Mexico Cement Plant Enlarged to Meet Needs

MONTERREY (Mex.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—In order to meet the large increase in the demand for cement in Mexico the Compania Cementos Portland, S.A., of Monterrey, is enlarging its plant here at a cost of $415,000.

New rotary mills, electrically operated, for grinding the raw material; a new rotary kiln and other equipment and machinery have been installed. The present capacity of 350 tons of cement daily will be greatly increased when the improvements are completed.

The storage capacity of the plant is being increased by the erection of two new silos, totaling 4000 tons of cement. The road construction program now under way in Mexico requires large quantities of cement for concrete bridges and culverts and there are also many new buildings which require the product.

JURIST THROWN OUT OF FAMOUS CHURCH

Ben B. Lindsey

With the escort of ushers, the Denver advocate of companionate marriage was hustled to a side door. Behind him surged the crowd of men and women. At the top of a wooden stairway leading to the ground four detectives broke through in time to save Lindsey from being pushed headlong upon them.

ARRESTS THREATENED

A woman screamed "lynch him!" the detectives pushed the crowd back, threatening arrests. Thirty or more persons broke through and followed on a long walk to the police car in front of the great stone church. They continued their angry shouts.

Finally Detective Lieutenant Flood turned and threatened to arrest the next man who spoke.

Lindsey was rushed to the One Hundredth-street Police Station and held there until arrival of his attorney, Arthur Garfield Hays. The police at first were going to hold him for $500 bail, but Hays persuaded them to release his client on his own recognizance.

In the church when order was restored Bishop Manning called for an unprogrammed hymn, "Fight the Good Fight." The organist could not immediately find the music.

APPLAUSE STARTS

The congregation broke into prolonged applause. There were shouts of "God bless Bishop Manning." It was the second time in history that applause had been heard in the great cathedral and the first time at an actual service. Communion followed.

Asked by police to lodge a charge, Bishop Manning replied: "I will make no charge."

A police officer, however, permitted his name to be used as complaining witness on a summons for Lindsey to answer a charge of disorderly conduct in court tomorrow morning.

Nevertheless, Attorney Hays said he will cause a subpoena to be issued for the bishop to appear tomorrow.

Judge Lindsey said if he had been allowed to continue his challenge to Bishop Manning he intended to say:

"You received my telegram and my letter to you giving my side of the case, and if you are not sportsman enough to let me be heard you have no right to hit beneath the belt even if you are a bishop."

He wrote the lines during the bishop's sermon, he said. What he objected to most, he told reporters, was the bishop's remarks about his disbarment by the Supreme Court of Colorado.

Judge Lindsey said it was the second time in his career he had been arrested. He was arrested fifteen years ago in Denver for what he called "refusal to betray the confidence of a boy charged with murder." He was convicted for contempt of court.

WHAT MANNING SAYS

In his sermon Bishop Manning denied he had forbidden Lindsey's speech before the New York Churchmen's League and held his objection to have been legitimate.

"There is in this diocese a little group of clergymen who, with a motive I do not venture to say, have been doing whatever lay in their power to make difficulties for their bishop and to place him publicly in embarrassing situations," he said.

"This group is a very small one relatively to the whole number of our clergy. It figures little when our diocese gathers in convention, but it figures largely in the newspapers, and it has the constant active support of a religious journal miscalled Liberal.

"It is time for this unseemly agitation to cease."

Judge Lindsey was accompanied at the church by Symon Gould, director of the League of Public Discussion, his New York manager.

Gould said: "Judge Lindsey will speak the 20th inst. If Bishop Manning appears and wishes to answer the address we promise him he will not be ejected or arrested."

JUDGE LINDSEY SORRY HE INTERRUPTED PRAYER

ALBANY (N. Y.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Former Judge Ben B. Lindsey, who was forcibly ejected from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine at New York today, said on his arrival here tonight he was sorry he interrupted the prayer of Bishop Manning. He said, however, he was not sorry he endeavored to be given a hearing at the cathedral service.

"I did not mean to interrupt the prayer," he said. "I thought Bishop Manning had finished speaking. I thought he had seen me down there in front and was trying to get away. But it would have happened anyway. They had me spotted. They had four plainclothes men there and the ushers were waiting for me.

"I was not familiar with the ceremony. In my church (Methodist Episcopal) at Denver the preacher does not pray when he finishes preaching. I did not know the bishop was praying when I stood up and demanded to be heard."

BORAH OPPOSES TREASURY RAIDS

Idahoan Says Expenditures Must Remain Low

Plea for Tax Rise to Meet Deficit Repeated

Congress to Act on Drought Bill This Week

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Warning against any raid on the Treasury in an attempt to restore prosperity was given today by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, as Congress prepared to speed enactment of the emergency unemployment and drought relief measures this week.

Senator Borah voiced no particular criticism of the $60,000,000 drought measure before the Senate and the $110,000,000 public improvements bill before the House, but he repeated his demand for an increase in taxes if the $355,000,000 deficit in prospect for this year materializes.

RISE POSSIBLY INEVITABLE

"I have no desire to see taxes increased," said the Idaho Senator, who yesterday proposed a 2 per cent increase to meet the prospective deficit. "But what I said and now say is this—if these expenditures are to be made I see no way to avoid increasing taxes.

"We certainly are not going to have a bond issue. Our deficit is climbing toward $400,000,000. Where are you going to get the money? There is no place to get it except out of the taxpayers' pocket. We will lose nothing by being candid with the public.

"There seems to be a widespread belief that you can restore prosperity from the public treasury. It is not only a false theory, but a vicious theory. Dire emergencies may have to be met from the public treasury but the idea that you can restore permanent prosperity by spending public money and thereby necessitating the imposition of more taxes is unsound.

RISE IN HIGHER BRACKETS

"I favor, therefore, holding expenditures down as much as possible and still meeting the actual emergency. If there appears to be a deficit I am in favor of meeting it by increasing income taxes, especially in the higher brackets."

Despite the alarm of President Hoover over the fiscal situation, there appeared every likelihood tonight the Senate will stand by the $60,000,000 drought bill unanimously reported by its Agriculture Committee over the administration demand for a $25,000,000 fund.

The stand of Senator Borah, however, is expected to check the force of any drive for increased appropriations in other directions. Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, is looking for some way of getting cash into the pockets of the World War veterans holding bonus insurance certificates, but Secretary Mellon so far is opposed.

HOUSE PARES FUND

The House Appropriations Committee has taken Mr. Hoover at his word in his demand for strict economy and has pared down the $150,000,000 public improvements fund asked by the President to $110,000,000.

However, a party battle is in prospect in the House over the decision of the Republicans to limit the drought relief to $30,000,000. Representative Aswell, Democrat, Louisiana, is going to insist upon the $60,000,000 figure which Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, successfully sponsored before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, with an eye to avoiding an extra session in the spring, prepared today to speed consideration of the mass of nominations facing the Senate this week and to get the Appropriations Committee to work on the vital supply bills.

The drought relief measure is expected to be acted upon in both the House and Senate this week.

Police Capture Two Kidnapers

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Two robbers who kidnaped Carl V. Wisner, Chicago attorney, and his niece in a hold-up tonight were captured ten minutes later after a running gun fight with two police squads. No one was injured in the battle.

The attorney and his niece were snatched from the sidewalk in front of the Wisner home just after they had alighted from an automobile. A quick call to police resulted in immediate pursuit.

Neither Wisner nor the girl was harmed by their captors, they said.

IOWA BANKS PREPARE FOR WITHDRAWALS

SIOUX CITY (Iowa) Dec. 7. (AP) Large shipments of money, said by clearinghouse officials to total approximately $2,000,000, were received by Sioux City banks today as a precaution against possible heavy withdrawals following the closing of the First National and Sioux National banks late yesterday. The closed banks were two of the oldest in Sioux City. The First National was capitalized at $1,000,000 and the Sioux National at $400,000. Officials of both institutions expressed confidence today the banks soon will reopen following examination of the records by an examiner.

STUDENT OFFICER GETS HIS MEN SANS UNIFORM

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7. (AP)—Frank Mitchell, 22-year-old student policeman, had postponed buying a uniform until he had satisfactorily passed the police training tests.

Tonight he walked past a jewelry store and a woman cried hysterically, "There is a hold-up going on in there." Drawing the revolver he is allowed by the regulations to carry, he arrived at the ~~door of~~ the jewelry store just as two robbers were leaving with $1300 in jewelry and cash.

"Get back in there or I'll shoot," said Mitchell. He corralled his men, disarmed them, and after turning them over to officers who arrived in a radio scout car, went down to headquarters to write his first report. He will buy a uniform Monday.

TWO HELD IN SHOOTING OF BANKER

Cashier Riddled When Kidnapers Take Passers-by for Rescue Party

TEXARKANA (Ark.) Dec. 7. (AP) Two men were held for questioning today concerning the kidnaping last night of R. W. Hanks, Redwater (Tex.) bank cashier, wounded seriously upon his refusal to obtain $5000 ransom.

Six men were arrested in the round-up of suspects, but after questioning all but H. C. King, a farmer, and his stepson, Dobie Hinton, were released. Officers predicted an early solution of the kidnaping.

Hanks said he was forced by a kidnaper who entered his home to walk ten miles to an old mill, where other men were waiting. Officers, adding to his incoherent story, believed the abductors attempted to kill the banker as a precaution against capture when they heard J. D. Simons, a trapper, and a Negro youth approaching.

The victim, shot four times, is in a semiconscious condition in a hospital.

overhead and somehow I didn't like the looks of things," he continued. "I had an anchor over the bow, but it was in poor holding. We were about 500 yards offshore. There wasn't a breath of wind.

"A little after 11 o'clock it started to blow and I called Watson. We put a sheet anchor over. A moment later the wind began blowing over the mountains on the island with terrific fury and it was almost impossible to stand up on deck.

"The boat began heading for the rocks like a schooner under full sail. The anchors meant nothing.

ABANDON SHIP

"We called the women and children. Scantily clad, they came up on deck and we buckled life-preservers on them. Our skiff was hanging over the side. We placed them in the boat and lowered away. The women and children had to be thought of before our yacht. We couldn't try to save the boat by heading to sea as it would have taken too long to start the engines.

"The wind lashed our skiff and we tossed about on the angry sea, though little water was shipped over the sides. Despite all our efforts we were carried out to sea—away from the shore and safety. We must have been blown about a half-mile out beyond the yacht when we finally were able to buck the wind and to begin making progress to shore. It was more than three-quarters of an hour from the time we abandoned our yacht before we landed.

WRECK SUBMERGED

"By morning the yacht was entirely submerged. For four days it laid there. Then a bad blow came up. It was Thursday night. The yacht was pounded to pieces. Beams drifted to shore and were scattered along the island for five miles. The ship is a total loss."

With all means of leaving the island gone, Capt. Sayers Monday morning began rigging up what he described as a "hay-wire" battery radio set, using almost-dead cells that were on the island.

"I pounded away on this contraption," he said, "believing that if there were any ships within thirty-five miles they could pick it up."

But the captain was "pounding away" on a dead key and it was finally by the means of a semaphore that he attracted the attention of planes flying overhead. The planes, in turn, communicated with their ship, the U.S.S. Langley, and a shore boat was sent to the island.

PRINCE HENRI TO WED PRINCESS ISABELLE

BRUSSELS, Dec. 7. (AP)—The engagement was announced tonight of Prince Henri, Comte de Paris, son of the Duke and Duchess of De Guise, to the 19-year-old Princess Isabelle of Orleans-Braganza, daughter of Prince and Princess Pierre of Orleans-Braganza. The young bride-to-be is a grand-daughter of Princess Isabelle of Braganza, known as the Imperial Princess of Brazil. Her father, Prince Pierre, was born in Brazil in 1875, but renounced his claim to the Brazilian throne in favor of his brother Louis.

PRESCOTT MAYOR WINS NOMINATION

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Mayor Seale of Prescott was nominated for another term in yesterday's primary election. He ran on the Nonpartisan ticket and defeated Charles Robb by approximately 100 votes. In the general election of January 6 Mayor Seale will be opposed by Merle M. Allen, Independent, and Bert Tilton, Democrat, nominated without opposition.

sistant Secretary, has been active in curtailing work at naval shore stations as an economy measure, the report found there are "more navy yards on the east coast than can be economically maintained."

The undertaking of a submarine replacement program was proposed. During the past year upkeep costs have increased. The report added that "due principally to the age of a large number of submarines it is felt the performance of submarine engineering material is not commensurate with its maintenance costs."

The material condition of the fleet is seen as generally good, qualified by the difficulty of maintaining efficiency "due to the age of a large number of the ships." Destroyers and submarines were found to be in the least efficient condition.

The Secretary praised the efficiency of the Guardia Nacional of Nicaragua as being "in accordance with a definite policy to build up a native constabulary capable of preserving order after the eventual withdrawal of marine forces in Nicaragua."

"A distinct improvement in almost every phase of the health of the Navy," was found an encouraging sign. Only 394 deaths were recorded during 1929, "making the death rate from all causes 3.36 per 1000."

MANIACS SEIZED IN FIERCE FIGHT

Four Matteawan Fugitives Captured in Brooklyn

Woman Arrested on Charge of Harboring Madmen

Three Demented Criminals Still Being Hunted

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Four of the seven maniacs who have been caught since the daring delivery of six from Matteawan State Hospital for the criminal insane last Tuesday, were captured in Brooklyn early today after a battle with police.

The four who were recaptured included three of those liberated in the delivery last week and William J. Nelson, who had escaped previously and who led the gunmen in effecting the escape of the six.

WOMAN ALSO SEIZED

The three captured in addition to Nelson are Harry Gordon, the "Mad [illegible]" of Rochester, N. Y.; John [illegible] Gambill and John Biggins, both of New York. With them was arrested a woman, Mrs. Marie Ochsen[illegible], who was charged with harboring criminals and aiding criminals to escape.

The capture was made when a squad of detectives and patrolmen broke into a two-room apartment in Brooklyn.

Police said the fugitives put up a [illegible] battle when the officers entered and had to be beaten into submission. Nelson and Gambill [illegible] loaded revolvers, the officers said.

The detectives said they picked up the trail of the fugitive maniacs yesterday and located the apartment where they were hiding. This morning they lay in wait until they saw the four enter, then rushed the flat.

BURGLAR TOOLS FOUND

In addition to the guns, they said they found a complete outfit of burglar tools in the apartment. Nelson was committed to Matteawan after being arrested for burglary.

Those still at large are Frank Vanderkuylen, who killed a woman with acid; Anthony A. Alloy, a pyromaniac, and Joseph Kaylor.

They escaped when Nelson and the other gunmen surprised and locked up the guards and other [illegible] employees. Vanderkuylen was [illegible] in New York the next day.

After their capture, the four were taken to Kings County Hospital and from there to the West Side Jail in [illegible] and from there they were started on their way back to [illegible].

LIFE SAVED ON DEATH TREK

Seven Men of North Rescue Freezing Trapper as They Take Dead Comrade From Wilds

WINNIPEG, Dec. 7. (AP)—Hero ratings were given today to seven stout-hearted men of the northern trails, who made a six-day trek to give a dead comrade a Christian burial and, while on the journey, rescued a trapper they found freezing to death.

Hauling a sled bearing the body of their mate, Ingrad Gurley, the mourners found the helpless trapper. Both of his legs were frozen. They placed him on the toboggan beside their dead comrade and resumed the long trudge through deep snow over huge boulders and tree stumps to Great Falls, fifty-six miles away. The second victim is expected to recover. He was not identified.

Mushing his way over the trails, Mickey Gilleran, a veteran of the North and patrolman of the Manitoba Power Company, had found Gurley in a dying condition, halfway between Great Falls and Manitoba Central mines. He summoned aid. Constable D. T. Cook, of the provincial police, and six other men hastened to the spot with the sled. The trails were impassable for dog trains. When they arrived Gurley was dead.

Constable Cook broke the trail. He was followed by the funeral cortege over the frigid barrens. Only a few miles on the hapless trapper was discovered.

Gurley was to have been married shortly and planned a honeymoon in Denmark. His last request was a look at the photograph of the woman he had planned to wed, which was taken from his pocket and placed before his eyes. He scanned it for a few moments and then passed away.

PLANS FOR DAM GIVEN APPROVAL

Boulder Project Designs Will be Sent by Colorado Commission to Capital

DENVER, Dec. 7. (AP)—Plans and specifications for the Boulder Dam, prepared by the United States Reclamation Service, have been found satisfactory by the Colorado River Commission, Raymond F. Walter, chief engineer for the bureau, announced yesterday.

The designs will be sent to Washington for final approval.

The commission, consisting of Maj.-Gen. W. L. Sibert, chairman; Warren J. Mean, Daniel W. Mead and Robert Ridgway, concluded a week's study of the designs today and left for the East.

Any announcement regarding the specifications will be made in Washington.

Bids for construction work probably will be advertised for the latter part of the month, and actual construction work will be started next April under present plans.

Bomb by Mail Injures Two

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Tony May, 50 years of age, real estate dealer and professional bondsman, formerly known as "the millionaire newsboy," was probably fatally injured and his son Frank, 14 years of age, seriously hurt when a bomb exploded in the May Apartment today.

The bomb was delivered by a messenger boy in a box which bore the label of a mail-order house.

May had removed the heavy wrapping when the device exploded with a terrific blast, wrecking the apartment.

Panic spread throughout the huge apartment building. Frantic tenants summoned fire department squads, precinct police and details from the detective bureau.

CALIFORNIA LOSES ONE HOUSE VOTE

Oversight Keeps Curry, Jr., Out of Congress to Fill Father's Unexpired Term

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—It is an odd circumstance that California, on the eve of enjoying a nine-vote increase in the House and the Electoral College, should by pure oversight be faced with the loss of one House vote during the remainder of the present Congress.

Yet that is what has happened since Charles F. Curry, Jr., elected to succeed his late father in the Seventy-second Congress, was not also elected to fill out the remainder of his father's term.

He had no opposition. Curry senior had his district thoroughly organized, which seems to be a habit with Representatives from California. It was just that in the hurry of getting word around after Curry Senior's death to write young Curry's name on the ballots, the three months remaining of the Seventy-first Congress was forgotten.

Young Curry is clerk of his late father's committee, that on territories. The chairmanship reverts now to Johnson of Washington, under the seniority rule, or to Dowell of Iowa more likely as Johnson is also immigration committee head, and unless Representative-elect Curry is to go off the pay roll until March 4, next, it looks as though he would have to continue as clerk of the Committee on Territories. It cannot have been often that a Representative-elect has served in such a capacity.

TARIFF ACT VINDICATED, SAYS SMOOT

Improvement of Foreign Trade Seen as Sign of Return to Normalcy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Improvement in American foreign trade since passage of the 1930 Tariff Act was seen today by Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee, who regarded it as a "gradual and healthy" one and as "one of the most healthful signs on the economic horizon."

"It is also a forceful vindication of the present tariff law," the Utahan said in a statement appended with a tabulation showing customs receipts, compared with this time last year, to be "almost back to normal."

Smoot issued his statement as Democratic members of the Finance Committee were preparing to press a vigorous inquiry tomorrow into the nomination of Edgar B. Brossard of Utah, as a member of the reorganized Tariff Commission.

Other nominees to be examined are Alfred P. Dennis of Maryland, and Lincoln Dixon of Indiana, both Democrats. The three other members given recess appointments by President Hoover were questioned yesterday by the committee. Smoot has predicted a favorable report on all six nominees.

Walsh Proposes Federal Service Five-Day Week

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Establishment of the five-day week in all branches of the government service was proposed today by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, as an unemployment aid.

Walsh has embodied this plan in a bill to be introduced tomorrow which would make it effective for one year and authorize the President in his discretion to continue it another year.

In a statement, Walsh said the proposal of the administration for speeding up public works is "all very well as far as it goes."

"At best, however," he added, "such a program reaches only laborers, artisans and building material industries and is of no help in furnishing employment for the so-called white-collar worker who belongs to a class which is, in the aggregate, a very large element of the unemployed."

SWISS-AMERICANS PLAN GIFT OF BUST

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Americans of Swiss origin will present a bust of Henri Dunann, founder of the International Red Cross, to the Museum of the American Red Cross next Wednesday morning. Chief Justice Hughes is to preside at the ceremonies, and the Swiss Minister, Marc Peter, will make the presentation. Judge Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, will deliver the address of acceptance.

NOTED PASTOR'S WORK FINISHED

Dr. William E. Barton Dies in Brooklyn Hospital

Famed Author and Lecturer as Well as Divine

"Times" Writer One of Two Sons Bereaved

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Dr. William E. Barton, 69 years of age, noted clergyman, author and lecturer, died today at Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn, where he had been critically ill for the past month.

He was the father of Bruce Barton, widely known advertising man and author.

Two of his sons, Charles William Barton, editor and publisher of the Sheridan (Wyo.) Enterprise, and Bruce Barton, were at the bedside. His wife died in 1925.

FUNERAL TOMORROW

Services will be conducted at the Broadway Tabernacle Tuesday at 3 p.m. in charge of Dr. Nehemiah Boynton, a lifelong friend who, like Dr. Barton, was a moderator of the National Council of Congregational Churches, the highest office in that denomination.

Burial will be at Foxboro, Mass., beside his wife and where he maintained a summer home.

Dr. Barton began his career as a circuit rider in Southern States and progressed until he had carved his name on the tablets of three fields—ministry, writing and lecturing.

As pastor of the First Congregational Church of Oak Park, Ill., for twenty-five years, he established a reputation as a clergyman possessed of humorous understanding and one who dealt in realism and abhorred sham.

AUTHORITY ON LINCOLN

As an author he was most widely known for his works on Abraham Lincoln, gaining an international reputation as an authority on the Great Emancipator. His researches brought to light much material on the martyred President that hitherto had been unknown; they served too to tear away the veil of mystery and fabrication which had surrounded the rail-splitter's origin and personal life.

As a lecturer he was known as an able, interesting and convincing speaker whose platform philosophy and epigrams delighted his audiences.

Although revering Lincoln devotedly, Dr. Barton followed facts wheresoever they might lead. One consequence was that his "True Story of Lincoln's Letter to Mrs. Bixby," published in 1926, showed that this famous epistle to the mother of five supposed war heroes was "a beautiful blunder," Lincoln having been hoaxed into writing it. Carl Sandburg, Chicago poet and himself an authority on Lincoln said of one of the other Barton books, "The Paternity of Abraham Lincoln":

"It provides a bulwark of facts that is a resource to anybody who prefers to have what is known, rather than what is guessed at and wagged lazily on careless tongues."

SETS FACTS STRAIGHT

Dr. Barton was credited, in this one book, with having dissipated much of the gossip and rumors concerning Lincoln's forebears and in another, "The Women Lincoln Loved" with having made lucid and understandable the martyr's own love affairs and his general attitude toward womanhood.

His writings were as diversified as his other activities. Besides five separate works on Lincoln, and his four books on "Safed the Sage," he wrote "The Life of Clara Barton," "My Faith In Immortality," a life of Christ, half a dozen books reflecting life in the Tennessee mountains, several miscellaneous biographies and two score other works, chiefly relating to religious subjects.

FIRST AND LAST

It was a satisfaction to him that his last work in the ministry should have been in Tennessee, the State where he began as a circuit rider more than forty years ago.

Since 1928 he had made his winter home in Nashville, where he occupied the chair of practical theology in Vanderbilt University and there he organized the Collegeside Church, which he served until stricken in September. His successor as pastor of this church is Jason Noble Pierce, formerly pastor of the church which President Coolidge attended in Washington.

Tulsa Hangars Purchased for Sea-to-Sea Line

TULSA (Okla.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Purchase of the former Southwest Air Fast Express hangars at the Tulsa Municipal Airport, together with three of the company's planes, by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., was announced here today by S. D. Welsh, superintendent of operations for the line.

Welsh said the transaction was the first step in making the Tulsa port the operating headquarters of the Columbus-Los Angeles system of Transcontinental and Western Air. The line plans a total expenditure at the airport of $250,000, he said.

By spring, Welsh said, Transcontinental and Western Air will be providing a twenty-six-hour cross-country mail and passenger service between Los Angeles and New York, through Tulsa.

Four Convicts Escape Prison

CANON CITY (Colo.) Dec. 7. (AP) Four convicts serving long-time sentences for robbery escaped from the State penitentiary tonight, scaling a prison wall which fronts on the main street of Canon City.

The missing men are James E. Kenney, serving ten to fourteen years from Denver for robbery; Jack Flood, serving nine to ten years from Denver county for robbery; Ernest Hertzke, 26, serving twenty to twenty-five years from Boulder county for robbery, and Wilbur Eslick, 29, serving thirty to thirty-five years from Saguache county for robbery.

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 7. (AP)—A man known here as Henry W. Johnson, who is said by police to have sold nonexisting mining stock to a number of Portland residents, was arrested here last night. Police also say he is known as George Harvey Stillwell and Joe Burke and is wanted in San Diego, Los Angeles and Seattle.

GOLD SEEKERS OFF TO PANAMA

Jungle River Said to Be Laden With Wealth

Explorer Heads Treasure Hunt From Boston

Indians With Pay Dust Betray Source

BOSTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—The lure of hidden gold today impelled a five-man expedition of New Englanders toward the jungle recesses of Panama's east coast.

Daniel W. Cameron, construction engineer, explorer and adventurer, is the motivator and leading spirit of the expedition.

Off the mouth of a small river on the east coast of Panama, the exact location of which Cameron has divulged only to his associates, he encountered on a previous exploration a small trading post maintained by a Russian. While resting there Cameron noticed the Russian carried on a thriving trade with Panaman Indians who bartered gold dust for rum and groceries.

Cameron got an Indian guide and for two days journeyed up the river in a tropical downpour in search of the source of the gold.

With him when he sailed on the Panama Pacific liner Virginia today for Panama were D. Peter Tuloch and A. W. Walton of this city. F. W. Brock of Montpelier, Vt., will join him there, going by way of Florida, while J. M. Gratton of Waltham is to sail next week from New York.

The expedition has chartered an auxiliary sloop which will take it to the river mouth.

HOOVER FRIEND RAPS JOHNSON

Senator Taken to Task for World Court Fight

Shallow Debate Criticised by Mark L. Requa

Ignorance of Governmental Fundamentals Charged

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Sharp issue is taken with Senator Johnson over his recent pronouncements on the World Court question by Mark L. Requa, close friend of President Hoover and often representative of the White House in handling various western affairs.

"It is regrettable that a man holding the high position of United States Senator should be so intensely ignorant of governmental fundamentals that is indicated in the recent statements of Senator Johnson," declares Requa. "It will serve no good purposes to deal in glittering generalities and appeal to the passions of the people as he has done. The case needs an exact statement of the facts."

HOOVER PRAISED

"Anyone who will take the trouble to consider the facts realizes that if the United States is to obtain the maximum prosperity, it will come only through a prosperous world," Requa points out.

"One of the most definitely constructive steps to bring about international good feeling and confidence would be for the United States to approve the protocol of the World Court. The Senate of the United States already has passed a resolution authorizing the joining of the World Court. Now it only remains for the approval of the protocol, under the terms of which it can withdraw any time it wishes.

"President Hoover has done a courageous thing in presenting the World Court issue before the Senate at this time."

"VITAL TO COAST"

Requa declares that the international aspects of the present economic depression in the United States cannot be overlooked.

In taking issue with Senator Johnson, Requa avers:

"California is vitally interested in a rational consideration and satisfactory solution of these international problems. From the development of the trade of the Orient, California probably would benefit more than any other State in the nation. That trade cannot be developed to the maximum until the people of the United States think in terms of international enhancement of prosperity.

"The issues are too complex and too fundamental to permit of their being subjected to shallow debate by individuals, whose sole object seems to be to attempt to discover and follow the superficial thought of the moment rather than try independent thought and courageous leadership."

DIAL PHONE REGULATES AIR BEACON

Radio System Forms Path for Airmen to Follow to Landing Fields

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Three widely separated dials resembling automatic telephones are the check and double check of Federal airways engineers on a new radio beacon across the Potomac River.

One is in Maryland at a station where weather broadcasts go out to pilots in the air, another is in a downtown Washington office where Commerce Department officials work, and the third in the radio range house in Virginia.

The telephones are on a private system and the dialing of two numbers at either of the three remote control points automatically stops or starts a stream of dots and dashes that go out from the range to form "paths" for airmen to follow to landing fields.

DRY ARMY HARKS TO SCHOOL BELL

Prohibition Enforcers Seek Classes Today

Twelve Cities Open Courses on Liquor Laws

Move Part of Plan to Train Agents Expertly

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Schools for Federal prohibition agents will open tomorrow in twelve cities to give instruction in the best means of enforcing the dry laws.

Classes will be held under direction of twenty-four instructors trained in Washington and at their close December 20 will have constituted the fourth series of such schools held by Prohibition Director Woodcock in an effort to obtain a complete corps of agents expertly equipped to enforce prohibition.

RUN TO JULY

Harry M. Dengler, chief of the Prohibition Bureau's division of schools, explained it was planned to continue such classes at three-week intervals until next July.

At that time, he estimated, all the Federal agents will have received instruction in their own rights under the law, how to secure evidence properly and how not to trespass on rights of citizens.

Schools will open tomorrow in cities spread between the Atlantic and Pacific, being scheduled for Providence, R. I., Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Norfolk, Va., Jacksonville, Fla., Knoxville, Tenn., Beaumont, Tex., Chicago, St. Paul, Oklahoma City, Denver and Seattle.

PAPERS CORRECTED

Following each series of schools, Dengler said, the written examinations of all attending agents are sent to Washington, erroneous impressions corrected and the knowledge of each man placed on his permanent record. Two examinations are given, one on criminal investigation and the other on Constitution and law.

In addition to actual school attendance more than 1900 agents are enrolled in a correspondence course especially prepared for them by the bureau. This work was started by Dengler when Dr. James M. Doran was chief of the bureau. More than 8500 written papers have been submitted by agents.

BOLD ENFORCING OF LAWS URGED

Judge Florence E. Allen of Ohio Discusses Crime

Justice Must Prevail, Farm Women Informed

Rural Folks Advised to Aid Co-operative Moves

BOSTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Crime cannot be suppressed until there is fearless enforcement of law by public officials, Judge Florence E Allen of the Ohio Supreme Court asserted at the closing session of the national farm women's conference.

"The home itself cannot be properly protected unless our governmental institutions are established upon the principles of justice," she said. "Chicago shows how the home is threatened, when there is alliance between government and the forces of the underworld.

NOT SAFE IN HOMES

"When decent citizens permit the less desirable class of the community to control the organized forces of government they become defiant, and ordinary people are not safe in their homes.

"The basic principles taught in the home and school and church have to be put in force in government or the home itself is threatened and any citizen, man or woman, alike, in the city and on the farm, who fails to vote and register his influence on the side of decency and uprightness in community life is helping to build up the power of organized crime which one day may threaten his very children."

Concerning prohibition, Judge Allen, after declaring she is personally and politically dry, said:

"The right of the people to govern themselves does not mean license, it means self-control."

Mrs. Frank Evans, attorney of Salt Lake City, told the farm women that the rural woman seeks, not more leisure, but opportunity for more effective work.

Reviewing the activities of the farm men and women to improve their own conditions, she said:

"We are most concerned with the generations to come and, so far as we have gone, we can feel proud of our progress. One-fifth of the farm products of the country were marketed co-operatively during the last year. We must not stop until four-fifths of the farm products are co-operatively marketed."

MRS. ROSS HITS G.O.P.

Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the women's division of the Democratic National Committee, blamed the Republican administration for the depreciation farm values and declared the "reactionary principles" of the Republican party favor industry rather than agriculture.

"The most effective way to assist the farmer is by lifting from his back the burden he wears in the excessive tariff he pays on manufactured articles he has to buy," she said.

Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost, director of the women's division of the Republican National Committee, said the economic fate of the farm depends to a great extent on the wife's success in maintaining a high standard of living in her home.

Decreasing farm income carries with it a menace to the social standards of the farmer's family, Martha Van Rensselaer, assistant director of the White House Conference on child health and protection, told the conference delegates.

PROJECTS FOR PARKS DISCUSSED

Various Private Groups to Spend $10,000,000 in Five Years in National Areas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—A five-year development program in national parks to cost approximately $10,000,000 is planned by operators of hotels, public utilities and transportation systems who have been conferring in Washington for three days.

Financing was discussed today, and plans for buildings and other facilities were considered at length. The five-year program will be launched next year.

An educational and publicity campaign was discussed, and preparations made for caring for more visitors than in the past. The operators reported a steady increase in tourists except for a slight recession in some places last year.

Horace M. Albright, director of the National Park Service, announced the programs of the private enterprises and the government's plans for road and trail building and other projects will be co-ordinated as closely as possible.

Legislature Hits Imported Egg by Urging Label

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Chinese dried eggs and frozen egg products should not be foisted upon the buying public as fresh in any sense of the word and so, Assemblyman Chris N. Jespersen of Paso Robles told the Associated Press today a bill will be introduced in the 1931 session of Legislature compelling the labeling of foods containing foreign or imported eggs.

"These imported egg products do not compare in any way with our fresh California eggs," Jespersen said, "and it is only fair that the consuming public should know when they are eating products of an inferior quality. I am preparing a bill that, if passed, would compel the labeling of all food products using foreign or imported eggs."

CELLS LIVE IN TUBE FOR CANCER QUIZ

Small Piece of Tissue in Glass Chamber Remains "Alive" in Experiment

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—An experiment in the cultivation of human cells in a test tube, considered as a possible guide in the search for a cure for cancer, was detailed today in a pamphlet issued by St. Luke's Hospital.

The experimenters, according to the pamphlet, started with a small piece of tissue from a human body which was placed in a sterile glass chamber with a small amount of coagulated blood and plasma pressed from living tissues.

The chamber, sealed off from air, was then placed in an incubator heated to the exact temperature of the human body, where subsequent microscopic examination is said to have shown the tissue not only had remained alive, but that the cells actually were multiplying.

The research workers, members of the hospital staff, are proceeding on the theory that by subjecting the living human tissue to conditions known to be productive of cancer, the experimental production of cancer can be accomplished.

Coast-to-Coast Glider Goes to Museum Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—The Texaco Eaglet in which Frank M. Hawks made the first and only transcontinental glider flight was brought to Bolling Field today for presentation to the Smithsonian Institution at formal ceremonies at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

Hawks will be interviewed on gliding by Dr. C. G. Abbott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. Frank Tichnor, aerial publisher, will present the glider on behalf of the Texas Company and Dr Abbott will accept for the museum. F. Trubee Davison, assistant Secretary of War for Aeronautics, will be among the other speakers.

The ceremonies will be broadcast over a radio network of the National Broadcasting Company from 8 to 8:30 a.m. (Pacific standard time.)

Russian Slain on Ride in Paris

PARIS, Dec. 7. (AP)—Eli Ramichvili, former Minister Plenipotentiary to Paris of the Republic of Georgia, was assassinated today while driving in an open automobile through the Place D'Italie. He was shot twice by a man who described himself to police as a Georgian workman. The slayer gave his name as Bze Pchanovkvadze. Police said they believed the shooting the outgrowth of political rivalries between soviet and White party adherents.

Pchanovkvadze told police he killed the Minister "for political reasons," but declined to go into details.

Prison Fugitive Slain by Officer

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Dec. 7. (AP)—A man identified by police as Henry Moses, 24 years of age, escaped prisoner from a Federal road camp at Fort Lewis, Wash., was shot and killed by a policeman here last night.

The officer sought to question the man as a robbery suspect when he broke and ran. After a chase through the downtown district the man turned and fired at Officer Jess McGuffin, who fired one shot killing the suspect.

WOMAN FREED IN DEATH

DRY CHIEFTAINS GIRD FOR FRAY

Leaders Meet in Washington for Three-Day Session

Most Militant Program Will be Evolved, They Say

Commission Resumes Task of Writing Its Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Dry leaders gathered in Washington today for a series of temperance meetings, determined, in the words of one leader, to "face the whole picture," and evolve a unified program of nation-wide activity.

Word the dry forces will attempt, in the next three days, to formfilate a program more militant than any since prohibition became a law, was given out tonight following a five-hour meeting of the executive committee o fthe National Temperance Council.

Meanwhile, members of President Hoover's law enforcement commission returned to their own problem of writing a report on the dry law, following a twelve-day recess, while individual wet advocates likewise converged on the capital to take part in a "national constitutional convention," convening tomorrow for an indefinite period.

Christmas
AND THE SAVED

"TELL THE DOLLAR WHERE TO GO INSTEAD OF ASKING WHERE IT WENT"

This is a buyer's market. Not for many years has the Christmas Dollar been so powerful...able to find such bargains on merchants' shelves.

And the individual who follows the rule of telling the dollar where to go instead of asking where it went, today is prepared to take advantage of these "buys."

His Saved Dollar... amassed through intelligent spending and consistent saving... provides for him not only the joys of Christmas giving but the pleasures and luxuries of life.

The Saved Dollar earns at a goodly rate of interest; is always available; always at par!

KEG OF TACKS ON ROAD TAXES AUTOIST'S TEMPER

SAN JOSE (Cal.) Dec. 7. (AP) If the truck driver who lost a keg of roofing tacks tonight on the Oakland highway four miles north of here goes back there inquiring about it—it'll be just too bad.

For a quarter-mile on either side of the road stalled cars are parked, most of them with all four tires flat with from a half-dozen to two dozen punctures each. Tow cars have hauled a score machines into San Jose and at least that many more are lined up in front of a Milpitas garage.

Traffic officers and deputy sheriffs who investigated, found that a keg of roofing tacks had evidently fallen from a truck, broken open, and covered the highway. They turned street sweepers and the highway is reported passable again.

certainly plays a part in the exaggerated swings of our business cycle. It seems to act in business matters by recurring stages of enthusiasm and depression. At one point in the cycle we touch the heights of optimism. From this we drop to the depth of pessimism.

We have been in the latter stage for some months now and at the present time I should say that our plight is largely a mental one. We are suffering more or less from the momentum of thought and from the habit of gloomy speech. We have got to abandon that attitude and in so doing avoid its opposite. Otherwise, we might very well pass from this needless depression to an artificial prosperity that would not be lasting.

In other words we are not in need of a sudden boom. Our real recovery from recent conditions is much more likely to grow in proportion as it is the result of steady growth instead of anything even approaching a boom. It would be a short-sighted friend of business who would seek to bring about a revival in undue haste.

UP TREND STEADY

The improvement in conditions that already is making itself felt should be a matter of growth that will be steady and perhaps slower even than some of us might wish, but moving step by step into sounder conditions. Perhaps an analogy in nature may be found in the fact that the animals which have the longest infancies are the longest lived.

I do not think there need be any recognized movement toward prosperity until it shall have advanced rather far. In my judgment, it will be a matter of individual recognition that the day of booms is passing. Here or there a man, or a concern, will awaken to the fact that the depression seems to have passed. One and another individual and firm will then take courage and step ahead.

The movement will be more normal if it thus arises out of the individual vision of men in many positions growing gradually into the general acceptance of the fact that the dawn of better days is here.

BETTER TIMES AHEAD

Developments of the last month should indicate to every thinking business man that we are on the threshold of better times. Apparently the downward trend of business has been arrested. It seems to be traveling a horizontal course at present preparatory to beginning its upward swing.

Operations in certain instances have been speeded up on a sound basis, inventories have become so greatly reduced in many cases that the needs of consumption will soon be demanding increased production.

Textiles have shown an improvement recently. Many will see a very encouraging sign in this condition, for it will be remembered that it was the textile industries that led the way to recovery after our last slump in 1921.

Our banking structure is sound, thanks to the Federal Reserve system. Money is plentiful for all enterprises that are sound. Savings accounts have shown an enormous growth in the last seven or eight months.

We have the wealth in this country, the men and the commodities to work out of the present situation. We did so in 1893, 1903, 1907, 1914 and in 1921. We always have been able to win our way through bad times and go on to higher levels of prosperity. There is nothing in this depression to indicate there will be any result other than as indicated in our past economic history.

FAITH NEEDED

But in reaching the normal ways of business again we are going to need a reasonable amount of faith and good old-fashioned confidence in ourselves. We will need to get our feet on the ground and keep them there. In this we might pattern after the French people. Here we are inclined to think the French most temperamental, but they are not given to rising to such heights of enthusiasm and then sinking to such depths of despair in business matters as we are in this country. They have their ups and downs of emotion, but they are the most severely logical of men. They are quick to recognize business facts which, perhaps, is one of the reasons that France has been so little affected by the world-wide business depression.

Let us look the facts in the face also. I do not mean to minimize in the least the adverse business conditions through which we have been passing, but there are no economic facts to justify the mental state into which so many of our people have worked themselves. We have been through the worst. Improvement already has set in. Have faith and confidence in your business and its future and the gains now apparent on the surface will soon be noticeable to all.

Seven Go Down With Schooner

WATCH HILL (R. I.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Seven persons lost their lives when the coal-laden schooner Storm Petrel foundered in the chill, wind-swept waters of Long Island Sound seven miles off here late yesterday, the Coast Guard reported today.

Officers of a Coast Guard fleet of destroyers and patrol boats sent out from the New London (Ct.) base searched for hours for survivors and the extent of the tragedy was not known until today.

The drowned were four men, including the captain, whose name is believed to have been Dial; two women, one of whom was the captain's wife, and ship's cook, and a child. The names of the others are undetermined. All were Negroes.

GIANT GOOSE KILLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7. (AP)—A sixteen-pound goose with a spread of seven feet from wing tip to wing tip was shot today near Modesto by Jack Kerns of San Francisco. Kerns said it was apparently a Canadian honker.

POOL HALL EXPLOSION HURTS SIX

New Mexico Senator's Son in Serious Condition After Mysterious Blast

ALAMOGORDO (N. M.) Dec. 7. (AP)—An explosion which wrecked the rear of a pool hall here early today resulted in the injury of six men, only one of them, Robert Lee, 21-year-old son of Oliver Lee, New Mexico State Senator, being in serious condition. Lee suffered a fractured skull.

Lee and his companions, whose names were not learned, were playing cards in a room on the second floor of the building at the time of the explosion. The rear of the building was blown to splinters and furniture and bits of wood thrown more than 200 feet by the blast.

Authorities investigating the explosion were at a loss to explain it. Deputy Sheriff Danley advanced the theory the blast was set off by some woman whose son or brother was in the hall.

The damage is estimated at $2000.

Broadcast Made From Submarine in Sea Depths

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Sounds from a submarine far below the surface, the swish of the sea and a word picture of underwater craft in action gave a coast-to-coast radio audience a new thrill today.

As two submarines speeded along ten miles off the coast of New London, Ct., two announcers of the National Broadcasting Company and naval officers depicted for listeners what they saw as one submarine went below and the other stayed on the surface.

It was the first broadcast from a submersible as it sank below the waves. It was made through co-operation of the United States Navy, with the P-8 going below and the O-4 staying on the surface.

Roadhouse Mob Wounds Officers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—A riot broke out in a near-by Maryland roadhouse today when one of the dancers glanced at a man sitting at table and shouted:

"That man's a District of Columbia cop."

Seven or eight men, who had just arrived, pulled the policeman, Lauritz Christensen, to his feet and one of them hit him in the head with a blackjack.

Meanwhile, his brother, Yens C. Christensen, a Coast Guardsman from New York, rushed to his assistance. Yens was shot through the leg and hit by blackjacks and chairs. The patrons fled and a number of women fainted.

Farmer Held in Marriott Case

GREELEY (Colo.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Arrested at Scottsbluff, Neb., last night on a warrant from Fort Morgan, Colo., for the kidnaping of Miss Enid Marriot, 28-year-old Wiggins, Colo., school-teacher, Melvin G. McClanham, is held in the Weld County Jail here tonight.

Sheriff Johnston declined to discuss events leading to the arrest of the Nebraska farmer, nor would he indicate the man's connection with the disappearance of Miss Marriott, who has been missing since the middle of November. All efforts to locate the woman have been unavailable.

Fire Destroys Pleasure Boats

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 7. (AP)—Thirty-one pleasure boats, stored in the boathouse of the Minnesota Marine Corporation, and two cottages at Orono, Lake Minnetonka, near here, were destroyed by fire late today.

The loss was estimated at $250,000 by owners of the boathouse, who expressed belief a faulty stove pipe may have started the blaze.

NEW DRUG BAN BILL TO BE INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—The suppression of illegal importations of narcotics from Turkey is proposed in a bill to be introduced tomorrow by Representative Laguardia, Republican, New York. The measure would provide for an examination and inspection of every box, parcel or package from "any country not a signatory to the convention between the United States and other powers for the suppression of the abuse of opium and other drugs."

INDICTED NEW YORKER DIES IN HEART ATTACK

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (Exclusive) Within a few minutes after a talk with his attorney on a pending indictment brought against him by Federal dry agents, Matthews Quay Glaser, 54 years of age, former president of the New York Curtiss-for-President Club, dropped dead last night in his home on Morningside Heights, a victim of heart disease, it is believed.

Dropping of Colleges From Association Blamed

UNIVERSITY (Miss.) Dec. 7. (AP) Chancellor J. N. Powers of the University of Mississippi expressed regret tonight over the burning of an effigy bearing the placard, "Down With Bilbo," on the university campus last midnight.

The effigy was discovered while being hoisted in flames to the top of a flagpole. An estimated 250 students milled about as the effigy, made of pajamas apparently stuffed with cotton, burned, witnesses said.

The University of Mississippi and several other State-operated colleges in Mississippi recently were dropped by the Southern Association of Colleges and secondary schools from its accredited list of schools because of what the association described as political interference by Gov. Bilbo.

Athletes Named Candidates for Scholarships

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7. (AP)—A California football player and a Pomona College track star are California candidates for the Rhodes scholarships, the selection committee announced today.

Joseph C. Hickingbotham of Oakland, for two years a fullback on the University of California varsity, and David M. French, Pomona College track man, are the pair chosen by the committee.

They will appear Saturday before the district committee with candidates from other States in the region—Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico. Four will be chosen from the twelve contestants to enter Oxford next year.

SMOKING IN BED FATAL TO FIREMAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7 (AP)—Smoking in bed cost the life of Daniel R. Sewell, 65 years of age, retired fire department captain, here today. Capt. Sewell, a paralytic, was unable to move from his bed when a match with which he lighted a smoke set fire to his bed last night. His son rescued him from the flaming bed, but Sewell had already been so badly burned he died today.

TOWN CLOSED BY BLUE LAW

Only Hotels and Cafes Remain Open

Lock-up Follows Arrest of Business Men

Vermont Villagers Have Quiet Sunday

BELLOWS FALLS (Vt.) Dec. 7. (AP)—This town of 5000 inhabitants was tied up today with a Puritan-patterned, blue-law ribbon of its own design. Even the sick without medicine could buy none.

Every drug store, garage, bakery, filling station, tobacco shop and news stand was closed. All stores posted a sign: "Closed Sunday, blue laws in effect."

Last Sunday twenty-eight business men were haled to court charged with doing prohibited business on the Sabbath. Their trial is set for the 16th inst. and, unless some change is decided on, all business houses must remain closed on Sunday under penalty of prosecution.

Restaurants and hotels were the only places open.

'Trail Blazing' Drama Enacted by Oklahomans

ARDMORE (Okla.) Dec. 7. (AP)—The crossing ground of famed cattle trails of yesteryear was the scene today of a modern "trail-blazing" drama in a celebration here of the completion of the final link of United States Highway No. 77.

The event marked completion of an all-weather highway connecting the Pacific Coast with the Atlantic and the Canadian border with the Rio Grande.

Approximately 15,000 vistors, including dignitaries of Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma, mingled with virtually the entire population of this city of 18,000.

WESTERN CHAMBER WILL MEET TODAY

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Subjects of vital importance to the Pacific Coast and to all America are listed for discussion by leaders in all industries at the two-day session of the western division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, opening here tomorrow. Official observers, government men, and heads of major business concerns arrived here today for the eighth meeting of this division, to participate in the program arranged. Railroad rates, agriculture, lumber grapes, inland waterways, mining and oil are some of the subjects assigned.

FASCIST SPEECH STIRS GERMANS

Hitler Fight on Democracy Heard by 25,000

Nation Faces Turning Point, Leader Declares

Present System Called Weak, Cowardly and Stupid

STUTTGART (Germany) Dec. 7. (AP)—Before a throng of more than 25,000 persons, Adolf Hitler, Fascist leader, today appealed to the German people to turn their backs on democracy and hearken to the call of their new destiny.

"What is driving the great masses of people throughout Germany into our movement," he said, "is the feeling that once again our nation stands at a turning point in its history."

"If our National Socialist (Fascist) spirit of defiance and resistance were Germany's, then Germany today would be free. France would talk to us in an entirely different tone. Only a fool's prank on the part of destiny can cheat us of victory.

"But Germany's great destiny cannot be realized through democracy, which is the system of stupidity, cowardice, weakness and half-heartedness."

TRAMP FOUNDS "HOBOES' HOME"

Foundry Made Into Haven of Rest for Vagrants

Charley Martin Welcomes Wanderers to Upland

While Caretaker of Building He Dispenses Cheer

UPLAND, Dec. 7.—Even an old deserted foundry can be made over by a touch here and there, so even a hobo of the highways can be made to sing "Home, Sweet Home" in it.

Charley Martin, 70-year-old retired tramp, made the old abandoned foundry in Eighth street into a Vagrants' Club, that became so popular that he had to hang out the S.R.O. sign too frequently, and finally had to quit taking in wanderers altogether.

But while the club was active, which it was until recently, the old foundry proved to be the haven for many footsore and hungry wayfarers.

Martin, according to his own story, has been a knight of the dusty road for years, and when he got the job as caretaker of the foundry he decided to call off his traveling by box car. The foundry is large, and it has a good roof. In one corner of the structure Martin rigged up a small room for himself.

STRAW CARPET SPREAD

Over the floor he spread a carpet of straw, and opened the door to any tramp he considered worthy of sharing the hospitality of his home. Each night he had quite a gathering of tramps, but not all who knocked upon his door were permitted to enter. If they could prove they had been soldiers they were admitted without questioning, or if they had packs and seemed to be "respectable hoboes," they could spread their blankets on his straw. But if he detected any visitor who carried canned heat in his roll, he was summarily turned away. Martin wouldn't have a thing to do with a "souse," or "canned-heater."

Should such an individual slip by him and get into the place with the "respectable tramps," a call to the cops rid the place of the undesirable member.

Each night Martin had his visitors file past his little room and deposit with him all their smoking material and other equipment they carried. Then while the night was still young, he locked the door to make sure none of his guests sneaked out to do a bit of prowling about the town.

LIGHTS OUT EARLY

The light was blown out early and everybody had to go to bed.

In the morning the company was wakened early and each issued his property.

Near by was a fire hydrant at which the men could wash, at suggestion of the host. There was a battered stove handy, and if the tramp had any grub with him that needed cooking, chips of wood could be procured from a near-by planing mill, and the stove pressed into service.

Often when a tramp had been admitted for slumber, and Martin found out the wayfarer didn't have anything to eat with him, and was hungry, Charley dug down into his own larder and provided a menu for the unfortunate guest.

Charley kept a pistol with him in his room, but at no time had he ever been called upon to use it. A call to the cops was the easiest way to handle the roughnecks.

BEDSTEAD FOUND

When "caretaking" became slack, Charley went out looking around the outskirts of town, and brought in what he thought his hotel might need. Consequently here and there in the foundry was an old wrecked bedstead, upon which the more favored guests were permitted to "flop." Queer tables were provided, and chairs were made up of boxes and barrels with gunnysack coverings. Somewhere Charley had picked up an old radio, and this was put to use for the evening rest hour, with the company gathered closely around.

Charley served thirty-three months with the Canadian army in the World War, which makes him partial to the veterans, he said. Quite often an old-time war buddy of his in other parts of the world dropped in at the Vagrants' Club, and real reunions added to the club activities.

Aid Asked for Spadra Road

FULLERTON, Dec. 7.—A resolution formally requesting aid from the State and county in the North Spadra road-widening project has been adopted by the City Council. State and county officials had already expressed the opinion that the financial aid will be given, although the formal petition to the State and county bodies must be made, it was pointed out.

It is believed that work on the project will be under way as soon as funds have been assured and the plans for the project completed.

MOUNTED SCOUTS TO BE IN ROSE PARADE

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7.—The San Fernando Valley Boy Scout mounted patrol, recently organized, will lead the Boy Scout division of the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena on New Year's Day, it was announced today by Fred L. Letten, Scout executive for the San Fernando Valley Boy Scout Council. The patrol is the first of its sort in Southern California and it is believed will attract more than ordinary attention in the parade. The boys will wear the regular Scout uniforms with leather chaps. Paul Kirkpatrick of troop No. 29, a captain in the Van Nuys R.O.T.C., is at present serving as drill sergeant for the mounted troop, and will have them in shape in time for the Rose Fete. All the boys will ride bay horses.

DIVERSION DAM WILL BE BUILT

Work on Mission Gorge Site No. 2 Expected Next Development on River

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 7.—Construction of a diversion dam at Mission Gorge Site No. 2, appeared today as the first prospective development of the San Diego River by the city.

Developments of the last few weeks have been shaping toward this end, with indications that a majority of the Council will authorize the work as soon as Engineer Savage filed his certificate of completion on the Otay pipe line.

This certificate will release approximately $350,000 of Otay pipe line funds which may not be touched until it is certified that the work for which the bonds were voted has been completed.

It is with this $350,000 that the first actual development of the river by the city is planned.

Savage has reported that the diversion dam will yield an average of 2,500,000 gallons of water a day to the city. He plans to pump the water into the San Diego lakeside pipe line which runs by No. 2 site on its way to the University Heights reservoir.

Hemet Vicar to Take Parish at San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 7.—Rev. Robert M. Hogarth, vicar of the Episcopal churches in Hemet and San Jacinto, has accepted appointment to St. Clement's Church here, according to announcements made by church officials today. The new vicar will arrive here next week and will conduct services in the new $30,000 structure on Sunday, the 21st inst.

Rev. Hogarth is a graduate of Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., the oldest college of the Episcopal Church in America. He graduated with honors in Greek, Latin and English. He taught classical languages for a year and then entered the Episcopal Theological School, one of the five schools of theology at Harvard University, where he was graduated, and later ordained in St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston.

He was rector of St. Andrews at University Heights, Madison, Wis., during the World War. At this time he found time to do graduate work in sociology at the university and to act as civilian chaplain of the Wisconsin S.A.T.C. On Armistice Day he accepted the rectorship in Cincinnati, remaining in that parish for eleven years. In 1925 he was married to Miss De Borah Higbee of Cincinnati.

Later he came to California for his health and accepted a pastorate at Hemet. During his short stay there he built two churches, one at Elsinore and one at Murrieta, and assisted in seeing them both paid for. He also helped reduce the small debt on the Hemet parish hall by half.

Body of Suicide Found in Room of Venice House

VENICE, Dec. 7.—F. R. Hoover, 45 years of age, was found dead yesterday sitting in a chair with a gun shot wound in his mouth, and a revolver on the floor believed to have fallen from his fingers, in his apartment, 20 Avenue 28, Venice. The body was discovered by the apartment janitress, who entered to clean the room.

On a table beside the body Venice police found a short note which stated: "No flowers. No funeral. Please cremate (signed Frank."

Police also found a stamped and sealed letter addressed to Mrs. Marian L. Hoover, thought to be Hoover's ex-wife, at 1108 Eighth avenue, Greeley, Colo. Other letters found in the room indicated that his mother, Mrs. Jenny H. Hoover, lives on North Aspen street, Lincolnton, N. C.

Nothing found in the note gave any reason for Hoover having taken his life, but police believe, from general appearances of the body, that he had recently been ill.

VAN NUYS KIWANIS TO SEAT OFFICERS

VAN NUYS, Dec. 7.—The Van Nuys Kiwanis Club will hold its annual banquet and installation of officers next Thursday evening in the Woman's clubhouse. Christmas decorations will predominate. The banquet will begin at 7 p.m. with President Floyd N. High presiding. This will be followed by a music program. Dr. Charles B. Canby, district trustee, will preside over the installation ceremonies with Osgood Hardy, Kiwanis lieutenant-governor, as installing officer. Those to be seated are William G. H. Russell, district trustee; Mark C. Sutton, president; Norban F. Hargrove, vice-president; Ralph M. Albright, secretary; I. H. Malin, treasurer, and the following directors: Frank M. Keffer, Bruce F. Allington, Dane L. Patterson and Harry C. Sorgenfrey. A. E. Nordvold will be in charge of the music. George A. Chapman will see to the Christmas decorations.

TUJUNGA NOT TO HAVE FLOAT IN ROSE FETE

TUJUNGA, Dec. 7.—Tujunga usually has a float in the Rose Parade at Pasadena on New Year's Day. There will be a lapse this year, it has almost been definitely decided. Civic club members are agreed that under present business conditions the money necessary for the decorated float must be expended for other purposes.

LIONS' PAST PRESIDENTS HONORED

Oxnard Club First to Institute Unique Ceremony

Seven Former Heads of Service Organization

Past presidents of the Oxnard Lions' Club, all still active members of the organization, were honored at last meeting night of the club in a novel affair believed the first of its kind in the history of Lionism. Left to right, they are: Earl G. Ruggles, Charles Pope, Earl Hart, Mark Durley, W. O. Fleischer, Jack Miller and Irwin M. Lowe. Background shows stockade effect of the Lions den.

OXNARD, Dec. 7.—Oxnard Lions' Club, one of the oldest in the State, has achieved the distinction of being the first club in California to institute past presidents' night. According to reports, it is believed to be the first ceremony of its kind conducted in Lionism throughout the country.

The novel affair took place at the last weekly meeting of the local club when the present president, Bruce Watt, and a capable committee consisting of Merle Skilling, Frank Canning and others, planned a special dinner in honor of the seven presidents who preceded him from the inception of the Oxnard club.

Those who received the tribute included W. Mark Durley, the first president and "daddy" of the club; Irwin M. Lowe, the second president; Earl Hart, third; Charles Pope, fourth; W. O. Fleischer, fifth; Earl G. Ruggles, sixth, and Jack C. Miller, seventh.

Each one of the "higher ups," as the past presidents are humorously referred to, was characterized by another member of the club during the comedy part of the program and each received a thorough razzing. The acting past presidents gave clever impersonations of those who held office in former days, giving an excellent program.

Past President Durley gave the address of the evening in response to the honors paid the seven former officers and presided over the meeting for the greater part of the evening. He dislodged all the present officers and temporarily installed past presidents in their places. Once again the fifty members of the Oxnard club were at the mercy of former executives and the result was a wonderfully successful evening.

Past presidents' night will be an annual affair with the local club and, according to the statements of visitors at the meeting, it will be adopted by other clubs throughout the district and no doubt the State.

CITIES PLAN WESTERN GATE

Redlands Will Widen Boulevard to State Highway; San Bernardino to Enlarge Railroad Viaduct

REDLANDS, Dec. 7.—Redlands and San Bernardino as cities are wrestling with the same problem, the opening of a western entrance to take care of the heavy traffic to and from points west, especially metropolitan Los Angeles.

In this city the job is to clear a wide boulevard west of First street to Texas street and then to widen Texas street to Colton and the State highway. The present plans call for doing this within twelve months, and in order to take care of the traffic, a diagonal road will be cut from Citrus avenue into State street, which will empty all of the traffic of the business section into the main boulevard.

In San Bernardino the problem is made difficult by the yards of the Santa Fe Railroad, which spread across the eastern terminus of Foothill Boulevard. The plan being considered there is the spending of almost $500,000 in the widening of the present Santa Fe viaduct to a four-lane road. This is the viaduct that carries all the travel over the maze of tracks of the Santa Fe yards. Also there would be a widening and realignment of streets near by to carry the traffic, the entire project to cost nearly $1,000,000.

He Saves Sons From Fire; Dies With Daughter

BLOOMINGTON, Dec. 7.—A father's heroism in an attempt to save the life of his 6-year-old daughter early today proved unavailing when Henry N. James, 45 years of age, widely known attorney, and Virginia May James, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home.

James was awakened about 1 a.m. by the odor of smoke and discovered the flames had gained such headway that escaped seemed impossible. Calling to his wife for assistance, they rushed to the room occupied by their two sons, Henry, 8 years of age, and George, 3, and rescued them by dropping them to the ground from an upstairs window.

When both Mr. and Mrs. James had reached the ground safely, after rescuing the two boys, they discovered their daughter was still inside the burning structure. The father again entered the house to save the girl and neither was seen again until their bodies were recovered several hours later.

The mother was severely burned about the face and upper portion of the body, but the boys escaped injury. Mrs. James is at the Colton Hospital in a critical condition.

Realty Board to Inquire Into Cities' Expenses

VENTURA, Dec. 7.—Charging that real estate here is being overburdened by taxes and special-assessment charges, the Ventura Realty Board has proposed and will assist in the formation of an association to be known as Ventura Governmental Research Inc., for the purpose of investigating municipal capital and operating expenditures.

This action was taken at a meeting of the board last week upon the motion of W. H. Glover, local real-estate operator.

A committee of three, consisting of W. H. Glover, chairman; L. G. Fertig and D. A. Rizer, was appointed to invite a group of citizens to attend a dinner next Tuesday at Ye Tavern, Pierpont Bay, for the purpose of working out details of the organization.

Investment value of local real estate is being lessened by growing taxes and levies for governmental purposes, Glover told the board, in making his plea for the research institution.

EMERGENCY FUNDS AID SAN·DIEGO

Federal Appropriation to Relieve Unemployment to Bring $1,055,000 There

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 7.—Out of the emergency appropriation of $150,000,000 to be expended by President Hoover to relieve unemployment, San Diego will be benefited by about $1,055,000, according to word received here from Congressman Swing. The money set aside as San Diego's share will be used in naval construction work.

The local program includes ten projects, ranging from a quay wall and dredging at the destroyer base, for which $210,000 is provided, to resurfacing the naval air station seaplane runway at North Island, for which $25,000 will be spent. Money for these projects, according to Swing, will be made available soon.

Other projects included in the construction program are: Resurfacing and filling the naval air station aviation field, $200,000; extension of mess at the naval training station, $115,000; extension of storehouse at the marine base, $150,000; floating derrick at the destroyer base, $100,000; barracks building extension at the naval air station, $95,000; improvement to crane tracks at destroyer base, $60,000; extension of storehouse at the naval air station, $50,000; improvement of gasoline storage, naval air station, $50,000.

BROOM FACTORY AT FULLERTON OPENED

FULLERTON, Dec. 7.—A broom factory has been established by O. L. Smith, formerly of Sacramento, at 227 East Santa Fe avenue. Four employees are kept busy much of the time. The workers operate on a piece-work basis. Smith is planning to add machines to his equipment and expects to increase production. The output of the plant is about fifty dozen brooms each week. Three grades are manufactured.

Yucaipa Hears of Robbery and of Oil Drilling

YUCAIPA, Dec. 7.—Yucaipa has had two sensations during the past week, one of them being burglary of the M. A. Dunham store last night and the other the announcement that drilling for oil is to be resumed at once.

Thieves broke into the back door of the Dunham general store, the largest in the city and got away with a small amount of cash in the cash drawer and a quantity of clothing and things to eat. Hoboes are believed to have been responsible for the robbery.

E. E. Adams, president of the Yucaipa Oil Company, has announced that drilling will be resumed on the Clyde ranch at once. The well will be drilled to a depth sufficient to demonstrate whether or not there is oil in the valley, it is said.

JAPANESE FLYER DECORATED

Pasadena Members of His Race Plan to Welcome Home Zensaku Azuma After First Successful Flight Made From England to Land of Rising Sun

PASADENA, Dec. 7. — Japanese residents of Southern California are planning to welcome Zensaku Azuma, the "Japanese Lindbergh," when he returns to his home here within a few weeks after making what is said to have been the first successful flight from England to Japan.

Azuma, who is the proprietor of a local cafe, left his business in his wife's hands early last summer and flew his plane to New York from where it was shipped to England. By easy stages, he flew across France, Belgium, Holland, Germany Russia and Siberia, finally landing near Tokio, Japan, without mishap. At Kobe, he was met by his aged mother and by Minister of Communications Koizumi.

Letters received yesterday by Mrs. Azuma, reveal that her husband has been decorated by the Emperor and honored at a banquet given by the Japanese Aeronautical Association.

During the World War, Azuma served as an aviation mechanic in the United States. About two years ago, he attempted to finance a nonstop flight from California to Japan, but despite the help of Japanese newspapers, he was unable to secure promises for more than $10,000, less than half the sum required.

Before Harold Bromley started his unsuccessful series of attemps to span the Pacific Ocean, he conferred a number of times with Azuma regarding landing conditions in Japan.

With his failure to secure financing for the more sensational nonstop flight, the proprietor of the local chop-suey cafe, decided to content himself with a smaller plane, which he purchased out of the earnings of his business.

Before leaving here last June, he declared that the principal object of his flight was to prove that aviation is safe providing no stunting is indulged in. His letters indicate that his only difficulties have been delays caused by the refusal of certain nations to grant him passports promptly.

SAN DIEGO PROVIDES WORK

Registration Begins Today for Employment; Bowling Green in Balboa Park to Be Constructed

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 7.—Placement of men under the city's unemployment relief plan will start next Thursday when work will begin on a bowling-green layout in the park, it was announced today. The green is to be constructed in the old rose garden north of the west end of Cabrillo Bridge. The old garden has been doomed by the invasion of a parasite and is to be duplicated in another section.

Two bowling greens are planned and in addition, the workers will later start on the first nine holes of a newly designed golf course. The golf course work is to be largely grading and brush removal, the Mayor said.

Registration of applicants for the relief work is to be started at the civil service commission in the City Hall tomorrow. It is for citizens only, with married men having the preference.

PROMOTION GIVEN TO MANAGER

J. G. Guilinger, Head of Gas Office at Huntington Park, Gets District Post

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 7.—Starting as a collector for the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation almost thirty years ago, J. C. Guilinger, manager of the corporation's branch office here for eight years, has been notified by the corporation that he has been chosen as district manager, beginning the early part of the new year, and will be in charge of the new district office building of the corporation, nearing completion on South Pacific Boulevard.

Guilinger started as a collector with the corporation, and for twenty years occupied this position, seven years of his twenty being along the Spring-street, Los Angeles, territory. Eight years ago he was installed in the corporation's branch office here as manager, and soon he was given charge of the district.

Included in the district are the cities and communities of Bell, Cudahy, Graham, Watts, Huntington Park and the Florence district.

Christmas Time Will Be Happy for Citrus Men

REDLANDS, Dec. 7. — Redlands naval orange shipments for the season mounted near the 100-car mark last night, indicating that the total shipments for the holiday trade to the East will be well over 150 cars. The shipments for the holiday trade will have to be closed about the 12th inst., in order to assure the fruit reaching the markets in time for consumption.

Shippers here believe that the quantity of fruit that is being shipped can be readily absorbed in the East, because the use of oranges during the holiday has developed from a luxury into a necessity. People have found that the use of citric fruits during the holidays when there is so much feasting, and use of rich foods, results in better health and fewer visits to the doctor, orange men say.

It is estimated that packing houses of this district will spend during the season more than $2,000,000 in labor which will be used to pick, pack and ship the oranges out of the district. Of this amount, probably close to $75,000 will be spent before the Christmas holidays, which will help considerably in making a happy Christmas for people who have been unemployed more than usual.

The 150 cars of fruit that will be sent East for the holiday trade should return close to $250,000 to the growers, which will be a right nice Christmas present for them, it is declared.

Woodard Heads Masonic Lodge

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 7.—E. Chester Woodard has been elected Master of Granada Lodge, No. 608, F. and A. M., to succeed Kenneth Knesel. Installation of officers will be held on the 19th inst.

Other officers named by the lodge are as follows: Kent P. Stone, Senior Warden; C. J. Bach, Junior Warden; Arthur Harrison, Treasurer; S. Fred Willard, Secretary; Frank C. Kohler, Chaplain; Albert L. Deatrick, Senior Deacon; John W. Wernex, Junior Deacon; Samuel W. Mesick, Marshal; Joseph Stanton, Senior Steward; G. W. Lord, Junior Steward; W. G. LaCour, Tyler.

Plans have been completed for the removal of the Granada Lodge headquarters from the Masonic Temple to the Cooper Building, the second floor of which has been leased. The change will take place by the first of January.

"SAN FERNANDO PRESS" STOPS PUBLICATION

SAN FERNANDO, Dec. 7.—The San Fernando Press, a weekly publication, has suspended publication with the current issue, it is announced by Edsel Newton, editor in charge. The newspaper started about two years ago as the San Fernando News, a daily, and then became a weekly after changing ownership two or three times. Newton will leave San Fernando to become editor of the West Los Angeles Daily Citizen. He is a seasoned newspaper man with years of experience as a traveler who has been around the globe a number of times. He has published several volumes of these travels.

BITUMULS PAVING TO BE USED ON STREETS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 7.—J. H. Knighton & Co. of Inglewood has been awarded the contract for paving several streets in the city. Of the two bids presented that for bitumuls work was accepted. The bid was for $22,988.55. City Engineer Merwin Rossen had estimated an oil and rock job at $25,355.21 but the Council decided to accept the bitumuls paving.

San Clemente Makes Plan for Mexican Jaunt

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 7.—Plans for an excursion to San Diego and below-the-border cities, on the first train to leave the new Santa Fe depot here, first conceived as purely as a southern Orange county adventure, have been extended, by popular demand, to include a caravan from northern Orange county cities, it was announced here today.

The train will leave the Spanish Village at 9:30 a.m. the 27th inst., just after Ole Hanson, founder of the city, has turned the first shovel of dirt for the railroad station. Hanson will be assisted in the ceremonies by railroad officials, officials of the Orange County South Coast Association, the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce and San Clemente city officials. The members of the Orange county Board of Supervisors have also been invited to attend, it was said, and to make the trip to Mexico.

The program at the border racing plant is to be named in honor of San Clemente and horses from the Ole Hanson and Hamilton Cotton stables here will be entered in several dashes.

The new depot conforms in every way to the restrictions and Spanish architecture requirements of San Clemente, it was said here.

Mt. Rubidoux's Chimes Ring Out Health Message

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 7. (AP)—A peal of seven chimes, which has rung through the clear air from Mt. Rubidoux every morning at 7 o'clock for twenty years, messages the philosophy of health held by I. S. Logan, former County Recorder.

A score of years ago, when Logan began his daily two-mile climb up the 1300-foot peak, doctors gave him but a few months to live. They warned him against the strenuous climbs. Today, at nearly 60 years of age, Logan is a picture of vigorous health.

"Some of the business men of the city," commented Logan, "think the world would go to the dogs if they weren't down at their stores. They would consider a walk up here out of the question. But I would not trade my health for theirs for every cent they have in the banks. I feel as young today as I did at 30."

The bell, hung from a low standard on top of this nationally famous shrine of Easter sunrise services, is struck seven times at 7 o'clock. In the twenty years the bell-ringer has pursued his hobby, he has missed but a few mornings, faithfully through the years ringing out his message of good health.

Julian Huxley Speaks Today

PASADENA, Dec. 7.—Julian Huxley, grandson of Thomas Henry Huxley, pioneer English biologist, will speak tomorrow afternoon at the Community Playhouse on "Science and Human Nature."

Huxley, who is a professor at King's College, University of London, is a guest here of Dr. Thomas Hunt Morgan, head of the biological department at the California Institute of Technology.

He is only 33 years of age, but has already won an international reputation with his scientific books and pamphlets. His father Leonard Huxley, is editor of the Cornhill Magazine, Edinburgh, and a brother, Aldous Huxley, is one of the best-known modern novelists.

JOBS SUPPLIED BY FULLERTON CHAMBER

FULLERTON, Dec. 7.—Twenty applicants for employment registered at the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce have been supplied with jobs and additional offers of work are being received from day to day, according to Harry M. May, secretary. More than 100 applications have been filed at the chamber office and jobs are being assigned as fast as the demand for workers come into the bureau. The majority of requests for workers has come through the campaign to clean up and improve residence property, May said, and increasing interest in this work is expected to develop additional demand for workers, as well as generally improving the appearance of the city. With the work of laying additional pipe in the second unit of the city water system due to start within a few days, workers will again be provided with employment. The water project includes the laying of 28,000 feet of pipe and fixtures and will represent an outlay expected to exceed $25,000.

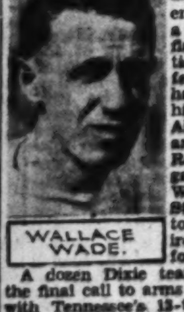
Dixie Season Ends, But Grid Fans Look Forward to Cougar Contest

BY DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (Ga.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Dixie's turbulent football campaign, which saw many early favorites beaten and two dark-horse elevens, Alabama and Tulane—flash ahead to tie for the conference crown, has passed into history, but Alabama's preparations for the Rose Bowl game with Washington State will serve to attract gridiron enthusiasts for a while.



WALLACE WADE.

A dozen Dixie teams answered the final call to arms last week-end with Tennessee's 13-to-6 defeat of Florida furnishing the principal excitement. Buddy Hackman's 50-yard touchdown run in the closing minutes after intercepting a Florida pass enabled Tennessee to break a 6-6 deadlock and close their season with a win.

It was the final game for twelve Tennessee seniors who had lost only one game in four years of college competition.

Georgia won its annual game with

Babe believes in hard fundamentals as all plays hinge on the proper execution of the rudiments of the game. This year the two high school teams playing for the State title of Washington were coached by Babe's pupils.

Football is his hobby, so says Hollingbery. His willingness to work, study, and be a leader has made him a great coach. His sportsmanship and his clean-playing teams have made him popular among the other coaches of the conference.

One of his pet ideas is conditioning exercises and diet, and during the season a small list of injuries proves that he makes his theory work. Old-fashioned hard work is Babe's motto.

Hollingbery has two sons, Buster, age 8, and Donnie, who is 6. One boy is slated to be a short-side guard and the other a quarterback. Mrs. Hollingbery is an ardent football enthusiast. She went with Babe to Philadelphia and when the Cougars play the Rose Bowl game, Mrs. Babe will be in the stands.

The Record Team

WHETHER or not this 1930 Notre Dame team is the best in football history, it has at least put through one of the all-time records for one campaign. To win nine football games through November, to lose two such football players as Savoldi and Mullins, to take the pounding it took from Northwestern and the Army and then smash such a team as Southern California, 27 to 0, is about all that one could ask from a team not mounted on motorcycles and armed with machine guns.

The majority of coaches gathered in Philadelphia for the Navy-Pennsylvania game felt sure that Southern California would win. Not because Southern California had a better football team with Notre Dame near its best. But because they figured it was almost impossible for Notre Dame to be even near its best after such a season, with Savoldi and Mullins missing.

These coaches had seen many strong teams before suddenly fade and fail after too many hard games in a row, but this 1930 Notre Dame team was another type. There was neither fade nor fail in its system. It was made up of the finest blocking talent that ever stepped out on a football field, and when you get as many good blockers together as it had you have about everything.

This 1930 outfit from South Band had all the ingredients but their four main features were speed and skill, brains and courage. It was a smart team and a game one, with the quality of gameness that moves well beyond the physical side.

I thought the Notre Dame team I saw beat Pennsylvania so badly, with Savoldi playing his last game, was the greatest I ever saw on a field.

But it seemed to be an impossible demand to ask even this team to drive through Northwestern and the Army, lose its two backfield stars, travel to Los Angeles and whip a squad as strong as Southern California's seemed to be.

Especially when Pop Warner was quoted as saying that Southern California is one of the three best teams he has ever seen and when normally good football judges were writing in that Southern California might win by four or five touchdowns. To have Notre Dame win was one thing, but to have her win by twenty-seven points and completely break down the western attack was the shock of the decade, as far as the Pacific Coast is concerned. It was a mortal thrust.

But at least the pride of the West Coast was beaten by a masterpiece, one of the finest works of art that Rockne ever turned out. It was a team in every sense of the word. A team where each man did his job and where one man found it difficult to rise above another. And this team, handled by a Carideo, had the final touch.

Notre Dame's march from Southern Methodist on October 4, through Southern California on the 6th inst., was a magnificent adventure, and this team's ability to hurdle all handicaps and finish close to its top form is something that will become a feature chapter in football history.

Football teams and football campaigns will come and go, but it will be a long time before there will be another 1930 Notre Dame team driving its way through such a schedule. For here was a team that made a tough schedule look easy, and that is the final word in class.

The Navy on Its Way

The Army coaching staff that saw the Navy beat Pennsylvania hurried back to West Point with a warning that was by no means fake propaganda.

They saw an up-and-coming squad, a squad that has just found itself coming on like the wind. When the Army-Navy game was first arranged it looked as if the Navy would be outclassed, now there is all the evidence anyone wants that this will be a battle, one of the closest and one of the hardest of all Army-Navy wars.

The Navy had a smart attack against Pennsylvania, varied and powerful, with Gannon, Kirn and

HOLLYWOOD VANQUISHES MAGYARS IN THRILLING SOCCER CONTEST, 1 TO 0

With two close games featuring the program out at Loyola Field yesterday afternoon, the first round of play in the Los Angeles City Soccer League wound up with the Hollywood Sheiks, champions last year, copping first place and keeping their slate free from either a defeat or tie by just barely nosing out the fighting Magyars, 1 goal to 0, in the feature tilt. In the opener, the Vikings and the Pasadena A.C.C. played another thriller with the former eleven winning 2 goals to 1.

At Tournament Park, Pasadena, the Scots upset the L.A.A.C. squad, 2 goals to 1, in the best game of the afternoon, with the Victorias defeating the Sons of St. George, 4 to 3, in the first tilt of the day.

The game between Hollywood and the Magyars was one of the best soccer games of the season. After the two teams had battled for about three-fourths of the game without scoring, it looked like a tie was going to mar the Sheiks' record, but Downie finally scored in the closing minutes of play to chalk up the winning margin. And this was done after Jimmy Ramsay had gone out of the game with a badly dislocated arm, and after George Sutherland had been knocked out. However, Sutherland did come to about five minutes later and entered the game again, and was playing as best possible when the tally was made. The Mags copped third place in the first round of play.

The opening tilt saw the Vikings come out on the long end of the score with Pasadena. The Vikings opened the tallying by scoring once in the first half, while both elevens scored once in the closing period. Christenson was the man who made the Norsemen's goals, while H. Monk netted the oval for the Crown City lads. This game was almost as exciting as the Hollywood-Magyar fracas, but the style of play was hardly as excellent.

In the feature on the Pasadena turf, Bobby Cooke's Scots pulled one of the surprise victories of the year by nosing out the Mercury boys, 2 to 1. The Club squad ended the first round in second position, while the Scots finished seventh. Ram-

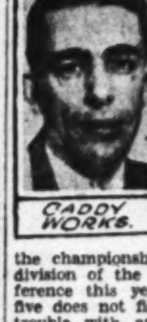
BRUIN CAGE TEAM PLAYS FIRST GAME THIS WEEK

Starting the 1930-1931 basketball season, the U.C.L.A. cage team will play two games this week-end with quintets from the Southern Conference. The Bruins will play the Whittier College Poets Friday night at Whittier, and the Pomona College Sagehens Saturday night at Claremont.



CADDY WORKS.

Coach Caddy Works, varsity court mentor at the Westwood university, expects to make a strong bid for the championship of the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference this year, and the Bruin five does not figure to have much trouble with any of the practice game opponents. Capt. Carl Knowles and Dick Linthicum, both all-Coast forwards, are the stars of the U.C.L.A. team, and will do plenty of scoring this year.

Inasmuch as Pomona lost to the Los Angeles Athletic Club quintet, 43 to 19, last week and Whittier lost to the same team last Friday night by a score of 51 to 14, both of the games this week will be set-ups for the powerful Bruin five. The Westwood Villagers play the Hollywood Athletic Club the following week on the 17th inst., and the Los Angeles Athletic Club on Saturday, the 20th inst., in two games that will more nearly tax the abilities of the Bruin team. U.C.L.A. and the University of Montana meet in two intersectional games on the 29th and 30th inst., at the Olympic Auditorium.

Caddy Works has already practically selected his first string five. The Bruin court sage uses three forwards, a running guard and a standing guard in his system, with the standing guard, Frank Lubin, jumping center and then falling back to his guard position. Capt. Knowles, Linthicum and Dick Von Hagen, a veteran senior, will play in the forward line, and Lubin will play standing guard. George Brotlemarkle, a sophomore, appears to have the running guard post cinched. Brotlemarkle is exceptionally fast, a good shot, and he handles the ball well.

JONES PRAISES IRISH PLAYERS

Present Team Best Rockne Ever Produced

Splendid Blocking of Irish Impresses S.C. Coach

Brill Entitled to Credit for Fine Work

BY HOWARD JONES
Football Coach University of Southern California.

[Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

In defeating Southern California, 27 to 0, here Saturday, Notre Dame showed me the greatest Irish team I have ever seen. The present eleven, to my way of thinking, is the best Knute Rockne ever coached and it is entitled to much credit for its achievement of the past season.

MARTY BRILL

The thing that stood out most was the splendid blocking of Rockne's linemen and backs. There may have been better blocking teams in football, but if so I have never been privileged to see such an outfit in action. On those long runs, and there were several of them, as those who saw the game will testifiy, the Notre Dame backs were accorded exceptional aid by their team-mates.

I hope that friends of the University of Southern California players will not be too critical of their showing. They did their best. I feel that the boys are capable of better football than they showed, but I also think that no matter how well they might have played Saturday they still would have been unable to defeat Notre Dame, which was superior in every department of the game save punting, and naturally the Irish didn't need to do much kicking.

O'Connor and Schwartz have come in for praise because of their fine ball carrying and this honor is due them. However, one thing that stood out to my mind was the fine blocking of Halfback Brill, who attended to his duties with efficiency from start to finish. Metzger at guard ran some great interference for the Notre Dame backs.

Tennis Stars Enter Winter Net Tourney

Bill Ackerman of Palomar Tennis Club has announced an imposing list of entries for the first annual Southern California midwinter tennis championships, which will be held the 22nd to 28th inst. at the Cheviot Hills plant. Among the entries are Ellsworth Vines, Lester Stoefen, Henry Culley, Dolf Muehleisen, Bob Muench, Helen Marlow and sister Mercedes, Dorothy Workman, Caroline Babcock and Josephine Cruickshank.

WOMEN IN MATCH AT FLINTRIDGE

California Team's Lead Threatened by Rancho as Close Race is Waged

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Making a determined bid for the women's team-match championship of Southern California, the strong Rancho Golf Club team faces Hollywood today in a fourth-round match at the Flintridge Country Club.

HELEN LAWSON

California is leading the twelve clubs in the league with 29 points but Rancho, Fox Hills and Los Angeles are close behind in second, third and fourth places, respectively, with 26 1-2, 221-2 ad 21 points.

The California team will attempt to increase its lead with a decisive victory over San Gabriel, but the Mission Club may furnish unexpected opposition, particularly if Mrs. Leona Pressler plays.

Rancho is certain to gain against the last-place Hollywood team, which has won a bare 5 1-2 digits in three matches.

CANTLON CAPTURES RACE

Quinn Finishes Second in 100-Lap Feature Event at Ascot Speedway; Cummings Third

"Shorty" Cantlon, second ranking driver in the United States, piloted his Miller Special to first place in the 100-lap main event at the Legion Ascot Speedway yesterday in the fast time of 50m. 12 2-5s.

Cantlon took the lead on the first lap and steadily increased it until he was leading Francis Quinn, the second-place winner, by more than a lap. Bill Cummings finished a close third to Quinn and was followed by Lou Moore and Sam Hoffman in fourth and fifth place, respectively.

SHORTY CANTLON

Cantlon's driving was of such a spectacular nature that he had completely lapped the field at the end of the forty-second time around. From that point on, Shorty seemed content to hold his one-lap margin and apparently did not try to increase his lead.

Quinn and Cummings took up where they left off at the last race and battled from start to finish for every advantage. Quinn as usual, won the applause of the fans with his spectacular driving. Both drivers started well back in the field of fourteen starters and worked their way up until they were in a threatening position if the leader had faltered for a moment.

Stubby Stubblefield and Ralph De Palma rode close behind Cantlon for the first twenty laps, but their cars did not function properly, thereafter, and they were gradually forced back with the tail-enders.

Ernie Triplett fought his way into second place on the twenty-first lap and for eight times around he slowly cut into Cantlon's lead, only to have his tire go bad on him on the twenty-ninth turn. Triplett lost two laps changing the tire and was unable to regain his place with the leaders.

Only three laps from the finish, Triplett's mount threw a wheel, nearly causing a disaster to the front-running Cantlon. Shorty rounded the north turn some ways behind Triplett when the latter's mount suddenly lost a wheel. It bounded into the fence and then rolled down the track. Contact with the rail caused it to start back the other way instead of rolling forward. The wheel charged straight at Cantlon's mount and then obligingly jumped clear over the car. Shorty had to duck his head to keep from being hit. Triplett rolled into the pits and Cantlon went on to win the race, while the 10,000 fans weakly groped for their seats.

Wilbur Shaw in his brand-new Sparks Special, blew a right front tire on the south curve, which caused his car to careen into the fence, from where it rolled down onto the middle of the track directly in front of the oncoming

MACALUSO ADDS EXTRA POINT TO YEAR'S TOTAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Len Macaluso, Colgate fullback who leads the nation's scorers, added one point to his total against New York University yesterday as he booted the extra point after Colgates touchdown and brought his mark for the season to 145 points. The kick was Macaluso's twenty-eighth successful try-for-a-point of the year. To this he added nineteen touchdowns and one field goal to attain his big point total.

Macaluso finished the season with a margin of forty-nine points over his nearest eastern rivals, Jack Grossman of Rutgers and Ken Goff of Rhode Island, each of whom made ninety-six points this year.

Few of the eastern leaders were in action yesterday and still fewer scored. Corzine of Davis and Elkins brought his total for the season to 78 points and Koppe of Western Maryland attained a 60-point mark as each scored one touchdown.

VICTORIOUS IRISH GET ROUSING SENDOFF HERE

Coach Rockne Returning Home With Notre Dame Gypsies; Jones Praises Winners

BY BRAVEN DYER

Given as rousing a sendoff as any team ever received on its departure from this city, the Notre Dame football squad pulled out at 6:15 last night. Coach Knute Rockne, more firmly intrenched than ever as the Sage of South Bend and many other way points, headed the party which included every player on the squad.

Johnny O'Brien, Moon Mullins, Al Howard and Rockne himself had been expected to stay here for a few days, but the local boys and Knute left with the rest of the contingent. Rockne, although in fine spirits, showed the strain of a long season and felt that he owed it to himself to return immediately to his home.

JOHNNY O'BRISH.

O'Brien, Mullins, Bucky O'Connor, Frank Carideo and Bert Metzger were almost mobbed by the crowd of several hundred persons which milled about the station. They were swamped with demands to autograph programs of the game, envelopes, pictures, in fact anything on which their heroes' names could be scribbled. The boys good-naturedly complied with all requests, even though their arms were sagging badly long before the train pulled out.

"We didn't feel that the Trojans played up to their best," remarked O'Brien, who used to attend Los Angeles High.

"No, I guess they didn't," was the writer's reply, "but they couldn't have licked you if they had."

Johnny smiled and said: "I feel the same way."

Si Masters, Tom and Dan Gallery and scores of other well-known local people were at the station to bid the Ramblers adieu. It was an arduous task for the players to fight their way through the mob to board the train.

ROCKEN TO ONE SIDE

Rockne, with his wife and young son, occupied a compartment and were left pretty much to themselves as the assemblage confined its attention primarily to the players. In fact, few knew that "Rock" was

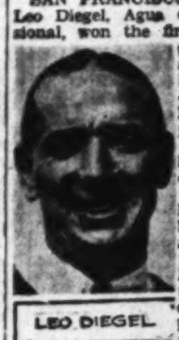
LEO DIEGEL WINNER OF GOLF TITLE

Bay City Open Captured by Agua Caliente Star; Espinosa is Loser

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente professional, won the first annual open golf championship on the Lakeside links of the San Francisco Olympic Club today by defeating Al Espinosa of Chicago, 6 and 4.



LEO DIEGEL

After the first hole was halved Diegel took the second with a par four. He held this lead until the seventh when Espinosa scored a birdie 3 to even the match. Espinosa won the thirteenth with a par 3 to take the lead for the only time during the match.

Diegel came back on the fourteenth with a par 4 to Espinosa's 5 to even things up. Diegel took things in hand on the seventeenth which he won with a birdie 4 and went two up by winning the eighteenth with a birdie 3.

He won the first hole of the afternoon round with a par 5 the fifth with a birdie 3, the seventh with another birdie 3 and the eighth with a par 3 to go 6 up. Espinosa made a brief stand by birdieing the twelfth to win this hole but after the thirteenth was halved Diegel took the fourteenth with a 5 to Espinosa's 6 to win the match.

MAJOR LEAGUE MAGNATES GATHERING IN NEW YORK FOR ANNUAL CONVENTION

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—The major leagues' "fallen arch brigade" poured into New York today to begin its annual attempt to sell a baseball player and get a baseball team in return.

ROGERS HORNSBY

Gathered here for the winter meeting of the National and American leagues, club owners and managers stood around the lobby of the Hotel Commodore and engaged in endless conversations designed to discover a second baseman who can hit, an outfielder who can field or a pitcher who can put the ball where he wants it.

Some of the boys, such as Dan Howley of the Cincinnati Reds, Rogers Hornsby of the Chicago Cubs, and Donnie Bush of the Chicago White Sox, were one up on the others. They just spent a week attending the minor league convention at Montreal where their lobby-standing record was seriously threatened a score of times. With this week of preparation behind them they felt they were in better shape both to talk and to stand than those who passed up the Montreal meetings.

There were few signs of any definite trading attempts today. Hornsby seemed to sound the keynote when he said the Cubs were prepared to stand pat on their present line-up, but that they, like anyone else, would be interested should good talent be offered for a reasonable consideration whether in cash or players. "The Rajah" is not worrying about one position on his infield. He intends to play second base himself.

Swelling the crowd were a number of minor league club owners and managers who spent a fruitless week in Montreal trying to dispose of some of their star playing talent. If the majors and the nondraft leagues manage to come to an agreement on the draft question, some of these sales undoubtedly will go through. Until then, however, the majors have declined to have any dealings with the nondraft circuits.

No official business will be transacted by either Major League until Tuesday, when the National League meets. Wednesday the American Leaguers go into their annual conclave and the two leagues meet in joint session Thursday.

Monday will not be a total loss, however, for major league representatives and a committee from the minors are to go into an informal huddle on the draft dispute at 1 o'clock. The majors want the five nondraft leagues—International, Pacific Coast, American Association, Western and Three-Eye—to accept the universal draft. That is, they want to be able to select, or draft at a fixed price any player from these circuits just as they do from other minor leagues.

The nondraft leagues apparently are willing to accept the draft provided the terms are generous

HOW HARD DID THOSE IRISH HIT?

Marshall Duffield, Ernie Pinckert, Jim Musick, Orv Mohler and Don Baker, who were in a position to know, will give football fans the inside dope on "The Times Sports Edition of the Air" over KHJ Thursday evening at 9:30. If you want to know what these Trojan stars think of Notre Dame, how Stanford would have stood up under Knute Rockne's horsemen, how good is Washington State or a hundred and one other questions, send them in to Braven Dyer, Times football authority, who will conduct the broadcast.

Rockne to Return Soon With Seven Irish Stars for Elks' Game; Savoldi in Line-

GALLOPING JOE REJOINS MATES

Notre Dame Seniors Ready for All-Star Tilt

Carideo, Brill, O'Brien, Accompany Knute

West-South Line-up to Be Completed Soon

Knute Rockne, left last night for the old homestead at South Bend, Ind., but will be back in Los Angeles within two weeks to coach an all-Notre Dame team for the football game, scheduled to be played at the Coliseum on the 27th inst., under the auspices of the Los Angeles Elks' Lodge, No. 99. A selected eleven of Pacific Coast and Dixie gridders will oppose the Irish.

JOE SAVOLDI.

Rockne's last word was that the seven seniors who played their final game on Saturday, would return with him. That includes Frank Carideo, Marty Brill, Capt. Tom Conley, Johnny O'Brien, Bert Metzger, Kassis and Culver.

SAVOLDI COMING

Jumping Joe Savoldi, former first string Irish fullback, will rejoin the Notre Dame men and be in the backfield, Rockne declared.

Notre Dame will be enjoying the Christmas holidays during the week preceding the date of the game here and the Bald Eagle said he saw no reason to prevent the athletes from returning.

Tickets for the game go on sale at 9 a.m. today, at Dyas', members of the Elks' committee announced last night. Prices range from $1.50 to $2, with a $2.50 toll on box seats. All seats will be reserved. A 25-cent charge will be placed on all registered mail reservations.

SEEK TROJANS

With the Trojan-Irish game off the boards, the Elks' committee set to work to enlist retiring Southern California athletes under their banner for the game. It is possible that Marshall Duffield, Marger Apsit, Jesse Shaw and Dutch Wilcox—all of whom closed their careers—will appear in the West-South line-up.

Russ Saunders, former all-American at Southern California; Bobby Dodd, highly touted Tennessee quarterback; Herb Moffett, Georgia captain and all-Southern end, and Vance Maree, who captained the Georgia Tech team that defeated California in the historic 8-to-7 Rose Bowl game, have already accepted invitations to play in the game.

Completed line-ups for both teams will be announced within the next few days, it was stated. The Pacific Coast, from Seattle to Los Angeles, will be represented in the roster. The Far South, with three favorite sons already on the dotted line, may contribute other members.

MAJOR LEAGUE BOSSES GATHER

enough. They would accept, it was said, should the majors fix the draft price in Class AA leagues at around $15,000; agree to allow the minors to retain a player for two or three years before he becomes eligible to the draft; and agree to keep their hands off sand-lot and college material from which the minors, especially in the lower classifications, formerly were able to recruit their talent at reasonable prices.

As far as the major league meetings themselves are concerned, apparently the most troublesome question will be the lively ball. It is known some club owners are prepared to demand that some action be taken on this much-discussed problem. Three distinct schools of thought will be represented if and when the question comes up.

Some would have the ball left as it is; others are in favor of deadening it to wipe out the present epidemic of home runs; still another faction would let the ball remain as it is, but would institute a system whereby balls hit into certain sectors would be limited to two or three-base hits rather than home runs.

The so-called "chain-store" system of club ownership also may come up for discussion, especially should Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, decide the time is ripe for another attack on this modern development in the business side of the game.

Prize money totaling $7500 was divided among the twenty-eight professionals who entered the championship flight. Diegel's victory enriched him by $1600, while Espinosa received $1065. George Von Elm, Detroit, and Jo Ezar, Chicago, who were eliminated in the semifinals, received $532 each. The four eliminated in the quarter finals received $320 each. They are Abe Espinosa, Chicago; Willie Groggin, San Francisco; Gene Sarazen, Fushing, N. Y., and Fred Morrison, Alhambra, Cal. Smaller sums were divided among the others.

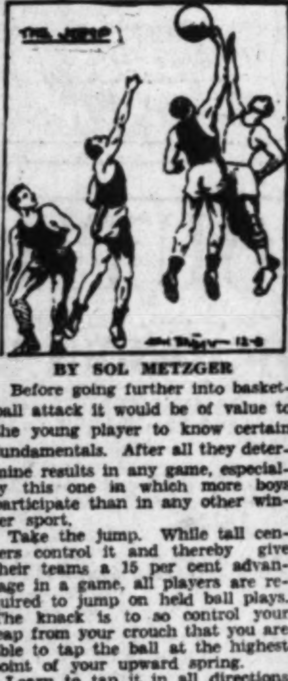
Tall Centers Have Edge in Cage Games



BY SOL METZGER

Before going further into basketball attack it would be of value to the young player to know certain fundamentals. After all they determine results in any game, especially this one in which more boys participate than in any other winter sport.

Take the jump. While tall centers control it and thereby give their teams a 15 per cent advantage in a game, all players are required to jump on held ball plays. The knack is to so control your leap from your crouch that you are able to tap the ball at the highest point of your upward spring.

Learn to tap it in all directions as well. This is necessary if one is to tap it to his teammates.

ALABAMA HOLDS DIXIE INTEREST

Georgia Tech, 13 to 0, but not until after a terrific battle which found the Golden Tornado playing its best ball of the year.

North Carolina and Duke played a scoreless tie on Chapel Hill gridiron resembling a quagmire. It was Duke's last game under Coach Jimmy De Hart and, although held to a tie, the Blue Devils' record of seven victories, two ties and one defeat is the best ever made by Duke.

Loyola of New Orleans downed Detroit, 9 to 6, to finish the best season since Clark Shaughnessy became its gridiron director. The Louisianans played more intersectional games than any team in the country—seven—and won them all.

Little Western Maryland, which has not lost a game since the 1928 season pushed over a final quarter touchdown, after a sixty-five-yard advance, to beat Maryland, 7 to 0, in their annual battle. William and Mary beat Hampden Sydney, 13 to 0.

Presbyterian of South Carolina claimed Southern Intersectional Athletic Association honors with six victories within the circuit. Center, with five wins, and Springhill with four, were close behind. Centenary and Loyola played only two association games and won both.

The final standing of the Southern Conference football teams together with points scored and opponents' points in all games, follow:

WHITEHEAD, FRITZ IN REMATCH GO TONIGHT

Tonight at the Culver City Stadium plenty of fireworks await the Bay District fans, from all reports in hand. Three weeks ago Vearl Whitehead was given the nod over Howard Fritz, much to the dislike of the fans, who contended a draw would have been plenty close. Promoter Saenz has them on a rematch tonight, let the gloves fly where they may. Likewise, in the special, a rematch is scheduled between Johnny Uzcudun and Eddie Tomasino, four rounds at 147. Last week they went round and, down. Tomasino, at least, for the count. Joe Arciniega vs. Bert Smith is the semi and the two openers, Pat Gomez vs. Jimmy Hart; Ramon Navarro vs. Phil Uria.

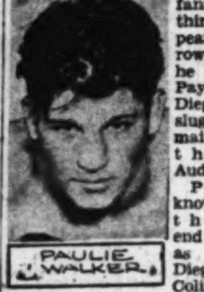
PAULIE WALKER TO FACE PAYAN

New York Italian in Main Go Tomorrow Night

San Diego Sensation Hopes to Spring Surprise

Billy Papke, Jr., and Hanna Mix in Semi-Wind-up

Paulie Walker, hard-punching New York Italian welterweight who has made such a hit with Los Angeles boxing fans, makes his third local appearance tomorrow night, when he faces Mike Payan, San Diego Mexican slugger, in the main event at the Olympic Auditorium.



PAULIE WALKER

Payan is known around the southern end of the State as the San Diego "Bert Colima." He has a great following in the Border City, where he has piled up a sensational string of victories. He was matched to fight Sammy Jackson at San Diego but that match had to be called off when the colored welter fouled out to Walker in the eighth round of last Tuesday's Olympic battle.

Not a few San Diego boxing followers thought that Payan would have trimmed Jackson had the match come off, so highly do they think of him down here. If Mike is as good as that he figures to give Walker decidedly a rough evening.

PAYAN "FINDS" SELF

Payan, a Yaqui Indian, fought around here as a lightweight without doing anything spectacular, but after joining the welterweight ranks he "found" himself. It's just been during the last six months that Mike has been doing things in a big way. The extra poundage has developed a wallop for Payan without causing him to lose any of his lightweight speed. Mike is a combination boxer-puncher, the type of a fighter capable of giving Walker trouble.

Paulie has made only two starts in Los Angeles rings, but he displayed so much ability that he caught on with the fans immediately. He keeps boring in all the time and is always dangerous with both hands. Walker is a crowd-pleaser.

In his first start here Paulie polished off Sammy Aguirre in forty-nine seconds. Last Tuesday Walker and Jackson put on a whale of a battle until Sammy landed a very low blow that forced Referee Abe Roth to give Paulie the verdict on a foul.

Walker was leading at the time of the foul, which is something of an accomplishment for Jackson is one of the best boys in welterweight ranks.

If Paulie keeps up his great work he is a cinch to be matched with Young Corbett for a bout in January.

PAPKE FACES HANNA

Sharing interest with the main event tomorrow night will be the semi-wind-up between Billy Papke, Jr., son of the former middleweight champion, and Jimmy Hannah, a rough, tough light-heavyweight from Montana.

Papke has knocked out Tony Cadena, Bud Baker, Sig Ecklund and Billy Wagner in his last four starts, but in Hannah he'll be meeting the toughest opponent of his career.

Papke looks like a great prospect and his dad is grooming him to bring a second world's championship into the family.

Hannah and Papke are billed for eight rounds or less. The preliminaries are Leo Hernandez vs. Cecil Balding; Ralph Vasquez vs. Charley Ernst, and Eddie Neal vs. Mickey Romo.

drivers. Shaw demonstrating an iron nerve stood up in his seat and waved to the other pilots warning them of their danger. The drivers took heed and swerved around the wrecked mount until it was removed from the track. Shaw was uninjured. Incidently he wore a red sweater which undoubtably aided him in flagging the other pilots.

Billy Winn annexed first place in the twenty-lap consolation race, closely followed by Herman Schurch and Lester Spangler in the order named. After finishing the race Spangler had the misfortune to crash into the lower guard rail. The sudden stop caused him to be thrown out of his car onto the track. He was picked up unconscious by race officials. He came to in the ambulance and it was announced that his only injury was a cut hand.

Stubby Stubblefield won the Italian Helmet dash after a sensational battle with Ralph De Palma. The time was 1m. 2 2-5s. Cantlon finished a poor third.

THIRTY ROUNDS ON CARD AT PASADENA

Five four-round bouts will make up the supporting card to the Baby Sal Sorio-Bobby Reister bout at the Pasadena arena Thursday night, making the card a thirty-round affair. The four-rounders are: Johnny Godinez vs. Ray Cervantes, 122 pounds; Jimmy Hart vs. Frankie Sullivan, 138 pounds; Johnny Martinez vs. Vernon Center, 135 pounds; Ray Redalda vs. Willie Watson, 165 pounds, and Phil Urias vs. Bill Burns, 145 pounds.

Sal sent a hurry-up call for two Los Angeles welterweights to join his training camp at San Bernardino yesterday. He is reported as rounding into shape rapidly. Reister is working at Vernon. The weight, 144 pounds, is catchweights for him. Both Reister and Sorio are great punchers and there is a chance the bout won't go the limit.

SAGEHENS CONTINUE WORK

Pomona College Basketball Squad Will Figure in Two Practice Tilts This Week

CLAREMONT, Dec. 7.—Minus Stan Hahn, veteran forward, the Pomona College Sagehens will continue their basketball training sessions next week with two practice games and several long workouts. The freshman five is also due for a stiff week.

Hahn, a letter man, injured again a weak knee in the Southwestern game recently, and as a result he will be on the sidelines at least until next month. He is a valuable man in the Blue passing attack.

The Sagehens meet the Riverside Y.M.C.A. team here Wednesday night, and the U.C.L.A. Bruins here Saturday night. Both of these contests are expected to furnish the Hens valuable experience. Coach "Puzz" Merritt hopes to work his men into shape by sending them against some of the best quintets in Southern California, and he has chosen several other opponents for the Hens, who opened their practice-game schedule recently against the L.A.A.C. aggregation.

The Sagehens are beginning to work their offense into shape, but the loss of Hahn will handicap them considerably now. With Capt. Hal Hadfield at one forward, Merritt may attempt to fit a reserve in Hahn's place, shifting Al Putnam, a letter man, to center, filling a gap there. Putnam occupied the pivot position for a while Thursday night against Southwestern, and he performed well.

If Merritt gives his second-stringers a chance at the vacant forward, several men will battle for the position. Dick Roby, forward or guard, who garnered 10 points against the Lawyers; Bud Fisher, a transfer; John Blanchard and Steve Stroud, members of the strong second team last year, all will put in a bid for regular duty.

Putnam appears to be the best man at center, for he works into the Blue passing attack. Jerry Ludden, a sophomore, and Howard Eells, a transfer, are the strongest of the other candidates for this post, but they are inexperienced. Merritt may choose to leave Putnam at forward, to fill Hahn's place.

The Sagehens looked good against the Southwestern quintet, rolling up an overwhelming victory. Hadfield, who promises to become one of the best forwards in the conference, headed the Blue attack, which functioned smoothly.

The Pomona guards, Owen Kelson and Frank Clements, kept opposing forwards out of dangerous territory most of the time. These men figure to play good defensive ball this season.

Merritt is still experimenting with his squad, and he has not yet built up his second five. He is expected to employ a "shock team" to advantage this season.

The freshmen have looked good in training and Coach "Beefy" Heath will soon send them into competition. More than four complete teams have reported for duty, and competition is keen for all positions. One of the strongest line-ups is Lewie Gleeck and Bob Shaffer, forwards; Walter Farrell, center; Tom Kinney and Laurence Lusk, guards. This outfit recently cleaned up on the varsity reserves, showing a strong passing attack.

APPLEBY RETAINS BILLIARDS CROWN

MADISON (Wis.) Dec. 7. (AP)—Edgar T. Appleby, New York, tonight retained his national amateur 18.2 balk-line billiards championship by defeating Ray Fessenden, Madison, challenger, and former title-holder, 900 to 491. Appleby led 600 to 249 at the end of the second block yesterday.

The match went 100 innings. Appleby had a grand average of 9.0 and the challenger 4 86-99. The champion took the final block, 300 to 187 tonight. Appleby cued a high run of 81 for the match and Fessenden made a high count of 42.

GREEN BAYS STOPPED IN "PRO" GRID GAME

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Green Bays string of victories over the Chicago Bears which had stretched well nigh three years, was snapped decisively this afternoon at Wrigley Field when the 1929 champions of professional football and leading the race this season, went down to defeat, 21 to 0.

Twenty-two thousand, a cheering mob, which completely filled the west stands and overflowed to less advantageous sites, saw the Bears end the Packers supremacy.

CANADIENS BACK AT TOP

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Montreal's brilliant Canadiens, champions of the hockey world, regained their tie with Toronto for top place in the Canadian division of the National Hockey League by defeating the New York Americans, 3 to 2, tonight.

THIRTEEN LUCKY FOR COUGARS

Mystic Number Has Played Big Part in Washington State Program

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE (Pullman) Dec. 7. (Exclusive) If "13" is an unlucky number for Washington State, then the New Year's game with Alabama is going to be a catastrophe! When the Cougars take the field against the Crimson Tide, they will be under a veritable halo of thirteens.

The Alabama game will be the thirteenth encounter for Babe Hollingbery's team since it has tasted defeat. The last licking sustained by Washington State was a 27-to-7 trimming at the hands of Southern California in 1929.

Thirteen Cougar veterans will play their final college football in Pasadena's huge Rose Bowl. And what a brilliant thirteen—Mel Hein, Harold Ahlskog, Sam Hansen, George Hill, John Hurley, Bill Tonkin, Lyle Maskell, Carl Ellingsen, Porter Lainhart, Elmer Schwartz, Howard Morgan, Harold Yap and Oscar Jones!

That's carrying the thing far enough, though a flock of other "13" situations have studded the Crimson and Gray schedule this fall. For instance, Washington State defeated Villanova, 13 to 0. Exactly 13 points were scored in the memorable early season encounter with Southern California.

An unlucky number? Hardly, for 1930 has been the biggest year in the football history of the State college, and when 1, 9, 3 and 0 are added, they total a luscious, healthy thirteen.

ERNIE NEVERS IN STAR GRIDIRON ROLE

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Dec. 7 (Exclusive)—Ernie Nevers, that towering giant of all-American fame dominated a football game today in a manner that established his prestige in the minds of the largest crowd that has seen a football game in Memphis this year. Nevers, leading the Chicago Cardinals of the National Professional League, had a large share in the 6-to-0 defeat of the Memphis Tigers and there were 7000 people at Hodges field to see the home town boys take their third defeat of the season.

Nevers, playing the entire game, participated in practically every movement on the offense and defense, and was the guiding spirit of the drive that sent Bunny Belden spinning across the line for the lone touchdown of the game in the second quarter.

SEVEN FOOTBALLERS LOST TO 1931 BEARS

BERKELEY, Dec. 7. (Exclusive) When the University of California football varsity lost to Stanford University in the annual "big game," seven Golden Bears were participating in their last game under collegiate colors.

This septet included the following: Ted Beckett, guard, and California's all-American candidate; Capt. Carl Handy, guard; two veteran ends, Togo Thornton and Russ Avery; Dolph Timmerman, tackle, and the biggest man on the 1930 squad; Herman Eickmeyer, center, and Clarence (Moose) Garrity, fullback.

BLACK HAWKS TRIUMPH

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—A pair of third-string forwards, Frankie Ingram and Vic Desjardins, tonight gave the Chicago Blackhawks enough of a lead to stall off a rousing finishing drive by Detroit Falcons in the final period, and save a 3-to-2 victory for the league leaders. Twelve thousand spectators attended.

LA VERNE LEOPARDS TO MEET SHAMROCK CAGERS

LA VERNE, Dec. 7.—Working to smooth their attack before their first practice game, the La Verne Leopards will open their second week of basketball training tomrrow under Coach Lee Eisan, with every man in good condition. The promising freshman outfit, guided by Coach Dale Click, will turn out.

The Leopards open their practice-game schedule here Saturday night, meeting the Shamrock Club of Los Angeles. Two other contests have been scheduled before the opening of the Southern California Conference season, January 17. The Leopards will play an alumni team the 19th inst., and the U.C.L.A. Bruins January 3.

Fred Hubble, injured slightly in the final fotball game of the year, is ready for duty now in good condition. Hubble, although a little fellow, is an outstanding guard, and a member of the completed quintet which battled last season to second position in the conference standings. Capt. Dale Stutzman and "Red" Weybright, forwards; Orville Thomason, center; Hubble and Al Nicolas, guards, are the other returning veterans.

The Leopards are ready to work at the start in builing up a powerful outfit. With many strong reserves ready for duty, the Green quintet is doped to offer the Redlands five a strong fight for the crown. The men on the La Verne first team have played together for many seasons, and they click Hubble and Nicolas form a strong defensive combination, and they held even the strong Redlands forwards in check last season.

Eisan hopes to drill a second outfit in his style of play, allowing the regulars to employ their own system. Several promising reserve men have reported, including John Kindy, Jerry Deal, forwards; Harry Thomas and Bob Welty, guards; Max Forney and Bert Jones, centers.

The La Verne varsity draws a bye in the first round of play in the 1931 schedule, while the Bulldogs meet the strong Pomona five. The Leopards will be primed to meet their old rivals, and this battle is expected to be classic. It is dated for the La Verne floor. It may rival the beautiful 9-7 defensive game staged here last year, for both guard combinations have returned for duty, Hubble and Nicolas of the Green aggregation, and Hank Belden and Ebel of Redlands.

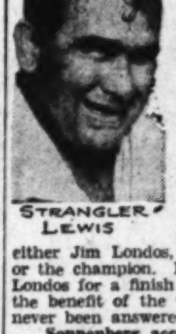
STRANGLER IN MAT CHALLENGE

Ex-Champ Defies George and Sonnenberg

Wants to Meet Winner of Wednesday's Bout

Former Title-holder Is in Great Shape

Ed (Strangler) Lewis, three times holder of the world's wrestling title, has put in his challenge to meet the winner of the finish championship battle between "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg and Don George, scheduled for the Olympic Wednesday night.



STRANGLER LEWIS

Lewis already has a $5000 appearance forfeit posted with the California State Athletic Commission for a match with either Jim Londos, Greek wrestler, or the champion. His challenge to Londos for a finish match here for the benefit of the unemployed has never been answered.

Sonnenberg, according to Promoter Lou Daro, has agreed to meet the winner of the proposed Lewis-Londos battle, and is ready to post a $10,000 appearance forfeit as soon as the Greek matman decides to meet the former champion in a battle of wrestling holds and not words.

Lewis has been after a match with Sonnenberg here ever since the athletic commission passed a rule barring the billy-goat butt. With this "hold" barred, Lewis is certain he could regain his title in a return battle with the former Dartmouth football star.

Whether or not Sonnenberg would agree to meet Lewis unless the former headlock artist first meets and beats Londos is not known, but George is reported to be ready to meet anyone selected for him by Promoter Daro should be beat the mat king Wednesday night.

Lewis believes he has many years to wait if he cannot get a title bout unless he first clashes with Londos. He declares the Greek wrestler has evaded him for years, and will probably continue to do so.

Sonnenberg is not so anxious to meet Lewis again in Los Angeles, where butting is barred, it is reported, and those close to him declare he is not overconfident of beating George Wednesday night.

George is scheduled to go through his final hard workout for this battle, today. He has brought his weight down to 210 pounds and is reported to be in wonderful condition. The challenger is also confident he will give the champion a closer and rougher battle than their first one, and if Sonnenberg decides to engage in a battle of tackles, he believes he stands a very good chance of winning the title.

Plenty of action is also looked for in the other two one-hour time-limit battles on this card. Henri Ge Glane, Greco-Roman champion, will meet Koloff in the special event of this card, while Nick Lutze, the popular Venice grappler, will tangle with Don De Laun, Glendale strong man, in the opener.

In fact, I have never seen a game in which so much high-class blocking was in evidence.

Carideo directed Rockne's attack well. He is a great field general and it is not detracting from his ability to say, however, that his task wasn't as difficult Saturday as it undoubtedly has been in other games. You naturally look better winning than losing and Carideo hasn't been on the losing end for a long time. He is cool and knows how to size up the opposition and he did some fine blocking himself.

I said in print on the day of the game that it is a well-known axiom of sports followers to string with the champion until he is defeated. If this advice is followed you can't go wrong very often. It is unlikely that Notre Dame will be the underdog in another Southern California game for some years to come for all who saw Saturday's game must not only have added respect for the ability of the Irish players but also for their coach, Knute Rockne.

HARVARD WINS FIRST NET MATCH OF YEAR

The Harvard Military Academy tennis squad won its first encounter of the season when it defeated the Beverly Hills High School racket stars by a score of 6 matches to 3 on the Harvard courts yesterday. The first singles match between John Booge of Harvard and Billy Seward of Beverly was the highlight of the matches, with Booge winning in straight sets, 7-5, 7-5. The results follow:

Singles—Booge (H.) defeated Seward (B.H.) 7-5, 7-5; Forbes (H.) defeated Stirrett (B.H.) 6-2, 6-4; Hughes (H.) defeated Kingston (B.H.) 6-1, 6-1; Miller (H.) defeated Pirie (B.H.) 6-3, 6-1; Tracy (B.H.) defeated Fishback (H.) 9-7, 4-6, 6-4; Hortan (H.) defeated Blair (B.H.) 6-3, 6-2; Ban (B.H.) defeated Taylor (H.) 8-6, 4-6, 6-4.

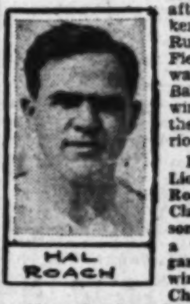
Doubles—Forbes and Booge (H.) defeated Kingston and Stirrett (B.H.) 4-6, 6-1, 6-4; Seward and Tracy (B.H.) defeated Miller and Hughes (H.) 6-1, 6-3.

SCULPIN RUNNING OFF HERMOSA BEACH

HERMOSA BEACH, Dec. 7.—A heavy run of sculpin has been experienced by anglers on board the big Olympic fishing barge for the last week. Sculpin have been absent from these waters for some time, but are back now in full force. Capt. J. M. Anderson reports bonito are still biting hard as well as sand dabs and blue perch. Pier anglers are hooking sardines, mackerel and croakers, while surf fishermen are reported to be catching corbina and croakers.

Santa Barbara Poloists Lose to Local Four

Uplifters' poloists with Hal Roach and Snowy Baker leading the way nosed out the Santa Barbara horsemen yesterday after nine chukkers of play at Rustic Canyon Field. The score was 12 to 11. Baker made the winning goal in the overtime period of play.



HAL ROACH

Baker, Lionel Pedley, Roach and Clair Brunson, all played a whale of a game for the winner. The Channel City riders also turned in a fine exhibition. Red Guy stood out for the losers. At half time the visitors had a three-goal lead but in the last four chukkers of play the Uplifters staged a real comeback. Hal Roach and Snowy Baker switched positions in the latter part of the game and this made quite a difference in changing the tide of the game.

Dana Fuller of Santa Barbara had a nasty spill in the seventh chukker but was unhurt, luckily.

Junior Tennis Huge Success

Pronounced one of the most successful undertakings ever held in Southern California tennis ranks, the second semiannual round-robin tennis tournament was held out at the Los Angeles Tennis Club yesterday under the auspices of the Southern California Tennis Association, the Tennis Patrons' Association of Southern California, and the Los Angeles Tennis Club. The event was run off under the capable leadership of Perry T. (Pep) Jones, secretary of the S.C.T.A. Mr. Jones is chairman of the junior development committee, composed of Doris Cook, Rea F. Chittenden, Almon F. Manspeaker, Roland D. Reinke and Jack Tidball, which was the guiding hand in the affair.

Forty-five boys and twenty-one girls participated in the tournament, with fifteen boys and nine girls receiving prizes. The awards were made in each of the eight divisions. First prize was a choice of either a three months' playing privilege at the L.A.T.C. or a new racket; second prize was either of the first choices not selected; while third prize was a box of tennis balls.

Several prominent tennis players of years past and others of the coming generation were on hand yesterday to watch the matches. Among them were "Little Bill" Johnston, former national singles champion; Fred B. Alexander, five times national doubles titlist; Ellsworth Vines, Pacific-Southwest singles and mixed doubles champion; Sidney Beardsdale Wood, Jr., semi-finalist in the national singles this year, and others.

BOYS' SINGLES

CASANOVA WINS OVER RUDENSKI IN THIRD

Three technical knockouts featured the weekly fight card at the Main Street Athletic Club Saturday night. In the main event, Sandy Garrison Casanova, Mexican battler, was awarded a technical knockout over Frank Rudenski, 185-pound Russian fighter, in the third round of a slated six-round bout. Casanova pasted the Russian battler all over the ring, scoring eight knockdowns in the second and third rounds. Jack Charvez won over Tom Moore in the fourth with a technical knockout as did Ad Cadena over Jimmy Valentine. Eddie Lloyd won a four-round decision over Max Morgan and Joe Skube was awarded a decision over Damaso Anchustegin in the preliminary bout.

LES CHAMPLEVOIS IN STEEPLECHASE WIN

AUTEUIL (France) Dec. 7. (AP)—Les Champlevois, a 4-year-old by Lafarina out of Verroterie owned by Gustave Beauvois, won the Maubourget Stakes Steeplechase Handicap today. Poisson D'Avril was second and Bigorneau was third.

The race, over the two-and-a-quarter-mile course, was worth $4000. Ten horses started but two fell and one refused. The winner, ridden by Riolfo, finished two lengths ahead of Poisson D'Avril.

Callis Takes Sailing Post

The annual installation banquet of the flag officers of the Long Beach Yacht Club was attended by sixty members of the organization and guests from other yacht clubs. Dick Loynes, commodore for the past year, sang his swan song and D. M. Callis, naval architect, was inducted into office for the coming year. Other officers sworn into office were A. N. Macrate, vice-commodore; Charles W. Camp, rear-commodore; R. Fellows, treasurer; Glenn Thomas, fleet captain; Dr. Carl Bishop, fleet surgeon; Jonah Jones, Jr., judge-advocate; Eddie Fink, measurer; Gus Walker, port captain, and directors, Dick Loynes, George Crain, Howard Deems, J. nia, 9 1-2 to 2 1-2, in a match played two weeks ago.

Other matches scheduled bring together Lakeside and Hillcrest, Oakmont and Flintridge and Wilshire and Brentwood.

Brentwood is in fifth place with 20 points, while Wilshire has 17½, but the latter club will probably be a slight favorite due to the brilliant play of Miss Helen Lawson. The young Wilshire star, who advanced to the finals of the California State championship last spring, has been playing splendid golf. In the twosome event held at Bel-Air Thursday by the women's auxiliary she had an individual ball of 78 to win low gross for herself and Mrs. Jane Lohman of Lakeside. The Bel-Air tournament was the finest staged this year with a record entry of 154 players.

MR. AND MRS. VAN ZANT WIN MIXED FOURSOMES

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Van Zant won the mixed foursomes played at the Los Angeles Country Club, 180-28—152. Other leaders were Mrs. G. W. Kenson and David Lawley, 180-26—154; Mrs. G. G. Howland and Nickerson, 189-32—157; Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Holubek, 190-27-163, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McHugh, 193-28—165.

MIXED FOURSOME EVENT IN FINAL ROUND

Eddie Meyberg and Miss Barbara Bastheim of Hillcrest meet Jack Gaines and Mrs. G. K. Thompson of Oakmont in the finals of the mixed foursome match play tournament over the north course, Los Angeles Country Club, on Sunday.

Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd unfortunately was called home and was unable to play with Norman Macbeth against Meyberg and Miss Bastheim, the match going by default.

Gaines and Mrs. Thompson eliminated Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Ralls, 4 and 3.

In the second flight, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Rhoades defeated Mr and Mrs. F. C. Stevens, 2 up, and Frank Deliot and Mrs. E. Paul Hill won from Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Davidson, 1 up.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Martin defeated Mr. and Mrs. D. Fields, 3 and 2, and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Speicher defeated Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pratt, 2 and 1, in the third flight semifinals.

SANTA MONICA ANNEXES PUBLIC LINKS TITLE

Although losing to Long Beach, 8 to 7, in the final match of the season played yesterday over the Recreation Park links, Santa Monica won the Southern California Public Links Association team match championship with a total of 78½ points against 74 for Long Beach. Westwood finished third, Pasadena fourth and Montebello Park fifth.

Individual results were as follows: Ruggiero and Berdrow (S.M.) ½; McNamara and Stevenson (L.B.) 2½; Hicks and Hanna (S.M.) 1; Sleppy and MacKay (L.B.) 2; Coleman and Schroeder (S.M.) 0; Russell and Larsh (L.B.) 3; Kerr and Rooney (S.M.) 2½; Tomes and Sylvas (L.B.) ½; Hine and Gordon (S.M.) 3; Colton and Kerr (L.B.) 0.

LAWYERS TRIM DENTISTS IN MATCH, 9 TO 6

E. E. Noon reports that the Southern California lawyers defeated the dentists, 9 to 6, in a team match played Friday at the Rancho Golf Club. E. K. Brown, Los Angeles barrister, featured the day with a 72. The tournament was a feature of the annual homecoming exercises at the University of Southern California.

HALFBACK GRIFFITHS TO CAPTAIN BEARS

BERKELEY, Dec. 7.—Ed Griffiths, captain-elect of the University of California football team, will be the first Golden Bear captain since 1926 who has played in the backfield. Bert Griffin, the 1926 captain, was a fullback, but all of the captains since that time have been linemen.

Griffiths has played two seasons with the Bear varsity, one at halfback and the other—the 1930 season—at quarterback.

EXHIBITION CARDED FOR CALIENTE LINKS

Friday night an exhibition match game will take place at Caliente Golf Park with four noted players participating—Fay Coleman, Mrs. Kryle Bellew, Orin Dutra and "Wee" Willie Hunter, it is announced. Eighteen holes will be played, according to Oscar E. Schmidt, owner of the big golf park. Golfers are invited to play the game themselves before or after the exhibition, Schmidt announces, and holiday prices prevail.

TROJANS NOT ONLY ONES FOOLED BY K. K. ROCKNE

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

(Reprinted from late editions of Sunday's Times.)

"What's dumber than a dumb Irishman?"

Knute Rockne, "Sage of South Bend," answered his own question when interviewed by Paul Lowry, sports editor of The Times, over KHJ last night, for K. Noot Rockne is still snickering up his sleeve over the clever manner in which he bamboozled Los Angeles newspaper men down at Tucson a couple of days ago.

If a football player wears a jersey with the number 31 on the back and the roster says No. 31 is Dan Hanley, third-string Notre Dame fullback, then it must be so.

But No. 31 who worked out at Tucson was not Hanley—it was Paul (Bucky) O'Connor, who was slated to play fullback against Southern California from the moment that Larry (Moon) Mullins was definitely known to be out of the game.

"Two years ago," said K. Noot, "O'Connor worked out at fullback for six weeks, but Jumping Joe Savoldi managed to make up credits in geography and long division, and being well fortified with fullbacks, I decided that Bucky would be more useful as an understudy to Brill at halfback.

"You can't make a fullback in three days' time, but with six weeks of spring practice drilled into him, I knew that he could fill the bill. O'Connor was a revelation to me. He played better than he knew how."

And that's the story behind O'Connor, who got off the greatest run of the day, a demoralizing 80-yard jaunt that put the game on ice for the Irish and sounded the knell of defeat for the Trojans in that 27-to-0 trimming at the Coliseum yesterday afternoon.

When asked what won the game for Notre Dame and what defeated Southern California, Rockne unhesitantly said, "Superb blocking and interference.

AN OFF-DAY

"Southern California seemed dead on its feet," said Rockne, "but this can be expected at some stage of the season. Notre Dame lacked dash against Northwestern and Army, but recovered it against Southern California. I don't believe that Southern California had the same spark that carried them to hurricane victories over Stanford and California."

"Psychology certainly played a part in the victory," said K. Noot. "Grant Rice was in Chicago a few weeks ago and showed me a card from Dick Hyland, which stated that Southern California would trim the Irish by four touchdowns. That was good for the boys and gave rise to newspaper men quoting me that Southern California would win by four touchdowns."

Rockne also admitted that Tom Lieb, Jimmy Phelan and other coaches helped the psychology angle along by picking the Trojans to win.

Notre Dame's great coach who saw his undefeated 1930 eleven hang up its tenth straight victory, gives all the credit to his boys.

"You've got to hand it to Carideo," said Rockne, "he felt out the Trojans and noted every weakness. When he found that he couldn't go around Arbelbide's end and noted that Wilcox and Sparling were missing from the other end, he went after Joslin. Carideo also noted that the Trojans were not covering deep flat territory on first down and immediately took advantage of that information to pass."

GREAT ON OFFENSE

When asked to make a comparison between the 1930 Irish machine and the great team of 1924, Knute was averse to do so.

"I always think of that light 1924 team as a thing of beauty, rhythm and perfection of motion," said Rockne, "but I do believe that the 1930 team is as great, if not the greatest offensive team of them all."

When asked what difference Joe Savoldi would have made in the line-up, Rockne stated that he had averaged 11 yards a play until he left school, but that he did not like to take a thing away from O'Connor, who played a great game.

Rockne admitted that Jim Musick's fumble on the 19-yard line, which was recovered by Culver, Irish tackle, was the turning point of the game.

"A break like that," pointed out Knute, "gives the team getting the break a great incentive, peps them up in spirit and adds to their morale. The opposing team feels an equal drop in morale."

"Culver," continued Rockne, "played a great game. He is the most improved man on the squad over a year ago. He is smarter and better all around."

SECRET OF BLOCKING

"The secret of Notre Dame's blocking and tackling," said Rockne in answer to that question, "lies all with the boy who does the tackling and the blocking. We stress such fundamentals at Notre Dame and the boys try to outdo each other. Speed in getting the interference in front of the ball carrier is also stressed at Notre Dame. That is the secret of Notre Dame's interference. I have always told my guards that 'no guard ever ran too fast.' We simply practice in getting the boys out in front of the ball packer, who is a secondary consideration."

"Some coaches," explained Rockne, "believe in power, Notre Dame believes in speed. Which is right, I don't know. Next year I may be beaten by a team featuring power."

Rockne picked Garrett Arbelbide, Trojan end, and Erny Pinckert, all-American halfback, as Southern California's best players. He was hesitant about naming Notre Dame's best, but selected little Bertie Metzger, 153-pound chunk of dynamite, as the best lineman, and Carideo and Brill as the best in the backfield.

"O'Connor's 80-yard run to a touchdown was the best play of the day," said Rockne and explained the details. Capt. Conley took Hall, the Trojan tackle, while Metzger took Joslin. O'Brien and Culver in addition to Yarr went down and picked off men, O'Brien being the final interferer as O'Connor kept on to a touchdown.

Rockne pointed out that both O'Connor and O'Brien had taken a fling at track, the former Los Angeles High School star being a fine performer on the cinders while O'Connor took track less seriously.

MOHLER PRAISED

"Mohler," said Rockne, "is going to be a wonder. He needs poise and experience, but he had me worried every minute he was in the game for fear he would break away."

Knute, a sportsman and gentleman himself, paid Howard Jones a tribute.

"He is one of the finest sportsmen and coaches I know," said Rockne.

Rockne is going to New York where he will coach a team of ex-Notre Dame stars on Jimmy Walker's charity program. He will then return to Los Angeles for a game on the 27th inst., between a team of former Irish stars and a team of Pacific Coast and southern stars mentored by Jimmy Phelan, Washington coach and former Notre Dame quarterback.

"Since I couldn't bring him this time," said Knute, "I will have Savoldi with me for the charity game as well as all the seniors on the 1930 Notre Dame team, including Carideo, Brill, Conley, O'Brien, Metzger, Kassis and Culver."

In conclusion, Knute said of Los Angeles, "I like to play here. I like your enthusiasm and your fairness."

After Kirn was injured and taken out, Gannon and Hurley proved to be effective, hard-running backs able to carry the ball in consistent marches that were well directed in the last two periods. This was a new Navy team and it will be even better by Saturday, a team lifted out of the rut by the thrill of an Army contest.

The Army was only one point away from Notre Dame a week ago in Chicago and that would indicate too much stuff for the Navy to face. Only such indications don't always work out, in football. The Army came close to its peak against Notre Dame and the Navy's peak will be next Saturday when Bill Ingram will bring a team to New York well equipped to play a lot of football and to give the Army a battle all the way.

The Army can only win by being at its best, or at least in the vicinity of its best. Any backfield that has Kirn, Hurley and Gannon to lug the leather can fill any afternoon full of trouble for any rival one might name.

N.Y.U.'s final charge against Colgate is a fair warning for all her rivals to look out for 1931. Colgate had to fight for her life in a game that might just as well have been a tie. Tennessee also closed out one of the best campaigns of many years in spite of her lone defeat by Alabama.

And one of the best of all football stars closed out a great career when Bobby Dodd threw his final pass against Florida.

IRISH GRIDDERS LEAVE FOR HOME

on the train for it was assumed that he would stop over at least for tonight's football banquet of Christy Walsh's all-American football board, of which the Notre Dame coach is a member.

"I'll be back in about two weeks to direct my all-star team in your charity game here the 27th inst.," was Rockne's final word.

"Did anybody lay a hand on you when you galloped 80 yards on that touchdown run?" the writer asked O'Connor.

"Well, I think either Duffield or Pinckert slowed me down a bit over on the sideline," smiled Bucky. "One of them was coming at me so swiftly he missed the tackle, which was lucky for me."

"Nobody touched you then, other than either Pinckert or Duffield?"

"Not as far as I know, but, of course, I may have been hindered a bit getting through the line. You know, in a game where everything moves so quickly it's hard to remember just exactly what did happen."

O'Connor, for the benefit of those who don't know him, is only slightly taller than Bert Metzger and not a great deal larger. He is very fast, however, and made similar long runs this season.

The Irish are entitled to a world of credit for going through three hard games in a row, Northwestern, Army and Southern California (what's hard about that?) and still retaining the zipper and enthusiasm they showed Saturday. It is a great tribute to Rockne's personality and ability as a conditioner of men. That fact stood out like a lighthouse Saturday.

None of the Irish players was injured in the game. Frank Carideo suffered a slightly hurt side which caused him to turn the punting job over to Marchy Schwartz in the latter part of the game. Some of the boys had bruises and cuts, but outside of this they appeared to be in fine shape and chock full of enthusiasm.

Classes continue at Notre Dame until the 18th inst., after which some of the seniors on the team will return here to play at the Coliseum. They should get a rousing welcome.

The Jones brothers, Tad and Howard, played golf yesterday afternoon and the Trojan coach was warm in his praise of the Irish. Tad was fearful of the outcome long before the game started and his suspicions as to the strength of the Ramblers were borne out. The former Yale coach will be here until tomorrow when he pulls out for San Francisco.

There is virtually no possibility of the Trojans playing a charity game with Utah or anybody else here next Saturday or the week following.

O'BRIEN COPS CYCLE RACE

SANTA MARIA, Dec. 7. (AP)—Henry O'Brien, California bicycle race champion, won the pre-Olympic thirty-five-mile race here today in 1h. 45m. 46s. He was followed across the finish line by Bud Thorpe, Los Angeles. Neil Davidson, Hollywood, was third.

FIREMEN POINT FOR TILT

Smoke-Eaters Open Training Today for Game With North Dakota at Coliseum

Los Angeles Firemen open training today for the biggest test in their football careers which takes place Christmas Day at the Coliseum where they play the North Dakota University team.

The Smoke-Eaters under the direction of Coach Bill Blewett have run up a fine scoring record for the 1930 season to date. They have tallied more than 350 points against their opponents while only forty-six points have been scored on them.

North Dakota is one of the finest midwestern teams. Knowing now just how good Notre Dame was the fans can look forward to a crack outfit in the Nodaks. They have been beaten but once this season and that was to the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

The Fire Laddies figure to give North Dakota a terrific battle on the gridiron. Blewett's team is made up of seasoned players, many of whom have served in college campaigns in the past.

The chief scoring threat of the Firemen is Don Moses. Galloping Don won fame at U.S.C. and Blewett avers he is one of the greatest fullbacks he has ever seen.

The North Dakota alumni association out here has scouted the Firemen pretty well so that the invaders will have a real line on the plays of the Hook and Ladder boys when they tangle.

F. O. Barnett, athletic director for the Firemen, believes the game will draw a fine crowd as both teams are capable of turning on real spectacular football at times.

Ferguson and Kehlor Annex Race Trophies

LAKE ELSINORE, Dec. 7. — As the sun slanted over the hills west of this beautiful lake this afternoon, more than a half-hundred of the fastest outboard pilots of the West flashed into the finals of the third annual midwinter national regatta which set a new standard of popularity for boat racing on the Pacific seaboard.

Outstanding in the thirty-odd events on the two-day card were the hot contests for the Commodore Mackay, the Shadowpoint and the Macrate trophies, three annual challenge pieces of silverware that were defended today by H. G. Ferguson, driving Dr. Leo M. Baughman's Blue Streaks.

In two pretty heats Ferguson maintained his hold on the Macrate cup, but because of more or less tough luck dropped the Commodore Mackay trophy to Rowdy, driven by H. S. Kehlor of Los Angeles. The awarding of the Shadowpoint trophy will be held up until the racing committee passes on a technicality of the rules. It will go either to Ferguson or C. J. Rhuland of Los Angeles, who piloted Otsha to a number of fast wins during the two days.

Miss Loretta Turnbull, fast-going daughter of Judge Rupert Turnbull of Los Angeles, starred again today by winning the girls' championship for the Coast. Roger Swartwood, sensational 16-year-old Hollywood high school boy, cleaned up the old-time favorites by winning the Class D five-mile race, one of the best events of the regatta.

Rose Passel of the Alamitos Bay Yacht Club, was easy winner in the skimmer class sailboat races. Dick Russell of the same club was second and Commodore David MacKay of the Lake Elsinore Yacht Club, came in third.

Announce Oxy Cage Schedule

A total of twenty-five basketball games have been billed for Coach Eddie Kienholz's Oxy five this year, including nine league tilts. The Tigers have already played two games during the past week with the Tiger alumni, and go into action twice next Tuesday night when they meet the Kay's Bakery cagers at 7 o'clock and the Southwestern University hoopsters at 8:15 p.m. on the Occidental floor. The Tigers also have another double-header scheduled for Friday night of this week with the U.S.C. Dental quintet and the University of the West on the Oxy court.

The complete schedule:

December 9—Kay's Bakery (Pasadena) at Occidental; Southwestern University at Occidental.
December 12—U.S.C. Dental College at Occidental; University of the West at Occidental.

February 27—La Verne College at Glendale High.
March 3—Whittier College at Whittier.
March 7—University of Redlands at Glendale High.

PENNSYLVANIA TEAM HUMBLED

Navy Eleven Ready to Face Army Next Saturday

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—A Navy team which has had a rather poor season sent out a trumpet blast of warning yesterday to the Cadets at West Point that they must give their best if they expect to win next Saturday's service fray. In smashing a favored Pennsylvania eleven down to a 26-to-0 defeat, the midshipmen yesterday showed everything they seemed to lack before.

In the entire game Penn could make only three first downs and gain only 36 yards from scrimmage, while Navy made 225 yards and eighteen first downs. The midshipmen battered their rival all through the first half. With a pair of supposedly weak subs, Tommy Hurley and "Rusty" Williams, opening things up a bit, Navy made itself some breaks and seized on them to score four touchdowns.

COLGATE HELD, 7-6

Although Colgate managed to keep its record against eastern rivals untarnished in New York's big benefit game, New York University shared the honors of the day by holding Len Macaluso, the nation's leading scorer, in check and giving the powerful Maroon eleven only a 7-to-6 victory.

The young Violet team played on even terms through most of the game after a fumble and a 30-yard pass, Hart to Orsi, had given Colgate a touchdown in the first period. In the final frame it staged the one big advance of the battle, marching 78 yards for a score two minutes before the end. Johnny Orsi, star Colgate end, broke through to block the kick that would have brought a tie.

Only about 20,000 fans turned out for this benefit game. Rain in Pittsburgh held the attendance down to 5000 as Carnegie Tech romped to a 26-to-0 victory over Washington and Jefferson in another charity affair.

Harry McCurdy, Carnegie quarterback, was the spark plug of the Tartan attack, scoring one touchdown and passing for two more.

MARINES WIN, 7-0

Another 20,000 fans paid their share for charity as the Marines defeated the Coast Guard, 7 to 0, in the annual game for the President's cup, while a few more thousands watched two lesser charity affairs. Davis and Elkins defeated New River in one, handing the little West Virginia college its first defeat of the season, while Dickinson turned in its first victory, beating the Carlisle Army Medical School, 39 to 0.

Western Maryland completed its second season without a defeat and remained alone at the head of the eastern ranking list as the only unbeaten team when it downed Maryland, 7 to 0, in the battle for the State championship. Outplayed all through the first half, the Terrors opened a real drive in the final period and went sixty-five yards to send their star halfback, Koppe, across with the touchdown.

Although Western Maryland was the only team in the East to get through the season without a beating, Colgate's final victory gave the Maroon a good claim on the mythical sectional championship with Army and Fordham as its leading rivals.

Records of a few leading teams follow:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	Pts. Agst.
Western Maryland..	9	0	1	246	14
Colgate	9	1	0	362	27

THIRD COUGAR GRID ON WAY TO PASADENA

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE (Pullman) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—When Loyd Bury, assistant graduate manager, leaves for Pasadena this week, he will be the third Washington State official to descend on the scene of the New Year's game for a month of hard work before the fracas.

Bury will join Earl V. Foster, graduate manager, to assist with ticket sales, program publishing and dozens of other management worries that will arise until 85,000 or so spectators are actually in their seats for the Cougar-Alabama clash. Howard Greer, publicity vender for the State college, has been in Pasadena for more than two weeks to see that the Southland's news columns carry a steady stream of information on the championship Cougar squad.

PIRATES AND TIGERS TO TANGLE ON ICE TONIGHT

Doc Claman's Shell Oil Tigers, early season pace-setters in the Southern California amateur hockey league, will have their lead threatened tonight by the Union Oil Pirates when they meet at the Winter Garden Ice Palace.

The Shell sextet has played the best hockey in the circuit during the early games, but Sunfreze, Union and Gilmore are all getting stronger as the season grows. It will be anybody's race for the rest of the program.

The Shell attack will be led by Buddy Horsfall and Lefty Comber, both well known to local fans. Smith, Wells, Macon and Gilchrist are capable team-mates for Doc Claman, who plays goal for his team besides being manager.

Al Claman will send his Pirates on the ice with Maryon, Gaudin, McLeod, Krant, Swindell, Irvin, Chappelle and Newell in the line-up.

The Los Angeles Millionaires will resume play in the California Hockey League Thursday night when Tom Carrigan pits his charges against the San Francisco Tigers at the local rink.

FAMOUS TENOR TO BE ON RADIO

John McCormack's Voice to Be Heard From London

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Monday radio is much like Monday's citizenry, crawling out of bed for the week's work—just a bit slowly, a bit sleepy and yet—KHJ at 1:20 this afternoon brings from far-away London the voice of that master tenor, John McCormack. He will be heard while singing at a dinner in Stationer's Hall, London, at which Cardinal Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster and premier Roman Catholic ecclesiastic in England, will preside. Only ten minutes in which this rare voice may be heard.

And then—KHJ at 8 tonight, draws an ambulance up to your dial and unloads a Blue Monday Jamboree dedicated to doctors and nurses. Old Doc Pill will carve victims up, bind 'em up with haywire and they'll all discuss and commit operations. Everything from castor oil to that appendicitis operation—a riot of scalpels, ether and monkey-business.

They tell us that—

KECA, at 6 p.m. Vincent Miraglia, nationally known harp virtuoso, will interpret "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms"—vocal trio.

KTM, at 8 p.m. Trek across the center of Australia by motor with Col. Bailey—a new series of adventure programs—a motor sundowning worth a dial.

KNX, at 8 p.m. "Les Miserables"—an ambitious attempt—radio playlet.

KHJ, at 8:45 a.m. Girls, Attention! "I want to talk to girls and share their confidence; let them write to me for advice"—a cultured "Advice to the Lovelorn and Otherwise"—and Velva writes for 100 newspapers already. She will be on every day except Sunday.

KNX, at 9 p.m. Calmon Luboviski in violin recital—enough said if you love violin music.

Poor Frank Watanabe, the funny little bust of yourself that you sent us slid off our what-have-you and your head busted right off. Please, Frank—if you see this—send another. Sank you.

KTM at 11 p.m. Is there anything more soothing than a pleasing song and organ recital just before 'lights out?' Here it is.

KFWB at 9 p.m. "The Gold Rush" of California's early days—a Negro sketch. Yassuh, gold.

KHJ at 7 p.m. Southern Methodist College songs—male quartet—a Columbia feature — Guy Lombardo's Royal Canadians—mystery contralto—Let's go collegiate.

KFI at 7:30 p.m. A quaint tale of old Fort Vancouver—playlet by the Empire Builders — 'gripping adventure romance' 'tis said.

KECA at 7 p.m. Even if it comes from station WHAM—over NBC—the magnificent concert march "Parade of the Sardar," by Ippolitow-Ivanow—Rochester Civic Orchestra—"Persian Dance," by Guiraud" and Langer's "Reverie." A piano classic, too.

KNX at 8:30 p.m. You'd be surprised the number of people who ask KNX if it's really from Constantinople and other places — an electrical travelogue transcription. Must sound real. And incidentally "Electrical transcription" is only a record with a college education.

KHJ at 7 p.m. A medley of George M. Cohan's songs — Mardi Gras—Columbia Girls Trio—Round Towners Quartet—"Just a Memory" and like that—

KECA at 6:30 p.m. Let's go way back in the '90's with an NBC from New York — Brigadiers Quartet—"Annie Rooney," "In the Gold Old Summertime — "The Sidewalks of New York— Kipling's "Danny Deever."

KHJ 11:30 a.m. American School of the Air—don't miss it. The story of the Constitution—

WOOD HERE EN ROUTE TO ARIZONA COLLEGE

Sidney Wood, flashy young Pasadena net star who created such a sensation in the east this season and who is expected to be ranked around No. 5 in the national listings for this year, was seen out at the Los Angeles Tennis Club yesterday. Wood stated that he quit the University of Oregon, where he has been attending during the first part of the current semester, and has decided to transfer to the University of Arizona. According to the 19-year-old net star, the Oregon weather is too cold, so he is going to go to Arizona to thaw out during the winter months. Wood hasn't played much since the Pacific Coast championships up north, but will soon start practice for another invasion of the East next season with hopes of making the Davis Cup squad.

Taking to the discovery, presently he saw just ahead wall. Beyond that, the weird architecture of pile whose outline suggested the buildings of another world, so unearthly were they.

Strange, too, were the odors wafted to his keen smell-sense. The odor of the Bolgani was mingled with the scent-spoor of Numa, the lion, and the heavily sweet scent of burning incense. From his high vantage point, closer, the ape-man could see over the top of the wall. Rich and barbaric with ornamentation rose the main structure, reached by a wide staircase and covered with age-old ivy. Built of polished granite, it was set with intricate designs of gold and diamonds.

As Tazan watched with interest, two Bolgani emerged from a huge portal. They wore head bands supporting white feathers. Standing before the entrance and cupping their hands before their mouths, they gave voice to a series of shrill cries that bore marked resemblance to trumpet calls. Immediately the blacks ceased work and hastened to the foot of the stairs that led down from the terrace to the garden. They ranged themselves on either side, forming a living aisle.

OIL and MINING

NEW DEEP TEST DUE AT VENICE

Union to Drill Project in Southwest Area

Company First of Majors to Launch Venture

Lubrite Oil's Well Nearest to Site Selected

With the knowledge that the shallow zone prospected so successfully above Fifty-second avenue in the Venice field, does not extend below Fifty-fourth avenue, the Union Oil Company is the first of the major group to start a deep test in the southwesterly portion of that district, expecting to find deeper production than that heretofore developed.

The most southerly producer in the townlot area at Venice is the Lubrite Oil Company's No. 1, completed near the corner of Fifty-fourth avenue and Speedway. It recorded an initial yield of 1200 barrels of oil a day and has increased to approximately 1400 barrels daily within the last twenty-four hours. It is producing from a depth of 5860 feet, being considerably higher on the structure than deep projects to the northerly portion of the field. No shallow-oil zone interesting enough to justify a production test was encountered in this project, which strengthens the belief that the zone does not exist below Fifty-fourth avenue.

Union intends to carry Townsite No. 3 on down for the deep test of its Townsite lease which adjoins its Del Rey lease where one shallow producer continues to flow and another will be drilled at once. Union's Townsite No. 3 yesterday was drilling below 5600 feet. Townsite No. 1 is tied up by a fishing job. Townsite No. 5 is drilling below 4370 feet. Townsite No. 4 swabbed in from a depth of 4500 feet for 780 barrels daily, cutting about 25 per cent.

OATMAN MINING ACTIVITY TOLD

OATMAN (Ariz.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Tom Reed's 1100-foot level crosscut on the Grey Eagle property now is out about 360 feet and is expected to reach soon the Aztec vein, on which will be drifting in both directions. The same vein is being worked on the 800-foot level and is declared a potential ore producer of large value.

Tom Reed is shipping something better than $40,000 to the mint from each ten-day clean-up of the mill. A hoist has been transferred to the Stoney shaft, on Reed ground, by Siders & Wimberly, who have leased that section. Underground they are driving toward a known ore body said to be fourteen feet in width and to have run about $28 in gold, when stopped on an upper level. The new workings are 300 feet in depth.

The Continental Drilling Company has started diamond drilling from the north 500-foot level drift of Big Jim. The same organization recently completed a successful drilling campaign on the famous old Vulture property, near Wickenburg.

The Glenidick Mines Corporation is reported preparing for active work on its property, the Roadside group, near Union Pass. Statement is made that the main vein is from fifty to ninety-six feet in width, widening down to the 300-foot level, and that a cross sample gives a gold average of $6. Headquarters for the corporation are in Los Angeles, from which city recent visitors were President Glenville A. Collins and Field Engineer Homer A. Derrer. The latter remained to superintend unwatering of the shaft. The company is said to have surrendered its options on the Silver Bell and Martinez mines in Pinal county, due to the low prices of the products, lead, silver and copper.

NOTED OLD MINE IN NEW CONTROL

The Herman Gold Mines, situated in Dark Canyon, middle fork of American River, thirty-six miles northeast of Auburn, has been taken over by Sanford Sobey and associates of Hollywood, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

A syndicate of capitalists and mining men has just completed inspection of the property. It was originally placered in the 80's and then extensively operated as a quartz mine from the early 90's up to 1916, when war conditions and litigation closed the mine and thirty-stamp 150-ton mill.

The Herman embraces 1400 acres of patented land, lying four miles southeast of Westville, in the Forest Hill Divide district, famed for its great drift mines.

The land is heavily timbered with sugar pine, white pine, fir and cedar, the stumpage being estimated at 30,000,000 board feet. Elevation is about 5000 feet and juts into Tahoe National Forest. Four major, free milling, ribbon quartz veins cut the property, which is two miles in length. The quartz ledges outcrop for several thousand feet.

The Herman vein is the only one as yet developed. Approximately $1,000,000 has heretofore been expended in driving several thousand feet of workings down to the 2400-foot level, and in construction of roads, buildings, thirty-stamp mill and equipment.

The Herman is reported twenty-one feet wide at the 1200-foot level and running about $12 in free gold. The ore averages about $7. Mining and milling costs approximately $3 and show net of about $4 per ton, the company says.

About 20,000 tons are reported as blocked out. Estimates place the "backs" at 1,000,000 tons, or nearly a twenty-year run for the present mill.

NEW GOLD STRIKE IN ARIZONA

Find in Covered Wells Section Reported as of Unusual Importance

TUCSON (Ariz.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Another remarkable gold strike has been made near Covered Wells, ninety miles west of Tucson, in Quijotoa district. The finder was Richard Ballas, on the Red Rock group, recently optioned from Newt Meadows and associates.

Last February Meadows found ore of similar high grade in a cross-fracture on the ledge. The latest strike is in the vein and is said to be continuous thus far. It is in white quartz fairly streaked with gold, with assays up to $50,000 to the ton, and is within the Silver Screen claim.

The district is one in which much excitement was created in the early eighties by discovery of free gold, bringing a number of wealthy San Franciscans to the spot. But the boom was short-lived, though enough to cause establishment of a newspaper, edited by Harry Brook, for years with The Times in Los Angeles. Many near-by gulches pan well in gold whenever water is available. A number of Southern Californians are interested in mines near the new find.

REPORT OF RICH GOLD FIND STIRS

TONOPAH (Nev.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Prospectors are flocking to the Grapevine range, some twenty miles south of Bonnie Clare, following reports of a rich gold strike. Ore running high in the precious metal is said to have been found recently by an Indian prospector and the discovery claims are said to have been purchased for West Virginia capitalists by George Barrs, Tonopah mining man. Many claims have been located and some promising surface finds outside the discovery claim have been made, according to reports.

The Gold Metals Company reports that the rich ore on the 120-foot level of its Sullivan mine at Manhattan has been developed for more than 100 feet, with face of the drift in splendid values. The high-grade occurs largely in talc and the deposit is claimed to be showing improving values as drifting advances northerly. Manager A. Homer Black states that no more ore will be sent to smelters, because of high transportation charges, but that arrangements are proceeding for treatment of the product at a local mill.

The Gold Hill Development Company, operating north of Round Mountain, is milling 100 tons of ore daily, with the material averaging around $10 per ton. Recovery is said to average 95 per cent. The company has adopted the shrinkage system of mining and has reduced its mine crew from sixty-five to forty men. The management states that the new system will keep 10,000 to 15,000 tons of ore in reserve, pending development of new ground.

Mining of excellent ore in old sections of the Mizpah, Belmont and Valley View mines by leasers continues. Approximately 1200 tons were produced by the leases in November and the December output is expected to approach 1400 tons. Most of this product is coming from areas long believed to have been worked out. Rich silver-gold ore is also being drawn from surface workings.

Huge Reduction Plant Projected

MORENCI (Ariz.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—If present plans materialize, there is to be erection here of the biggest copper concentration plant in the Southwest, with capacity for 25,000 tons of ore a day. Whether it will be of leaching or milling type, or a combination, will be determined by experiments now being made here of both processes, the tests expected to continue for a year to come.

There is declaration that the Clay ore body alone contains about 245,000,000 tons of copper ore, averaging about 1 per cent. There has been consolidation of most of the Morenci mining area in the ownership of the Phelps Dodge Corporation, which has concentrating works in Morenci and a modern smelter below Clifton.

What Carbon Black Did for Tires

Carbon black, which is the soot of natural gas, is largely responsible for the increased life of pneumatic tires. It was first introduced into the rubber composition for the purpose of imparting the black color but it was soon discovered that far more important was the toughening of the rubber to the extent that a 30,000 mileage was made possible. Seventy per cent of the carbon black product of this country goes into tires, 20 per cent goes into printer's ink and the remainder into such things as shoe-polish and phonograph records.

Soothing Effect of a Fish Bowl

A real practical use has been found for the aquarium. Psychiatrists say that a bowl of tropical or other fish on the window sill will soothe the spirits of their patients during convalescence. A bowl full of sea plants and rough stones with butterfly fanning their way in and out of miniature caverns is guaranteed by those who sell it to take their minds off the stock market.

A Divorce Comparison

Divorces in England and Wales work out roughly at one in every 100 marriages. In the United States one marriage in every ten ends in the divorce court.

MUCH INTEREST IN COAST TEST

Prairie Oil to Drill Hole on El Capitan Ranch

Link Sought Between Other Producing Fields

Steel Derrick Rising; Work to Start Shortly

Drilling operations are expected to be under way within thirty days in the Prairie Oil and Gas Company's El Capitan No. 1 deep test located on a portion of the El Capitan ranch, that extends to the southerly boundary of the General Petroleum Corporation's Erburu lease, nine miles east of the Elwood field.

A modern steel derrick is going up for Prairie Oil's project. It is one mile east of General's Erburu No. 8, a deep test in the same vicinity, where seven shallow zone wells were brought in earlier this year, all of which at present are shut in to aid the State-wide oil curtailment program.

The fact that Prairie Oil has started operations is of particular interest because it is another attempt to develop commercial production along the Santa Barbara coast line and link up various districts that have been prospected by Standard, Richfield and several other operators during the past two years. At Point Conception, where Standard and Richfield were active during the past year, nothing of importance has been found to justify further activity, although a few stringers of oil sand were penetrated in Gerber No. 1, which continues to drill ahead. Richfield abandoned its test two months ago on what is thought to be the south dome of the Point Conception structure.

Since major companies took up the search for oil along the Santa Barbara county coast, the General Petroleum Corporation has been the most successful in wildcat territory. Its success has been scored on the Erburu lease west of the Elwood field. This has been confined to a shallow zone, but just now General is drilling Erburu No. 8 in the hope of uncovering deeper production. Prairie Oil's El Capitan No. 1 is to be equipped to go at least 4800 feet in the belief that top of the Vaqueros will be encountered at about 3200 feet.

ACTIVITY IN KERN FIELD EASING OFF

Only One New Project Started During Week in Entire District

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—The California Star Oil Company spudded in the only new oil well started in Kern county during the past week. The well is the company's No. 4-40 on Sec. 22, 28-27, in the Kern River field.

Three tests for water shut-off were reported, two at Belridge and one at Fruitvale. The Belridge wells are Reward Oil Company's No. 4, on Sec. 34, 27-20, and Standard Oil Company's No. 1 on Sec. 36, 27-20. The Fruitvale well is L. C. Osborn's No. 1 on Sec. 21, 29-27.

Three redrilling jobs were reported in the Sunset field, Signal Oil and Gas Company's Sheehan No. 1 and No. 4, on Sec. 8, 11-23, and Crescent Petroleum Company's No. 5 on Sec. 1, 11-24.

Abandonments for the week were: St. Lawrence Oil Company No. 1, and Union Oil Company McLeod No. 11, the former being on Sec. 5, 32-23, and the latter on Sec. 34, 31-23 in the Midway field; Belridge Oil Company No. 3 on Sec. 35, 27-20, Belridge and George F. Getty, Inc., Beaizley No. 1 on Sec. 22, 29-29, north of Edison.

Oil Situation Reported for Taft District

TAFT, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Brown shale formation from the grass roots to about 1000 feet so far has been encountered in the drilling of Orloff No. 1, by the General Petroleum Corporation on Sec. 26, 11-24, at Midway.

On Sec. 35, 12-24, General's Moco No. 218 is drilling through hard sand formation at about 4000 feet.

The Standard Oil Company is cleaning out No. 112 on its 33G lease, following the drilling out of cement where the nine-inch casing was set at 4601 feet.

A total of 4750 feet of hole has been made on Sec. 20, 31-24 in the Buena Vista Hills district by the Federal Drilling Company, which is drilling a wildcat.

NOTED OLD MINE AGAIN OPERATING

United Verde Extension to Work Vulture Under Option to Purchase

PHOENIX, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—The United Verde Extension Mining Company has started operations at the old Vulture mine, northwest of Phoenix, under the terms of an option recently secured on the property. The camp is being rehabilitated and rebuilt, with quarters for a force that already numbers thirty men.

The new shaft will be of three compartments, to be sunk to 500 feet depth at a point near where diamond drilling discovered continuance of the slanting Vulture ore body, long lost through faulting on the north line of the old workings. It is stated that the contract calls for expenditure of $600,000 in development work within a limited time.

About $125,000 already had been spent by the owner corporation, the Vulture Mining Company, represented by its president and manager, D. R. Finlayson, mining engineer. On the ground is a ten-stamp mill, which is to be reconditioned and there is to be an addition of a Diesel power plant and of adequate compressor equipment. In the event the ores are sulphide, as expected, there may be need for a more modern flotation mill, with ball crushing.

CINNABAR PLANT IN COMMISSION

LOVELOCK (Nev.) Dec. 7.—The new twenty-ton rotary furnace of the Antelope Springs Mercury Company of Los Angeles has been placed in operation on the cinnabar properties near Lovelock. Tests indicate the plant will make a high metal recovery. The company has been engaged in developing its holdings in the Antelope Springs field for about two years and is credited with placing a large tonnage of commercial cinnabar in sight. The claims are located near the producing mines of the Nevada Quicksilver and other noted companies.

The Cole-Gordon interests of Los Angeles have completed plans for resumption of aggressive work on the Lincoln Hill gold properties, near the old camp of Rochester, according to a report reaching Lovelock. The syndicate is said to have acquired control of the entire hill by purchase of the Abe Lincoln group. Many other claims were acquired about two years ago. The properties have produced much rich gold ore and are said to contain numerous ledges and ore-shoots.

Despite the depressed tungsten market, the Nevada Massachusetts Company continues to ship a carload of tungstic concentrates each month to Niagara Falls, N. Y. The product comes from the company's Stank mine near Mill City and is concentrated before being shipped. The management reports that developments are being pushed steadily, with large bodies of excellent ore exposed in the Humboldt and Stank properties.

President W. S. Thompson of the Nevada Pure Salt Company states construction of the new refining plant at Saltur, twenty-five miles southeast of Fallon, should be completed in thirty days. The company plans to produce 300 tons of salt daily. The deposits are said to be among the largest known in the West, and a good market is declared to be assured.

Wilkins Coal to Open Up Deposit

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—A group of Douglas residents hold a controlling interest in the Wilkins Coal Company, which has large coal deposits at La Ventura, N. M. Production is to be started soon on completion of a railroad spur to the property.

On the ground now are Frank Armstrong and Tom Glenn, respectively president and secretary of the company, active in pushing the spur to completion and in development of the coal measures for heavy production.

Nordon Project Gets by Trouble

BUTTONWILLOW, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—The Nordon Oil Corporation has succeeded in passing the caving formations that have spelled ruin to several Buttonwillow projects, and today is drilling ahead beyond the 6100-foot level in its Salisbury No. 1A on Sec. 7, 29-24.

Heavy gas showings are now encountered consistently in drilling. The sticky shale formation is at bottom.

DOUGLAS GIVES COPPER VIEWS

Former Phelps-Dodge Chief Discusses Situation

Expects Improvement When Business Picks Up

Price Gain Held to Hinge on Stock Reduction

PHOENIX, Dec. 7. (AP) — Walter Douglas, former president of Phelps-Dodge Corporation, said last night he believes conditions in the mining industry will improve when the country shows a trend toward prosperity, but the price of copper will not advance greatly until "the present supply of mined copper is reduced materially, probably 50 per cent." He anticipated no decline.

Mr. Douglas, who is visiting here at the home of his nephew, Congressman Lewis W. Douglas, made his statement after an inspection of the Globe-Miami district property of the Old Dominion company, of which he is president.

The former Phelps-Dodge executive said a merger proposal of Phelps-Dodge and Calumet & Arizona has progressed to the point "that exhaustive engineering reports made by the staffs"—of the two companies are expected to be received within sixty days. A merger involving Phelps-Dodge, Calumet & Arizona, Old Dominion and United Verde, first reported several months ago, never seriously was considered, he said.

Mr. Douglas blamed "the tariff wall built around the nation" for the "present financial depression."

Specifically in regard to copper, he said the difficulty applied particularly in regard to this year, he being, normally, in agreement with many copper authorities who advocate a United States tariff on the red metal.

"In any but abnormal years such as 1930 has been," he said, "the domestic copper demand exceeds and will exceed the production. In 1929 the all-time record production of copper was registered, and yet the copper needs of the country exceeded the available supply. Had we had a copper tariff in 1929, so the demand could not have been supplied, we would not now have the nearly 600,000 tons of copper in stock. Much of it would have gone to supply the unfilled demand from 1929."

Noted Old Mine Group of Claims to Open Up Soon

PHOENIX, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—New operation of the famous old Gowan mine on East Verde River, west of Payson, is to be started soon by the Verde Falls Gold Mining Company, of which control is in the hands of Tom Smith and W. B. Twitchell of this city.

The group is of ten patented claims, with equipment of a ten-stamp mill. There is a strong ledge averaging seven feet in width and running around $15 gold. Development has gone below water level and the ore now is in the form of iron pyrites.

The mine was located nearly fifty years ago by Dave Gowan, discoverer of the near-by Natural Bridge, who built a great water wheel operated by a flow from the river for operation of a power arastra. Surface ores were very rich and were free milling.

Outlet for New Gas Well Sought

SANDIA (Tex.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—J. E. Walsh and associates who brought in a discovery gas well near Sandia with a daily flow of approximately 75,000,000 cubic feet, are negotiating for the construction of an independent pipe line to the new field and for the drilling of a number of more wells. The gas will probably be delivered to the mains of the United Gas Company.

The new well is located on a block of 7000 acres which is under lease to Mr. Walsh and associates. The well is 2917 feet deep and is located in the northwestern part of Jim Wells county.

New Test Pends at Kern Project

MARICOPA, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Plans for another production test are being completed by H. A. Bardeen for his Ramsey No. 1 well on Sec. 10, 10-23, in the Paltiway district of Kern county.

Total depth of the project is 4354 feet, with gray sand at bottom. The well has been plugged to 3527 feet. At that point casing was cemented some time ago.

LEA PRORATION PROBLEM PENDS

Change in Present Rate for Hobbs Pool Stirs

Opposition to Extending Life of Pact Reported

Majority Held Favorable to Continuing Rate

ARTESIA (N. M.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Whether the present pipe-line outlook of the Hobbs pool in Lea county will be changed at the end of the first six months proration period is a mooted question in the minds of many local oil operators. Two companies, it is reported, have declined to accept the present proration agreement to be continued for another six months, when the present agreement expires January 10, 1931.

One company will stand for a daily outlet of 50,000 barrels, while another company would reduce its daily pipe line runs below 5000 barrels, it is said. The majority of operators believe that the proration agreement now effective will be continued and that the only way for an individual operating company to increase its daily outlet is to construct its own pipe line, which is regarded as improbable.

According to field information, the carrier of the Texas Company is running approximately 10,000 barrels daily and is storing about 7500 barrels. Such methods, combined with the present prices of Hobbs crude have served to discourage even the outlet agreed upon.

Potential production of the Hobbs pool was boosted 36,868 barrels in the proration period ending November 30, last with the addition of eight wells and seven units. During that period the potential passed the 1,000,000-barrel mark, being given as 1,010,056 barrels against 973,188 for November 15, last.

The Tidal Oil Company completed the biggest producer of the period, with its Grimes No. 4, on Sec. 29, 18-38, for a potential rating of 21,269 barrels. Seven other completions ranged from 2765 barrels to 8683 barrels each.

Several wildcat wells are scheduled to start in Eddy county during the late fall and winter months, but development in many instances is contingent on whether or not the operators are able to secure permission from the Federal government to drill. Locations have been staked for two or three tests, awaiting the decision of the government. Just now a wildcat well in Lea county north of the county seat of Lovington is attracting much attention. This well, known as State No. 1, of the Galt-Brown Company, on Sec. 9 15-35, has reached a depth of 3850 feet and is thought to be running high. The Western Texas State No. 1, on Sec. 17, 17-34, is another interesting test in Western Lea county, having reached a depth of 3250 feet.

MINES MANAGER TO BE HONORED

MIAMI (Ariz.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive) F. W. Maclennan, general manager of the Miami Copper Company, is to be signally honored at the annual banquet of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, to be held in New York in February. Announcement has been made that to him at that time will be presented the William Laurence Saunders gold medal, this for outstanding achievements in the mining field.

Specifically, Mr. Maclennan is credited with having made possible the profitable extraction of ore from the Miami property, after there almost had been decision to abandon it, because of relatively high cost of mining. His change in mining methods is declared to have inaugurated a new era in the working of low-grade copper lenses.

The award was made unanimously by an institute committee of fifteen members. Mr. Maclennan is a Canadian by birth, a graduate of McGill University, with experience in British Columbia, Oregon, Utah, Nevada and South America before coming to Miami in 1913. Here he has filled the positions of mine superintendent, assistant manager and general manager.

Laid-off employees of the Miami Copper Company are to be tided over by a rebate of 15 per cent on purchases made at the company's store here.

Two billion pounds of copper bullion have been produced by the furnaces of the Miami branch of the International Smelting Company since establishment of the local plant in 1915. Most of the material treated has been in the form of concentrates, running from 25 to 40 per cent copper, with addition of raw ores sampling from 2 to 10 per cent. The plant has four 120-foot furnaces, each rated at about 500 tons a day, their product cleared of iron and sulphur in converters. Marketing is in the form of 300-pound pigs, sampling about 99.4 pure, shipped to eastern electrolytic refineries.

Range Oil Test Drills Ahead at Round Mountain

ROUND MOUNTAIN, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—The Range Oil Company's No. 1 well on Sec. 36, 28-28, in this field is drilling ahead through brown sandy shale formation at a depth of more than 2700 feet.

Coring has been done from 1500 feet to bottom. Should Range find production, it will open up a new area, inasmuch as the well is located more than a mile north of the present credited production area.

On Sec. 17, 28-29, at Round Mountain, the Chanslor-Canfield-Midway Oil Company's Olcese No. 1 stands plugged at 1880 feet with a total depth of 2178 feet.

Grading is under way for Jewett No. 15, Shell's only active location in the field.

IMPORTANT TEXAS OIL SUIT FILED

Ownership of Products Under Rail Right of Way Involved in Action

AUSTIN (Tex.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Suit to determine who are the rightful owners of the oil and gas that may underlie a strip of right of way 10 miles long and 200 feet wide of the Texas and Pacific Railroad through the oil field of Ward county has been filed in the District Court here by Atty.-Gen. R. L. Bobbitt.

The petition of Mr. Bobbitt sets up the claim that the oil and gas on the right of way belong to the State, and that the railroad does not own and has not the right to take subsurface products. The railroad, on the other hand, contends that under the statute which grants to railroads rights of way such railroads are given the right "to use any earth, timber, stone or other material on any such land necessary to the construction and operation of its road through or over the land." Under this law the railroad claims the right to take and use the oil on its right of way in the operation of its trains.

The suit of Atty.-Gen. Bobbitt is against the Texas and Pacific and twenty-one other defendants, the latter being owners of oil and gas leases situated adjacent to the right of way. These defendants over that their lease titles extend to the middle of the right of way.

SHATTUCK-DENN REVEALS PLANS

BISBEE (Ariz.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Though production has been suspended on the Shattuck-Denn properties, due to market conditions, President L. G. Shattuck is quoted as stating that development work will be continued actively. This will be largely in the way of diamond drilling for which a program has been prepared.

Much of the work is to be done in the Ophir claim section, where good commercial ore has been found, east and south of the shaft. During the first half of 1929 about 3,500,000 pounds of copper came from the Denn shaft at a cost of 12½ cents a pound. During the second half of that year production had been increased to 7,167,000 pounds, with cost reduced to 8.9 cents a pound.

No reason is seen for depletion of the ore reserves with so slight a margin of profit. Much ore of good grade has been opened on the 2100 and 2200-foot levels. Mr. Shattuck states that the company's investment in the Seventy-nine Lead-Copper Company has given gratifying results, and that the mine has been demonstrated one of the best lead producers of the Southwest.

Rumor Current Old Dominion in Expansion Deal

GLOBE (Ariz.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive) There is report that Old Dominion is to take over the property and equipment of the Arizona Commercial Mining Company. This was considered at a recent meeting, in Portland, Me., of stockholders of the latter. Local officials of both decline to discuss the matter.

Statement has been made by H. C. Plummer, superintendent for the Commercial, that operations of the company's Copper Hill mine will be suspended soon, with about sixty workmen released about the 15th inst.

Commercial has been furnishing concentrates to the Miami smelter, the ore coming from deep operations on two veins that have carried rather high-grade stuff. The property lies next to Old Dominion and probably could be prospected or worked readily from the deep levels of that mine.

A.: Quite a number of rare earth minerals are synthetically obtained and such minerals as dumortierite, when pure, are changed to sillimanite by firing the dumortierite. Flotation is the method for sulphide ore as is the sample submitted, but the ore is simply slate containing microscopic pyrite in too low percentage to pay profits on a commercial scale.

SHIPPING NEWS

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

CITRUS EXPORT OUTLOOK GOOD

Indications at Harbor Point to Heavy Movement

Figures of Record Season May be Exceeded

Roosevelt Line to Take Over I.M.M. Piers in East

BY WALDO DRAKE

Southland citrus exports via Los Angeles Harbor for the season just getting under way promise to at least equal the record-breaking 1928-29 season, when 1,000,000 boxes of oranges were sent to the United Kingdom-North Europe markets alone. Executives of citrus growers' and shippers' associations announced yesterday that orange exports this season will amount to at least 750,000 boxes and that they may exceed the 1,000,000 mark.

Foreign markets are said to be the most promising since Southland citrus products began moving to Europe ten years ago while new fields in the Orient and the Antipodes are expected to develop strongly this season. Citrus leaders voice thorough optimism as to recovery of last season's United Kingdom-Europe markets, which absorbed only 400,000 boxes despite exceptionally high production here.

Distribution of citrus exports is indicated in the Harbor Department's report for the fiscal year ending June 30, last, which shows a total of 1,111,032 boxes of oranges, grapefruit and lemons shipped from this port to foreign markets. Among twenty countries, England ranks first, with 863,994 boxes; followed by Germany, 55,301 boxes; Canada, 39,880; Philippines, 32,591; China, 25,798; Netherlands, 21,349; Japan, 24,261.

All of the United Kingdom-North Europe citrus exports again will be carried from Los Angeles Harbor this season by ten foreign ship lines, despite three years of agitation by the United States Shipping Board for establishment of an American-flag line in the European-Pacific refrigerated cargo trade.

READY FOR FURTHER STEP IN SHIPPING MERGER

Advices from New York yesterday said the Roosevelt Line this morning will take over the terminals of the International Mercantile Marine Company, at Pier 58, North River, following consummation of the merger of the ship lines and financial interests of the two concerns. On January 1, next, the dispatch said, executives of the Roosevelt interests will move their headquarters to the I. M. M. Building at No. 1 Broadway.

Local officials of the International Mercantile Marine Company, which operates three 33,000-ton turbo-electric liners out of this port to New York as the Panama-Pacific Line, said they have not been advised of consummation of the merger. They expressed the opinion, however, that assumption of control by the Roosevelt interests will have no effect on previously announced plans of I.M.M. to build three more $7,000,000 electric liners for intercoastal express service.

The Pacific Coast gains indirect passenger and express and refrigerated cargo service to North Europe through the Roosevelt deal, since that company now is completing conversion of five large freighters, purchased from the Shipping Board, to combination passenger vessels for service out of Baltimore and Hampton Roads to Bremen and Hamburg. The line, to be known as the Baltimore Mail Steamship Company, will operate under a mail contract awarded to the Roosevelt Steamship Company. A plan is under way for trans-shipment of California fruits, taken from this port to the East Coast by the Panama-Pacific Line, to Baltimore Mail liners and thence to Germany.

The steamer President Harrison, pathfinder of Dollar Line's around-the-world fleet, was brought in yesterday morning from New York by Capt. J. H. Benson in completion of her twenty-second successive circumnavigation of the globe. She discharged 1800 tons of freight and will sail for the Orient at noon today after embarking twenty passengers and loading 2200 tons of cargo for twenty-two world ports.

The new Japanese motorship Hokuroku Maru, fifth of the six eighteen-knot express freighters being built by Osaka Shosen Kaisha for Japan-Los Angeles-New York service, has just been commissioned and placed on the berth at Hongkong. Due here in early January with a $2,000,000 silk cargo, she has been preceded in service by her sister-ships, the Kinai Maru, Tokai Maru, Kwanto Maru and Sanyo Maru.

Further improvement in the east coast and offshore petroleum markets is indicated by the fact that yesterday there were twenty-seven tankers either en route or on berth for Los Angeles Harbor loading from North Atlantic ports and fourteen from foreign ports, including Balboa, Rotterdam, Chile, Japan, Hamburg and Avonmouth. In intercoastal service, sixteen were en route from New York or on berth for this port, three from Philadelphia, four from Boston and two each from Manila and Baltimore.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7. (AP)—R. Stanley Dollar, vice-president of the Dollar Steamship Company, announced today that nineteen vessels of the line, scattered over the world, will celebrate the launching Tuesday of the new $8,000,000 liner President Hoover.

The President Hoover, said to be the largest domestically built vessel in the American merchant marine, will be christened by Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

Dollar said each vessel will blow its whistle for five minutes at a time comparing to 8:00 a.m. (P.S.T.) which is the time the ship is to be launched at Newport News. Boats in the harbors at New York and San Francisco also will blow their whistles.

At the time of the launching Dollar ships will be at the following places: New York, San Francisco, Seattle, Kobe, Japan, Hongkong, Shanghai, Manila, Genoa, Italy, in the Red Sea and at the Canal Zone, while others will be between Honolulu and Kobe, Los Angeles and San Francisco, Honolulu and San Francisco and Yokohama and Seattle.

SEATTLE, Dec. 7.—Four refrigerator ships, the Nagara and Narenta of the Royal Mail Line, the Tudor Star of the Blue Star Line and the Cortona of the Donaldson Line, are booked to arrive on Puget Sound late this month. They will load cargo for the United Kingdom and the continent.

Two ships are now en route here on their maiden voyages, the California of the Italian Line, and the motorship Indian of the East Asiatic Company. They also will lift cargoes for European delivery.

PORTLAND, Dec. 7.—The Italian steamship California, to call here next month in the Pacific Coast-Mediterranean service of the Libera Line, will provide more luxurious accommodations for passengers than any previously seen here, the descriptions issued by its owners state.

Nearly all first-class cabins will have private bathrooms and many cabins on the lower deck are to be similarly equipped. The ship will accommodate 150 passengers. A large swimming pool with the water at the level of the boat deck, and ventilation accomplished by forced circulation of either chilled or warmed air, are a few of the features.

Bill Eliminates Ratification of Charter Change

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7. (AP)—When cities adopt their charters or amendments to the charters they should not be obliged to refer the actions to the State Legislature for ratification, said Assemblyman William E. Harper of San Diego in declaring today he would introduce a bill during the coming legislative session relative to the matter.

"When a city votes a charter that should be sufficient," the Assemblyman said. "Why refer it to the Legislature? Sometimes the cities have to wait for a year or nearly two before the Legislature convenes—and whoever heard of a Legislature refusing to approve a charter the people have voted for?"

NO COMMENTS ASKED

VANCOUVER, Dec. 7. (AP)—A by-law providing for street improvement in Burnaby, B. C., received the necessary number of votes at election but was defeated because an elector had written favorable comment on a ballot.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROFESOR [illegible]. GUERRERO

Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

Se les atribuye la facultad (a los duendes), nos sigue diciendo la Enciclopedia de Espasa, de dar ilusorias apariencias de un gran valor a objetos de materias despreciables, y de aquí el misterioso oro de los duendes, y asimismo se les achaca un prodigioso conocimiento de los poderes de la naturaleza, que les permite adivinar dónde se encuentran las cosas desaparecidas y descubrir las invisibles. En los países celto-teutónicos se les atribuyen ciertas torres misteriosas iluminadas de noche, y se cree que son obra suya los túmulos y demás monumentos funerarios más o menos toscos . . .

Su existencia es, según las leyendas, más dilatada que la de los humanos, y procuran reproducir su raza, ya robando niñas, ya muchachas jóvenes, para unirse con ellas, o bien haciendo que las mujeres que crían amamanten a sus hijos, suplantando en tal caso al niño con un duendecillo.

No siempre los duendes se entretienen en jugar malas pasadas y causar daños graves a las gentes; hay otros cuyas jugarretas no tienen graves consecuencias, pues se limitan a dar formas visibles o ridículas, pero transitorias, a aquel que los trató mal; a cambiar de sitio los muebles o a echarlos fuera de casa, como hace el "polter geist" alemán, que además enciende el fuego, echa llamas por el aire, o toca en la cara del burlado con su mano fría como el hielo. Leyendas semejantes se encuentran en el mediodía de Francia y en Cataluña, atribuídas a los "folleis". Para preservarse de los duendes maléficos o burlones se recomiendan varios artificios en los que figuran, entre otras cosas, el hierro, la escoba y el agua corriente.

Los duendes, en cambio, asisten en ocasiones a los mortales en sus quehaceres o apuros, y son muy generosos, ya que se contentan con poco, como el duende doméstico, que se satisface con una escudilla de leche. Este duende, mencionado ya en el siglo XIII por Gervasio de Tilbury, habita en la casa o el establo y es enemigo de la pereza, pues trabaja a favor del amo de la casa que habita sin recibir más recompensa que una cama o un sombrero nuevo, a lo sumo, al cabo del año. Goya, interpretando las creencias populares, dice de estos duendes al comentar un aguafuerte de sus "Caprichos": "Los duendecitos son la gente más hacendosa y servicial que puede hallarse; como la criada los tenga contentos, espuman la olla, cuecen las verdura, friegan, barren y acallan al niño." . . .

Este mito se supone relacionado con los enterramientos domésticos, tal como los practicaban los primitivos pueblos micénicos y semitas, además de los indios. El duende doméstico toma, en ciertas leyendas, la forma de un animalito; la de una serpiente, por ejemplo ("genius loci" de los romanos). Los "chuds" del norte tienen también espíritus domésticos, y lo propio ocurre con los lituanios, que los llaman "kaukas", y los suecos, que les dicen "tomse" o "nissart". Por esto quizá la superstición de los duendes tiene íntimas analogías con el culto de los muertos, las leyendas de las hadas y las brujas, y la meteorología mitológica.

La creencia en tales seres parece ser principalmente céltica y teutónica; pero existe igualmente en pueblos eslavos y latinos y en los países más remotos. La pequeña estatura que en general se les atribuye se relaciona con su semejanza con las almas de los muertos, representadas en la antigua cerámica griega como diminutos hombrecillos, lo mismo que en los bajos relieves egipcios y en el "Mahabharata" de la India . . .

Por su estatura y atribuciones se ha supuesto si serían los duendes formas de degeneración de antiguas divinidades, como los "dasine sidne" irlandeses y los "gliscas" de la Galia celta, puesto que los romanos también tuvieron sus "minuti dei". Otros autores opinan que los duendes representaban una raza pequeña y desposeída por conquistadores de mayor estatura, y así se ha supuesto que los "feinn" de Irlanda, transformados en duendes por la fantasía popular, no eran más que los aborígenes fineses despojados de sus tierras por los celtas . . .

Por último, no han faltado explicaciones puramente médicas de algunos fenómenos atribuídos a los duendes, y así, las correrías nocturnas en compañía de tales seres se ha supuesto que eran ataques epilépticos, del mismo modo que se han relacionado las apariciones de duendes con violentos ataques de jaqueca y con alucinaciones hipnóticas, hipnagógicas y alcohólicas.

EIGHTH ORATOR EVENT PLANNED

Constitutional Contest Increases Scope

Nations and Universities Join Institution

System of Judging Will be Revised

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—General plans for the Eighth National and the Sixth International Oratorical Contests which are announced today by Randolph Leigh, director-general, establish the 1931 high-school forensic competition, as the biggest, broadest and most thoroughly organized since the movement in the interest of good government was founded.

The Eighth National Contest in the United States has, to date, seventy-eight individual sponsors which include, besides the most prominent and influential newspapers, several universities, education groups and law bodies. This represents a gain of twenty sponsors.

Through the international phase of the contest the oratorical competition has spread its field of active participation into twenty-four nations, a gain of five.

PRAISED BY HOOVER

The National and International Oratorical Contests face the 1931 season securely established as an institution which has received the public commendation of every President of the United States since the contest was founded. President Hoover was the most recent Chief Executive to place his approval upon the movement.

"These speeches," Mr. Hoover asserted in his address at the international contest finals in October in reference to the contestants' orations, "have proved a great inspiration, not only to the millions of high-school students but to millions of our fellow-citizens. They have advanced the knowledge and understanding of government, of history and of social and political questions."

Continuing the President declared that the International Contest "bears still another high implication, that is the building of mutual understanding of these questions between the youth of our different nations."

JUDGING CHANGED

With the exception of the judging system the national finals phase of the contest will remain the same. In that meet, the champions of the seven contest regions of the United States will compete. In determining the victor the board of judges this year will not consult under any circumstances. The low-point total system of balloting will be used with the added requirement of a majority of first-place ratings. If under this dual system a tie results or if no contestant receives first-place rating from a majority of the judges, the judges will write new ballots on the first three speakers as determined by the low-point total system.

The entrants in the national finals are to be chosen in regional finals. Besides Washington, the regional contest centers are Los Angeles, Kansas City, Chicago, Birmingham, New York City and Springfield, Mass. Those meetings will be held and their respective winners chosen by May 15.

The national finals of the 1931 contest will be held May 22 while the International Contest is to be staged here next October 24.

PUBLISHERS' COMMITTEE

The United States contest is under the jurisdiction of a publishers' committee, which includes some of the outstanding journalists of the country. Included on the committee are Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press; Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times; Harry Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times; Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News; George B. Longan, publisher of the Kansas City Star, and Clark Howell, publisher of the Atlanta Constitution.

The nations of the world in which the contest is being conducted this season with the same intensity which is marking its administration here follow: England, France, Ireland, Germany, Mexico, Canada, Holland, Cuba, Belgium, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Austria, Poland, Switzerland, Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Paraguay, Uruguay, Bolivia and the United States.

Chinese Queue Line for Run on American Bank

Reports were that more than $3,000,000 Mexican (about $1,200,000) has been paid out by the bank since a run started yesterday.

A rumor that the bank's home office had closed is being circulated, causing increased uneasiness among Chinese depositors of the institution. The rumor is believed the work of exchange speculators seeking to profit by the run.

The bank indicates its willingness to pay all depositors.

Speeder Loses Right to Drive

WOODLAND, Dec. 7. (AP)—Recently Robert Bell, high-school football star, lost his automobile operator's license when he pleaded guilty to speeding.

A few days later he appeared on the streets driving a cart drawn by a donkey. On the back of the cart was a sign reading:

"Try your luck at speeding. I did—and how!"

INTEREST CUT ON DEBT BOND

Government Certificates to Total $400,000,000

Rate Will be Lowest Since During World War

Treasury Takes Advantage of Ease in Market

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Certificates of indebtedness totaling $400,000,000 will be issued by the government at the lowest interest rates since the World War, and perhaps in the history of the nation, to provide for December financing.

Preparing to meet government obligations falling due the 15th inst., the Treasury announced the offerings of two series of certificates, one bearing 1 3-4 per cent interest and the other 1 7-8 per cent. The first will be for six months and will total about $150,000,000, while the latter will be for a year and amount to $250,000,000.

RATES DROPPED

In taking advantage of the ease in the money markets in its own borrowing, the government dropped its rates 5-8 and ½ of 1 per cent below the last issue of certificates. That issue last September carried a rate of 2 3-8 and followed the general drop in money rates which has held sway in this country since early in the year.

The $400,000,000 realized from sale of the certificates, which will be dated and bear interest from the 15th inst., together with the income tax payments due that day and payments by foreign nations on their war debt, will be used to meet maturing obligations and provide funds for government operations until next March.

In all the government has $672,000,000 to pay the 15th, 16th and 17th inst. on the fifteenth about $480,000,000 of the Treasury certificates mature and there is $90,000,000 in interest due on the public debt, in addition to $51,000,000 of Treasury bills are payable the 16th inst. and another $51,000,000 the next day.

Besides the $400,000,000 the government will receive $125,000,000 from foreign nations in payment of principal and interest on the war debt and will collect around $450,000,000 in income tax from the fourth-quarter payments of the 1929 tax.

At the close of business the 4th inst. the government had a deficit of $314,321,675 for the present fiscal year starting last July 1.

The statement, the last issued by the Treasury, showed total collections for the year had been $1,156,479,441, while expeditures in the same time were $1,470,501,098. Income tax payments, which have declined $58,000,000 for the fiscal year, advanced for the first four days of the present month to $3,815,593 as compared with $3,744,602 for the same period of the previous year.

REVENUE DECREASES

Miscellaneous internal revenue, however, showed a noticeable decrease for the four days of the present month, as compared with the same period last year, dropping to $5,829,349 from $8,962,424.

The income tax payments to be received the 15th inst., are the last for 1929 on which Congress allowed a 1 per cent reduction on normal and corporation income. The next income tax payments on March 15, will be at old rates and the amount of deficit or surplus the government will face depends upon the revenue derived from the March and June payments.

Bill Eliminates Ratification of Charter Change

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7. (AP)—When cities adopt their charters or amendments to the charters they should not be obliged to refer the actions to the State Legislature for ratification, said Assemblyman William E. Harper of San Diego in declaring today he would introduce a bill during the coming legislative session relative to the matter.

"When a city votes a charter that should be sufficient," the Assemblyman said. "Why refer it to the Legislature? Sometimes the cities have to wait for a year or nearly two before the Legislature convenes—and whoever heard of a Legislature refusing to approve a charter the people have voted for?"

NO COMMENTS ASKED

VANCOUVER, Dec. 7. (AP)—A by-law providing for street improvement in Burnaby, B. C., received the necessary number of votes at election but was defeated because an elector had written favorable comment on a ballot.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROFESOR F. GUERRERO

Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

Se les atribuye la facultad (a los duendes), nos sigue diciendo la Enciclopedia de Espasa, de dar ilusorias apariencias de un gran valor a objetos de materias despreciables, y de aquí el misterioso oro de los duendes, y asimismo se les achaca un prodigioso conocimiento de los poderes de la naturaleza, que les permite adivinar dónde se encuentran las cosas desaparecidas y descubrir las invisibles. En los países celto-teutónicos se les atribuyen ciertas torres misteriosas iluminadas de noche, y se cree que son obra suya los túmulos y demás monumentos funerarios más o menos toscos . . .

Su existencia es, según las leyendas, más dilatada que la de los humanos, y procuran reproducir su raza, ya robando niñas, ya muchachas jóvenes, para unirse con ellas, o bien haciendo que las mujeres que crían amamanten a sus hijos, suplantando en tal caso al niño con un duendecillo.

No siempre los duendes se entretienen en jugar malas pasadas y causar daños graves a las gentes; hay otros cuyas jugarretas no tienen graves consecuencias, pues se limitan a dar formas visibles o ridículas, pero transitorias, a aquel que los trató mal; a cambiar de sitio los muebles o a echarlos fuera de casa, como hace el "polter geist" alemán, que además enciende el fuego, echa llamas por el aire, o toca en la cara del burlado con su mano fría como el hielo. Leyendas semejantes se encuentran en el mediodía de Francia y en Cataluña, atribuídas a los "follets". Para preservarse de los duendes maléficos o burlones se recomiendan varios artificios en los que figuran, entre otras cosas, el hierro, la escoba y el agua corriente.

Los duendes, en cambio, asisten en ocasiones a los mortales en sus quehaceres o apuros, y son muy generosos, ya que se contentan con poco, como el duende doméstico, que se satisface con una escudilla de leche. Este duende, mencionado ya en el siglo XIII por Gervasio de Tilbury, habita en la casa o el establo y es enemigo de la pereza, pues trabaja a favor del amo de la casa que habita sin recibir más recompensa que una cama o un sombrero nuevo, a lo sumo, al cabo del año. Goya, interpretando las creencias populares, dice de estos duendes al comentar un aguafuerte de sus "Caprichos": "Los duendecitos son la gente más hacendosa y servicial que puede hallarse; como la criada los tenga contentos, espuman la olla, cuecen las verdura, friegan, barren y acallan al niño." . . .

Este mito se supone relacionado con los enterramientos domésticos, tal como los practicaban los primitivos pueblos micénicos y semitas, además de los indios. El duende doméstico toma, en ciertas leyendas, la forma de un animalito; la de una serpiente, por ejemplo ("genius loci" de los romanos). Los "chuds" del norte tienen también espíritus domésticos, y lo propio ocurre con los lituanios, que los llaman "kaukas", y los suecos, que les dicen "tomse" o "nissart". Por esto quizá la superstición de los duendes tiene íntimas analogías con el culto de los muertos, las leyendas de las hadas y las brujas, y la meteorología mitológica.

La creencia en tales seres parece ser principalmente céltica y teutónica; pero existe igualmente en pueblos eslavos y latinos y en los países más remotos. La pequeña estatura que en general se les atribuye se relaciona con su semejanza con las almas de los muertos, representadas en la antigua cerámica griega como diminutos hombrecillos, lo mismo que en los bajos relieves egipcios y en el "Mahabharata" de la India . . .

Por su estatura y atribuciones se ha supuesto si serían los duendes formas de degeneración de antiguas divinidades, como los "dasine sidne" irlandeses y los "gliscas" de la Galia celta, puesto que los romanos también tuvieron sus "minuti dei". Otros autores opinan que los duendes representaban una raza pequeña y desposeída por conquistadores de mayor estatura, y así se ha supuesto que los "feinn" de Irlanda, transformados en duendes por la fantasía popular, no eran más que los aborígenes fineses despojados de sus tierras por los celtas . . .

Por último, no han faltado explicaciones puramente médicas de algunos fenómenos atribuídos a los duendes, y así, las correrías nocturnas en compañía de tales seres se ha supuesto que eran ataques epilépticos, del mismo modo que se han relacionado las apariciones de duendes con violentos ataques de jaqueca y con alucinaciones hipnóticas, hipnagógicas y alcohólicas.

EIGHTH ORATOR EVENT PLANNED

Constitutional Contest Increases Scope

System of Judging Will be Revised

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—General plans for the Eighth National and the Sixth International Oratorical Contests which are announced today by Randolph Leigh, director-general, establish the 1931 high-school forensic competition, as the biggest, broadest and most thoroughly organized since the movement in the interest of good government was founded.

The Eighth National Contest in the United States has, to date, seventy-eight individual sponsors which include, besides the most prominent and influential newspapers, several universities, education groups and law bodies. This represents a gain of twenty sponsors.

Through the international phase of the contest the oratorical competition has spread its field of active participation into twenty-four nations, a gain of five.

PRAISED BY HOOVER

The National and International Oratorical Contests face the 1931 season securely established as an institution which has received the public commendation of every President of the United States since the contest was founded. President Hoover was the most recent Chief Executive to place his approval upon the movement.

"These speeches," Mr. Hoover asserted in his address at the international contest finals in October in reference to the contestants' orations, "have proved a great inspiration, not only to the millions of high-school students but to millions of our fellow-citizens. They have advanced the knowledge and understanding of government, of history and of social and political questions."

Continuing the President declared that the International Contest "bears still another high implication, that is the building of mutual understanding of these questions between the youth of our different nations."

JUDGING CHANGED

With the exception of the judging system the national finals phase of the contest will remain the same. In that meet, the champions of the seven contest regions of the United States will compete. In determining the victor the board of judges this year will not consult under any circumstances. The low-point total system of balloting will be used with the added requirement of a majority of first-place ratings. If under this dual system a tie results or if no contestant receives first-place rating from a majority of the judges, the judges will write new ballots on the first three speakers as determined by the low-point total system.

The entrants in the national finals are to be chosen in regional finals. Besides Washington, the regional contest centers are Los Angeles, Kansas City, Chicago, Birmingham, New York City and Springfield, Mass. Those meetings will be held and their respective winners chosen by May 15.

The national finals of the 1931 contest will be held May 23 while the International Contest is to be staged here next October 24.

PUBLISHERS' COMMITTEE

The United States contest is under the jurisdiction of a publishers' committee, which includes some of the outstanding journalists of the country. Included on the committee are Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press; Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times; Harry Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times; Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News; George B. Longan, publisher of the Kansas City Star, and Clark Howell, publisher of the Atlanta Constitution.

The nations of the world in which the contest is being conducted this season with the same intensity which is marking its administration here follow: England, France, Ireland, Germany, Mexico, Canada, Holland, Cuba, Belgium, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Austria, Poland, Switzerland, Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Paraguay, Uruguay, Bolivia and the United States.

Chinese Queue Line for Run on American Bank

Reports were that more than $3,000,000 Mexican (about $1,200,000) has been paid out by the bank since a run started yesterday.

A rumor that the bank's home office had closed is being circulated, causing increased uneasiness among Chinese depositors of the institution. The rumor is believed the work of exchange speculators seeking to profit by the run.

The bank indicates its willingness to pay all depositors.

Speeder Loses Right to Drive

WOODLAND, Dec. 7. (AP)—Recently Robert Bell, high-school football star, lost his automobile operator's license when he pleaded guilty to speeding.

A few days later he appeared on the streets driving a cart drawn by a donkey. On the back of the cart was a sign reading:

"Try your luck at speeding. I did—and how!"

INTEREST CUT ON DEBT BOND

Government Certificates to Total $400,000,000

Rate Will be Lowest Since During World War

Treasury Takes Advantage of Ease in Market

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Certificates of indebtedness totaling $400,000,000 will be issued by the government at the lowest interest rates since the World War, and perhaps in the history of the nation, to provide for December financing.

Preparing to meet government obligations falling due the 15th inst., the Treasury announced the offerings of two series of certificates, one bearing 1 3-4 per cent interest and the other 1 7-8 per cent. The first will be for six months and will total about $150,000,000, while the latter will be for a year and amount to $250,000,000.

RATES DROPPED

In taking advantage of the ease in the money markets in its own borrowing, the government dropped its rates 5-8 and ½ of 1 per cent below the last issue of certificates. That issue last September carried a rate of 2 3-8 and followed the general drop in money rates which has held sway in this country since early in the year.

The $400,000,000 realized from sale of the certificates, which will be dated and bear interest from the 15th inst., together with the income tax payments due that day and payments by foreign nations on their war debt, will be used to meet maturing obligations and provide funds for government operations until next March.

In all the government has $672,000,000 to pay the 15th, 16th and 17th inst. on the fifteenth about $480,000,000 of the Treasury certificates mature and there is $90,000,000 in interest due on the public debt, in addition to $51,000,000 of Treasury bills are payable the 16th inst. and another $51,000,000 the next day.

Besides the $400,000,000 the government will receive $125,000,000 from foreign nations in payment of principal and interest on the war debt and will collect around $450,000,000 in income tax from the fourth-quarter payments of the 1929 tax.

At the close of business the 4th inst. the government had a deficit of $314,321,675 for the present fiscal year starting last July 1.

The statement, the last issued by the Treasury, showed total collections for the year had been $1,156,479,441, while expeditures in the same time were $1,470,501,098. Income tax payments, which have declined $58,000,000 for the fiscal year, advanced for the first four days of the present month to $3,815,593 as compared with $3,744,602 for the same period of the previous year.

REVENUE DECREASES

Miscellaneous internal revenue, however, showed a noticeable decrease for the four days of the present month, as compared with the same period last year, dropping to $5,829,349 from $8,962,424.

The income tax payments to be received the 15th inst., are the last for 1929 on which Congress allowed a 1 per cent reduction on normal and corporation income. The next income tax payments on March 15, will be at old rates and the amount of deficit or surplus the government will face depends upon the revenue derived from the March and June payments.

TWO STARS FIGHT BACK TO HEALTH

Lila Lee and Her Friend, Renee Adoree, Take Rest Cure in Arizona Hills

RENEE ADOREE

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Dreary months lie ahead for Lila Lee and Renee Adoree. The two Hollywood actresses, worn out with overwork and the strain of shattered nerves, must lie quietly in a sanatorium here until health returns. Long months, for Lila Lee will not see the lights of Hollywood again before the late spring, and Renee Adoree cannot expect to leave the sanatorium among the pines before next July at the earliest, her physicians say.

Miss Adoree is taking her year of enforced idleness "on the chin," spending all her hours in an ordinary hospital bed on a screened-in sleeping porch, shared with six other patients, where before her eyes the pine trees climb to the tops of the mountains and the ground, often, is covered with snow.

Even her favorite dog, Sapeeto, the blue-black Chow, is gone, for Renee has sent him to Beaver Creek, where he is being kept for her.

The sharp contrast are Lila Lee's surroundings, for she is surrounded with luxuries, occupies a special bungalow and is attended by a maid. Miss Lee, however, is not so happy in the sanatorium and is eagerly waiting the day when she shall be discharged. Then, she has told her friends, she plans a long ocean voyage, after which she hopes to be married again, this time to John Farrow, screen writer.

Farrow often flies to Prescott from Phoenix to spend an hour with Miss

FIVE VICTIMS OF TRAFFIC DIE

Youth and Sister Killed in Ridge Route Crash

Monrovia Man Fatally Hurt by Son-in-Law's Car

Woman Injured on 3rd Inst. Expires in Hospital

Four persons were killed and five injured in traffic accidents yesterday, while a woman who had been injured earlier in the week died of her injuries.

Joe Florio, 19 years of age, was killed almost instantly and his sister Annie, 18, of 3907 Naomi street, was fatally injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed in a head-on collision with another machine near Castaic on the Ridge Route.

James Bishop, 65, of 146 East Walnut avenue, Monrovia, was fatally hurt when struck by an automobile driven by his son-in-law, Homer Boyer of 213 Cleminson street, El Monte.

Mrs. Lora Hall, 67, of 4872 Bell avenue, Bell, died at the General Hospital from injuries she received when struck by an automobile at Forty-seventh street and Ascot avenue on the 3rd inst. The body was removed to the County Morgue, where an inquest will be conducted today or tomorrow.

WOMEN LACERATED

In the accident on the Ridge Route Florio was driving a roadster, accompanied by his sisters, Annie, Catherine and Jennie, and Earl Gorman of 1007 Washington Boulevard and Eddie Johnson of Fifty-fourth street and Stanford avenue, according to a Sheriff's report. Jennie and Catherine Florio were painfully lacerated and later were removed to the Lincoln Hospital here. Annie died in the Newhall Emergency Hospital. Gorman and Johnson were not seriously hurt.

The other machine was driven by R. E. Stubbs of Saugus, who was accompanied by Pat Cross of 1861 West Thirty-eighth street. Neither was seriously injured, deputies reported.

Bishop's death was the result of an unusual accident, according to a report at the Sheriff's office. He and his son-in-law had been driving in the same direction on Peck Road in their respective automobiles. Near the intersection of Arrow Highway a third car sideswiped Bishop's machine. Bishop stopped to ascertain the damage done, and then stepped out from behind the parked cars to flag down his son-in-law. He stepped directly in front of the latter's machine, according to the deputies who investigated, and was knocked down. He died at Stanley's Hospital at El Monte. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Addelman & Klingerman in the same town.

While crossing Firestone Boulevard at Garden View avenue in South Gate last night, Mrs. Lydia A. Galbraith, 68, of 8945 Garden View avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by Jack Nicola, 15, of 10347 Rosewood avenue, South Gate. She died shortly after being taken to the South Gate Suburban Hospital. The boy was held for questioning by South Gate police.

Another youthful driver, Joseph Mitchell, 16, of 6318½ Miramonte street, was the driver of a car which struck Mrs. P. H. Stuchfarber, 71, of 1149 East Fifty-ninth Place, and inflicted probably fatal injuries on the woman. She was run down as she was attempting to cross Central avenue at Gage street.

Struck down by a hit-and-run driver at Beverly and Occidental Boulevards, William P. Horan, 33, of 1119 Poinsettia Drive, received so severe an injury to his knee that an amputation may be necessary, it was said at the General Hospital, to which he was removed after emergency treatment at the Georgia-street hospital.

John Carruthers, 27, Negro, of 1451 East Twenty-second street, suffered possible internal injuries, fractures of three ribs and his right arm in a collision between the automobile in which he was riding with Roy McGinnis and a Los Angeles street railway car piloted by Motorman C. A. Frain. The accident occurred at Jefferson street and Compton

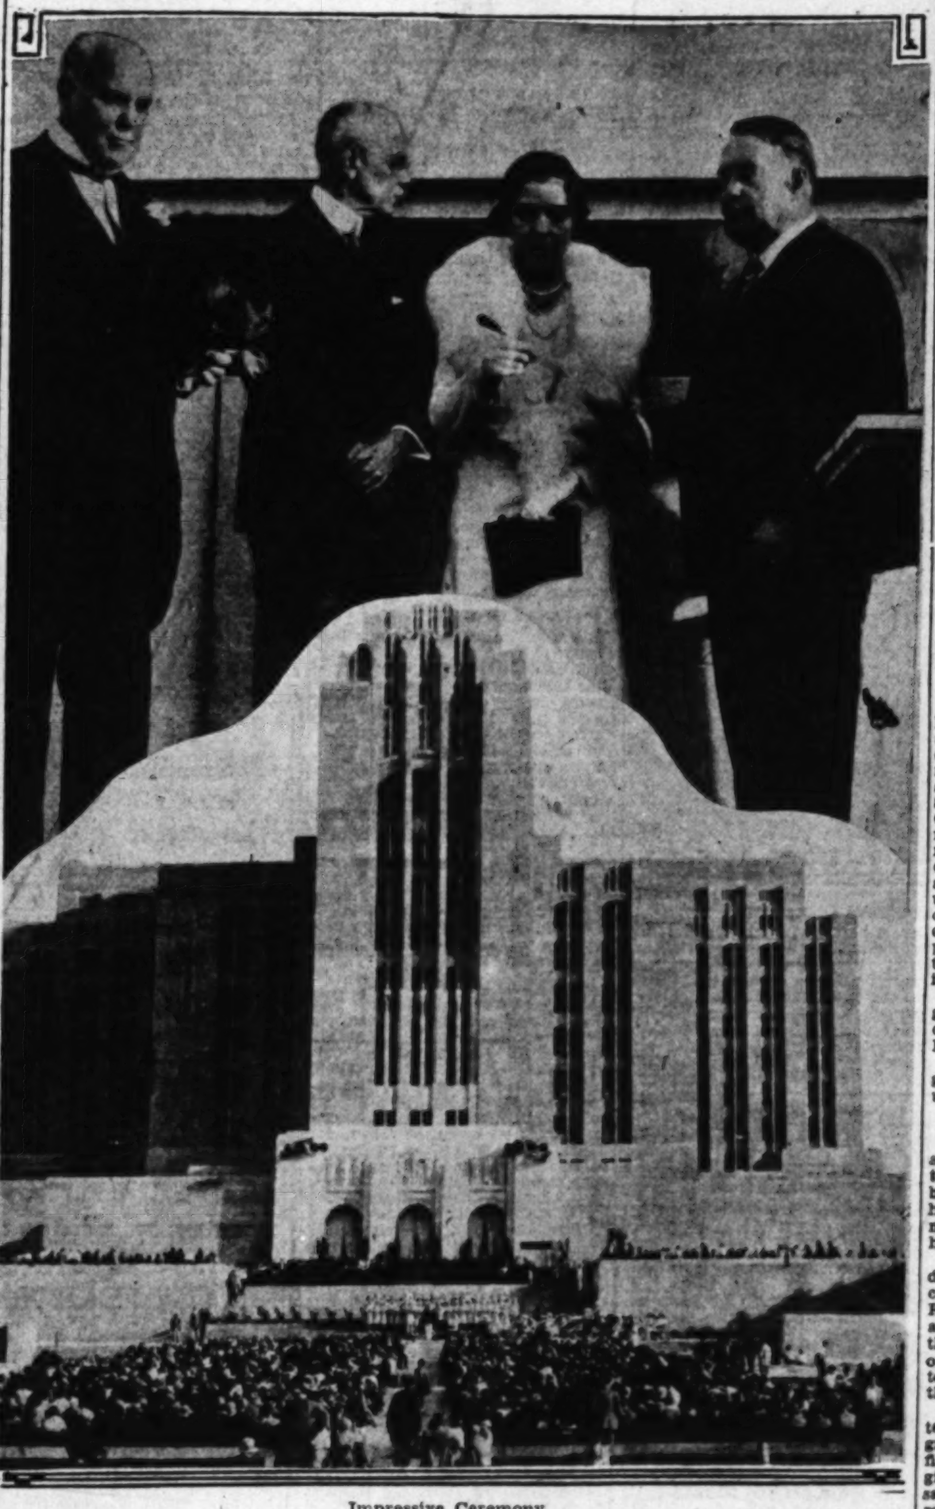
World's Greatest Temple of Healing Acclaimed



Impressive Ceremony

NEW HOSPITAL'S CORNER PLACED

Mary Pickford Lays Stone Before Huge Concourse

State and County Officials Congratulate Achievement

Building Largest Devoted to Purpose in All World

Officials of the State and county and leaders of the medical profession gathered yesterday afternoon to lay the corner-stone of the world's largest single-unit center of mercy and healing—the new $11,800,000 Los Angeles County General Hospital, nearly completed at Zonal avenue, east of Mission Road.

Ten thousand persons, including community welfare leaders, doctors, nurses and members of the motion-picture industry crowded the terraces and gardens facing the main entrance of the massive steel and concrete structure which rears its twenty-story walls high on the skyline of Los Angeles, to hear the praises of the community sung over its construction.

MARY PICKFORD OFFICIATES

Mary Pickford with an ebony-handled silver trowel dropped and sealed in place the large copper airtight box in the corner-stone—a box which contained an American flag, flag of the State, charter of the county, Constitution of the State, annual report of the Board of Supervisors, notes on the history of the hospital, copies of current daily newspapers and annuals published by the graduating classes of the County School of Nursing since 1924. These and other records were cemented into place in the stone which guards the right-hand portal at the building's main entrance.

As the box slid in place and the giant piece of stone, bearing the dates 1923-1932 was cemented, Miss Pickford supplicated:

"We ask God's blessing on this great institution of mercy in all its undertakings."

ROLPH'S COMMENT

Governor-elect Rolph, standing beside her, said: "Los Angeles, county, the most populous in the State, by laying this stone in a temple of healing, help and succor is passing a milestone in its attitude toward healing, kindness and humanity."

Dr. William Gerry Morgan, president of the American Medical Association, who with Governor-elect Rolph later gave two of the main addresses of the day, pointed out that "this building is the largest of its kind in the world, but its material size is little in comparison to the great work it will do."

As County Counsel Mattoon, master of ceremonies, opened the program a squadron of eight military fighting pursuit planes and three giant bombers dipped their wings in salute overhead. This gesture and a rousing march by the University of Southern California band lent a background of color and spirit for the ceremony which marked the first step in completion of one of this section's greatest public symbols of charity.

MONUMENT TO HEALING

"This hospital for decades to come, will stand as a monument for the saving of lives and alleviating of human suffering—a structure which will become a pulsating center inspired by one of the loftiest motives known to man—the Golden Rule," Mattoon declared.

Supervisor Frank L. Shaw, who has directed the hospital's construction from his place on the Board of Supervisors, general chairman at yesterday's event, pointed out that "it may be the largest structure in the world of its kind but bigger than this is the thing which it typifies."

Speaking on behalf of the medical profession, Dr. Morgan gave a history of hospitals up to the present time.

LIMIT OF SCOPE

"The scope and usefulness of this institution," he declared, "conceived and born in the common desire of the people and the profession to render a special service to humanity, will depend upon the growth of the understanding of its aims, its objects and its difficulties in the public mind.

"For without this harmonious cooperation and mutual understanding

MY IDEA of nothing to get excited about is whether Mrs. Pat Campbell slapped an actor.

They gave the distinguished lady a job in the films when she first came to Hollywood but they couldn't keep her out of the camera. They even tried hiding the real camera, but she had a fatal instinct. She could detect a hidden camera underneath a pile of bricks.

Her highly ballyhooed American tour had created about as much excitement as it would if somebody dropped a pin in the Christmas traffic on Seventh and Broadway.

DOVE ROOST The annual conference on international relations is about to start at Riverside.

It's a good place to have a peace conference. They will not hear the sound of riveters preparing new battleships for the next war.

LOVE Miss Margaret Ekdahl, "Miss America," has issued a profound dictum on the subject of love.

"I believe one should become intimately acquainted with a man before becoming engaged. Not love at the sight of a photograph."

BELOW THE BELTS You will have to show me that the talented Sammy Jackson lost his Olympic fight on a foul entirely by accident. Two fouls in one fight is an overdose. One of the characteristics of our colored brethren in the ring is that they acutely realize that a couple of whacks below the belt will stop a fight that is going the wrong way.

TIME TO ACT As it might have been expected, the League of Nations becomes suddenly horrified at the spectacle of human slavery in Liberia when it affects the fact that American planters are breaking down the European rubber trust.

There are more than 5,000,000 human slaves in the world. This has been brought to the attention of the League of Nations several times but all action, until now, has been blocked by France.

HOW SAD Our little sob sisters can't resist the temptation to sniffle over the case of the three thugs caught trying to rob the Security-First National branch bank.

It seems that—having held up a woman in her own house at the point of a gun—one wanted to telephone to his mother.

MAMMA STUFF No doubt he said to his mother: "Having robbed a bank, tried to kill an amateur policeman and threatened a woman with death, I have suddenly remembered the sweet lessons learned at your knee."

S.C. ADMINISTRATION SCHOOL OPENS SOON

The 1930-31 winter quarter of the school of public administration of the University of Southern California will open the 29th inst. in the Civic Center, with courses in the science of government held from 5:40 to 8 p.m. for the convenience of public employees interested in studying toward advancement and professional improvement. Enrollments are now being taken. In 1929 the University of Southern California opened its school of public administration, with courses in government, law, psychology, criminology, sociology and the sciences.

Headquarters of the school are in the Wilson Building, First and Spring streets.

FOUR HOMES DAMAGED BY $15,000 FIRE

Sparks off Rubbish Blaze Blamed for Flames' Start on Destructive Rampage

Sparks from burning rubbish, according to fire department investigators, caused a fire which spread to four dwellings and resulted in more than $15,000 damage yesterday morning.

The blaze originated at 1720 Oak street, where a one-story frame dwelling owned by N. Nicholas and occupied by G. Ortego was partly consumed. From there it spread to 1718 Oak street, another dwelling of similar construction, also owned by Nicholas and occupied by M. Pellia. It then jumped to 851 West Eighteenth street, a third dwelling owned by Nicholas and occupied by E. Loasas.

Sparks, carried by a brisk breeze, settled on a fourth house at 918 West Eighteenth street, a block away, and caused damage of less than $100. This is a two-story frame dwelling owned and occupied by L. Miller.

At about the same time, in another section of the city, fire starting from a defective water heater, according to officials, caused about $4000 damage to the one-story frame home of L. A. Miller at 1443 East Twenty-first street.

Chamber Plans to Anchor Huge Star Over City

Taking a page from the Christmas history of Holland, and still further back 1930 years when a brilliant star guided Three Wise Men, officials of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday announced a move will be made to float a huge lighted star on a balloon anchored over the city during the holiday season as a symbol of the Star of Bethlehem.

The plan for the lighted star balloon is a part of the program for the further spread of the "Christmas out-of-doors" movement.

The final preparations for illuminations will be completed within ten days and the chamber committee which has been urging the decoration of growing trees has asked that they be lighted on the night of the 19th inst.

Several speakers have been asked by the chamber committee to appear before the several luncheon and service clubs to explain the lighting plans and to announce the starting date.

ROAD PARLEY SENDS BID

Los Angeles county is asked to send three delegates to the twenty-eighth congress of the American Road Builders' Association to be held at St. Louis for a week beginning January 13. The invitation has been sent to the Board of Supervisors by W. A. Van Duzer, president of the association. It will be considered by the board at its meeting today.

TIGER'S SON ON VISIT TO SOUTHLAND

Michel Clemenceau Will Spend Ten Days Renewing Friendships Here

Making his first visit to California, Michel Clemenceau, only son of the late Georges Clemenceau, war-time Premier of France, explained yesterday at the Ambassador that he is merely on a holiday trip, with his main interests those of seeing the country and renewing acquaintance with several friends now residing in Southern California. He will stay here about ten days, he said.

The son of the statesman who was known as the "Tiger of France" is 52 years of age and a bachelor. He is much taller than his illustrious father. He is one of three children, the other two being girls, born of the marriage of Georges Clemenceau and the American girl he met

ROAD WORK HELPS JOBLESS

Total of 1773 Men Given Employment by State, Highway Engineer Purcell Reports

The State Division of Highways is making rapid progress in its move to provide jobs for men without work, according to State Highway Engineer Purcell. In a report to Gov. Young, Purcell said that 1773 men were placed at work on special maintenance crews between November 10 and November 24 and that the program was speeded on the 1st inst., when a number of labor camps were opened.

"Because of its wide distribution, the work has been of particular value in bettering community morale," Engineer Purcell said. "The men are employed on a three-day-a-week basis and are paid $4 a day. Employment is confined to bona fide residents of California, preference being given to men of family."

Those given jobs, the engineer reported, are selected from lists made up by public officials and civic committees.

Recent orders that only union men be given jobs in some of the work, have been canceled, as they were issued, it was said here, by mistake.

VIADUCT CONSTRUCTION FAR AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Speed in construction, according to a report to City Engineer Jessup and the Board of Public Works, has placed the erection of the Fourth-street viaduct one month ahead of schedule. The structure at present is 50 per cent completed.

Most of the river piers are in place and it is expected that work on the roadway deck will begin within a few weeks.

More than 250 workmen are being employed at present, it is reported, working in three shifts. At times the number of employees has mounted to 325.

The job is being handled by Fisher, Ross, McDonald & Kahn. The contract was awarded May 2, at the price of $1,246,635. The contractor is allowed until August 7, 1931, to complete the job, but according to present prospects, it will be finished by next July 1.

The expense of the project is being shared by the city, county and the railway companies.

HOLLYWOOD BOYS SHUN FILMS

Only Four Seniors in High School Aspire to Screen Careers; Law, Aviation, Science and Exploration Chosen in Survey Conducted by Kiwanis Club

Distance evidently lends enchantment to the motion-picture industry, according to a survey recently finished among the members of the senior class at Hollywood High School. The survey, part of a national one made by the Kiwanis Club, was to ascertain the occupational choice of the young men who will be given their diplomas at Hollywood High next June.

Although living not on the threshold but in the very heart of motion-picture production, only four declared themselves in favor of following some line connected with the industry. One of these wanted to be a motion-picture director, another would be a motion-picture photographer, a third selected as his choice for a life work "motion-picture set designer" and the fourth chooses "sound and technicolor in motion pictures." Though the lure of various lines of the motion-picture industry is the cause of a constant trek to Hollywood from all parts of the United States, the young men close to the game do not respond to its allurements. The boys were asked to check their choice of occupations regardless of the salary offered.

Among the professions the law received the highest choice, fifty-two wanting to become attorneys. Aviation was the choice of forty-eight; electrical engineer, thirty; medicine, twenty-seven; chemist, twenty-six; architect, twenty-one; foreign correspondent, twenty. That adventure appeals to the boys of today is shown by the responses of seventeen who want to be explorers, nineteen who would like to become forest rangers and fifteen who would choose the interesting careers of secret service men.

The Kiwanis Club expects to assist the youth of the country in fitting themselves for the life work which they would prefer. Speakers will be sent to the various groups, an attorney to those who chose the law, etc.

COURT ROOMS REASSIGNED

Destruction of Old City Jail Building and Induction of New Judges Necessitate Changes

With the traffic courts building on Justicia street, formerly the County Jail, being torn down to make way for the extension of North Spring street and with four judges who were elected to Superior Court assuming their new posts today, changes in courtrooms and assignment of judges featured an order issued by Presiding Judge Ambrose.

Both traffic courts are moved by the order to the second floor of the Courthouse. Divisions Twenty-two and Twenty-three, displaced by the traffic courts, will sit in the courtrooms of Departments Thirty-five and Forty-two of the Superior Court, in the City Hall tower, Division Twenty-two on the eighteenth floor and Division Twenty-three on the fifteenth. Division Four, criminal jury court, will be closed for a week and will probably reopen in the City Hall tower as a civil division. Reduction of jury trials, according to Judge Ambrose, has occurred to such an extent that Division Seven, under Judge Bogue, and Division Fourteen, under Judge Wood, will be able to handle all trials of this character.

To replace Judges Stafford, Turney, Valentine and Sheldon, who were elevated from the Municipal Court to the Superior Court at the recent election, and who will begin serving their terms today, although the regular terms do not begin until January 5, 1931, assignments temporarily have been made. Justices of the Peace Northrup of Alhambra, Wix of Glendale and Fields of San Dimas and Police Judge Bridge of Hermosa Beach have been named to fill the positions. Judge Northrup will sit in Division Five, liquor-trial court with jury; Judge Wix in Division Eleven of traffic court; Judge Fields in Division Twenty-seven, small claims court, and Judge Bridge in Division Twenty-six, a civil court.

The newly elected judges to the Superior Court have been assigned by the Judicial Council to take up their duties today in order to relieve the congestion of the calendar.

Judge Raymond I. Turney is assigned to the civil nonjury master calendar court, Department Thirty-two, City Hall tower. Judge Dudley J. Valentine takes over the court of Domestic Relations, Department Nine, old Courthouse. Judge Dailey S. Stafford is assigned to Department Five, both jury and nonjury civil cases, old Courthouse, and Judge Caryl M. Sheldon goes to Department Forty, nonjury civil court, City Hall tower.

Four Bandit Suspects Accused of More Than Hundred Robberies

YOUTH ADMITS SEVENTY-FIVE

Quartet Cruising in Auto Captured by Police

Thirteen Hold-ups Reported Over Week-End

Average for December Now Eleven a Day

Believed by police to comprise the gang responsible for more than 100 recent robberies and burglaries in the north part of the city, four men were arrested yesterday and booked in the City Jail on suspicion of robbery, pending investigation of their asserted activities. They are Paul White, 19 years of age, a laborer; Harry Jackson, 18, newsboy; Frank Russo, 19, plumber, and Maro Alimonti, 20, boxer.

The four were taken in custody by Detective Lieutenants Leslie and Anderson in an automobile at Bunker Hill and New Depot streets on information the officers obtained several days ago.

MANY ROBBERIES ADMITTED

White, according to the detectives, admitted participation in seventy-five recent robberies and burglaries. The others refused to talk.

In White's possession the officers say they found an instrument for breaking automobile locks.

Thirteen robberies this week-end netted bandits $3830 in cash and property, increased the approximate total of hold-ups since the 1st inst. of sixty-six, or an average of eleven robberies a day for the first six days of the month. In the series a merchant was slugged and robbed of $100 in the basement of the Grand Central Market, a newsboy was beaten up and robbed of 60 cents, and two women pedestrians were victims of street hold-ups.

At the same time burglars broke into twenty-six stores and dwellings and obtained plunder valued at more than $5000, two citizens were victims of pickpockets, and more than thirty petty thefts from stores and parked automobiles were reported.

MERCHANT ROBBED

M. J. Levy was just leaving for his home at 164½ West Forty-second Place when a bandit levelled a revolver at him in the basement of the Grand Central Market at 322 South Hill street. When he made an effort to strike the weapon from the bandit's hand, the latter struck him on the head with the gun and knocked him to the floor unconscious. The bandit then took $100 from his pockets and fled.

Walking to his home at 4216 Wadsworth street with 60 cents profit from selling newspapers Willie Crow was attacked by two Negro bandits and beaten up at Forty-third and Wadsworth streets. The bandits took the small change and left him lying in the street.

The two women who were held up are Miss Elizabeth Dye of 2226 West Eighth street, and Miss Helga Thygeson of 1588 Yosemite Drive. Miss Dye was robbed of $4 by two bandits who drove up to the curb at Leeward avenue and Hoover street as she walked by the intersection. Miss Dye reported the bandits had a police dog in the car with them.

Operating in the same manner another pair of bandits robbed Miss Thygeson of $13 at Chickasaw street and Townsend avenue.

WOMAN ROBS MAN

Her feminine lures failing to intrigue Tony Repanich of 350 West Sixteenth street, San Pedro, a lone woman who had stopped him at Center and Thirteenth streets, produced a small pistol from her hand bag and forced him to hand over $18 in cash.

"If you haven't got time to buy me a feed and take me to a show, I'll save you the trouble and you can give me all you've got right now," she said.

While seated in his automobile in front of 1041 South Gramercy Drive, W. J. Newmark of 704 South Columbus avenue was held up by two auto bandits and robbed of $45.

Two cab drivers were included in the list of robbery victims, Joe Marcovitz reported being robbed of $27 and his cab at 1411 Bond street by two men, and Calvin Porter told of another pair of bandits robbing him of $8 at Fifty-second street and Towne avenue.

Two German automatic pistols were obtained by two bandits who held up T. G. Shreve in the Ball Hardware Store at 1907 South Vermont avenue. They also took $11 from Shreve.

STORE HELD UP

Choosing a moment when the store was empty of customers two bandits held up F. W. McWilliams, butcher, and Clarence R. Autterle, manager, in MacMarr's grocery at 1253 North Highland avenue in Hollywood. McWilliams was robbed of $90, while Autterle reported losing $175 from his cash register. The bandits after forcing their victims to lie face down on the floor behind the counters and then fled.

As he was about to enter his home at 735 East Twelfth street, John Holub was held up by two Negro bandits and robbed of $25.

William F. Barbeau reported being bound and gagged by two bandits who robbed him of $14 in his grocery at 1296 Sunset Boulevard.

Leading the list of burglaries was the report of F. F. Fox, who told police burglars entered his home at 613 South Citrus avenue by use of a pass key and obtained furs, clothing and jewelry valued at $4000.

Victims of pickpockets were J. A. McCann of 4042 Pine street, Inglewood, and C. V. Judd of 3643 Roseview avenue. McCann reported his pocket picked of $4 at the Southern Pacific depot at Fifth stret and Central avenue. Judd told police his watch and chain were snipped from a vest pocket as he was marketing at the Grand Central Market at Third street and Broadway.

Curls for Curs and Pedigreed Dogs, Too

A BEAUTY shop for Hollywood dogs is the latest wrinkle in the film colony. A shop has been established in the suburb of Hawthorne to meet the demand.

Frances Dee, Paramount film player, was one of the first patrons of the new place and had a permanent wave put in her poodle's curly coat. The charge for dog beauty treatments is nominal, and they are said to make a mutt dog look like a canine star of the movies.

and confidence it will fall short of attaining that goal which the bright promise of its inception justly warrants."

Gov.-elect Rolph in his main address pointed out that the people of Los Angeles county take second place to no other in the world in providing for treatment of the community's ailing.

"It gives us a thrill and brings cheer to our hearts in laying this stone of a structure which has been builded out of the generosity of your people," the speaker said.

EMBLEM OF IDEALS

"Here in the heart of a great industrial city I see the vision of a larger one still to come and right here there has been erected an institution which will help the needy as the demand increases. It is an expression of the highest ideals to all modern civilized society."

Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, representing the State, also touched on the responsibility this section must feel for those who, he predicted, will be added to the local population.

"You are building a civilization here that is a magnet to all people—a magnet which will result in a much greater community and one in which the need of treating the ailing will become greater," he said.

"You are building industry by keeping your people fit for industry."

FUNCTIONS DESCRIBED

Other speakers on the program included Edwin Bergstrom, who traced the history of the new building and pointed out that the unit will accommodate 2500 acutely ill patients and that in an emergency 3400 could be taken care of, and Dr. Fitch C. E. Mattison, who subject was "The Attending Staff."

The invocation was made by Capt. J. J. Brady, chaplain of the Battle Fleet, United States Navy.

Besides the band the combined men's and women's glee clubs from the University of Southern California appeared on the musical program. All addresses and musical numbers were amplified through a public address system.

GUEST SPEAKERS

Guests on the speakers' platform included Mrs. Rolph, Mrs. Carnahan, Peggy Hamilton, Los Angeles county's official hostess; W. H. Holland, Hugh Evans and John C. Austin, president Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy within a year. The first step in its development was taken in 1923, when a bond issue was passed which provided for part of the money invested in it.

The next largest single-unit hospital of a similar type is in New York City. The latter has a capacity of 1200 persons and its construction cost more than twice the amount invested in the local building.

LAWYER'S WIFE SHOOTS WOMAN

Divorcee Taken to Hospital in Serious Condition

Assailant Jailed to Await Outcome of Wound

Affair Said to Be Result of "Love Triangle"

Mrs. Catherine Vaughan, a 28-year-old divorcee, is in the hospital with a bullet beneath her heart and the police are holding Mrs. Max Mayer, wife of an attorney, on the charge of having fired the shot as the result of an asserted "love triangle." The shooting occured in front of the attorney's home, 2923 Brooklyn avenue, last night when Mrs. Mayer found her husband seated in an automobile talking to Mrs. Vaughan.

In the car also were Carl Winter, 9446 South Harvard avenue, and his wife, who had driven Mrs. Vaughan to the attorney's home. According to stories told Detectives Filkas and Thompson of the Boyle Heights station Mrs. Vaughan rang the doorbell at Mayer's home and when he came to the door she asked him to come outside.

STARTS SHOOTING

His wife, inside, heard the other woman at the door and sought out a second-hand revolver, which she later told the police she had purchased Friday at a Main-street pawnshop. Mayer and Mrs. Vaughan walked to the car at the curbing and both got into the back seat. Mayer saw his wife following, but was unaware of the gun. Mrs. Mayer, according to the stories of the witnesses, remonstrated with Mrs. Vaughan about her asserted attention to Mayer.

Suddenly she pulled the gun from beneath her wrap and fired two shots. As the wounded woman slumped to the floor of the car Mayer leaped out and seized his wife's wrist as she attempted to pull the trigger again.

CONDITION CRITICAL

Neighbors called the police and Mrs. Vaughan was hurried to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Surgeons there found that one bullet had caused only a flesh wound, but the other had entered just below the victim's heart. Mrs. Vaughan's condition was considered too critical for an operation last night.

Mrs. Mayer was taken to Central Police Station and ordered held pending the outcome of Mrs. Vaughan's wounds. Mayer accompanied his wife to the station. He denied he had been paying attentions to Mrs. Vaughan, but asserted she had threatened to "make trouble" for him. Mrs. Mayer denied she had bought the pistol to use against Mrs. Vaughan, but asserted she had procured it to "protect her home."

avenue. Carruthers was also transferred from the Receiving Hospital to the county institution.

John L. Sullivan, 32, of 3002 Hope street, Huntington Park, who, as far as police reports showed, is no relation to the once celebrated ring champion, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated after an automobile he was said to have been driving crashed into a street car at Seventh and Figueroa streets. The accident occurred early yesterday morning. Shortly before noon Sullivan was released from the City Jail on $250 bail.

According to the report of the arresting officers, Sullivan was accompanied by Dr. Harold B. and Mrs. Evelyn Lull of 8924 California avenue, Huntington Park, and Terrence Dawson, a druggist of the same community. Immediately after the crash Sullivan drove his car away from the scene of the accident to Seventh and Francisco streets, where the arresting officers found him and his friends, according to their report.

Dr. Lull and Dawson were held on charges of intoxication. Mrs. Lull was treated at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for minor injuries.

Thirst and lack of principle on the part of several unidentified persons saved C. B. Hinkle of 164 West Avenue 62, the inconvenience of being arrested on charges of liquor possession Saturday night following an accident in which Hinkle sustained a broken leg and a motorcycle officer suffered a fractured right wrist.

Hinkle was hurrying across Pasadena avenue in the 200 block carrying a dozen bottles of what he told police was home brewed beer when he stepped in front of Motorcycle Officer Anderson's machine. One of the bottles was broken but the other eleven burst from their wrapping and rolled in the street. Witnesses to the accident scrambled for the bottles and disappeared before the arrival of police from Lincoln Heights division, Anderson said. Hinkle admitted responsibility for the mishap, the police report said.

Both men were treated at Pasadena-avenue Receiving Hospital.

TWO KILLED NEAR SANTA MARIA

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 7. (Exclusive)—Two men were killed and three badly hurt when a touring car collided with a truck on the highway five miles from Santa Maria today. The dead men were Harry Gunn, 45 years of age, and Clare E. Meredith, 40. E. B. Milnor and Fred Beaumiller who also were in the touring car received a number of broken bones and severe cuts.

Charles Fryer, driver of the truck, was rendered unconscious. At a late hour none of the injured recovered sufficiently to tell the officers how the accident occurred.

MAILS CASE UP TODAY

Accused of sending improper photographs through the mails, H. W. Smith is scheduled to appear today before United States District Judge Hazel for argument on a demurrer to the indictment. Argument will also be heard on a motion of the defendant for a bill of particulars.

FIGHT DEATH SUSPECT HELD

Reputed Assailant in Fist Battle Over Woman Seized as Victim Dies of Injuries

Roy A. Trider, 34 years of age, of Montebello, was held on suspicion of murder yesterday a few hours after the death in St. Vincent's Hospital of Luke E. Conneally, 50 years of age, whom he is asserted to have injured fatally in a fist fight early in the morning of November 28. He was taken in custody by Detective Lieutenants Gillan and Murphy at the home of friends, 3451 Whittier Boulevard.

At the time of the fatal battle Trider and his wife Pauline, 33, occupied an apartment in a building at 980 West Vernon avenue. Returning home about 1:30 a.m. he heard his wife's voice in an adjoining apartment. Kicking down the door he found his wife with Conneally, the police report states. A fight ensued, it is charged, during which Conneally received a serious head injury.

Bleeding profusely, Conneally sought treatment at Angelus Hospital, where he remained a patient until last Thursday. Believed to be on the road to recovery he then was removed to the home of relatives at 4344 Kansas avenue. Last Saturday evening his condition took a sudden turn for the worse and the relatives rushed him to St. Vincent's Hospital, where he died.

Apprised of Conneally's death, detectives at once began an investigation with the consequent arrest of Trider.

SPINNER OFFICES MOVED

Removal today of the offices and sales department of the Spinner Company, marketers of a gas-saving device, from Beverly Hills to 1525 South Figueroa street, was announced yesterday.

JUVENILE COURT REFEREE RESIGNS

Resignation of Dr. Miriam Van Waters, for twelve years referee of the Los Angeles county Juvenile Court, was announced yesterday by Superior Judge Blake in charge of the juvenile department of Superior Court.

Dr. Van Waters stated in her resignation that she is leaving to join the United States Crime Commission under George W. Wickersham.

A farewell dinner in honor of Dr. Van Waters, arranged at the First Baptist Church by Judge Scott, is to be held next Monday night.

DEATH THREATS CHARGED

Threats to kill her by "turning on the gas and forgetting to turn it off" constitute divorceable cruelty, according to the complaint of Mrs. Antoinette Hiriart, on file against her husband, Jean Hiriart. Mrs. Hiriart asks custody of her 12-year-old child and a division of community property she says is worth $50,000.

MEXICAN ACTRESS ARRIVES FOR FILMS

Senora Virginia Fabregas

Senora Virginia Febregas, for thirty-five years known throughout Spanish-speaking countries as one of the greatest contemporary tragediennes, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from Nogales, Sonora. She comes under contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to play the roles of Marie Dressler in Spanish versions of pictures.

Senora Fabregas was greeted on her arrival by members of the local Spanish-speaking press and by artists of the studios. She was made guest of honor at a luncheon party prior to being escorted to the Roosevelt in Hollywood where she is making her temporary quarters.

The tragedienne was decorated by the French government and by the Academie D'Arts for her performances. She owns and operates her own theater in Mexico City. She plans to make her permanent home in Southern California following her retirement, she said.

Christmas Seal Sales to Aid Plague Fight

An outline of the work financed from money received from the sale of Christmas seals was given by Miss Sidney M. Maguire, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association, which is conducting its annual Christmas seal campaign.

She stated that although tuberculosis has been reduced tremendously in California the last ten years yet it remains the chief cause of death between the ages of 15 and 44 years. Industrial service, sanitary inspections, the maintainance of clinics and studies, are all financed from money received through the sale of the Christmas seals.

JAIL RECORDS DISPUTE ARRESTING OFFICERS

Joseph Cooper, 22 years of age, was arrested in Pershing Square by Police Officers Huston and Welton, who reported that he had been loafing there daily for at least two weeks. Judge Curtis found that Cooper had been released from jail, where he had served thirty days on a petty theft conviction, only four days before his arrest for vagrancy and ordered the charge dismissed.

EXTORTION PLOT CHARGED TO SON

Boy in Asserted Conspiracy Against Mother Jailed

Said to Have Threatened Harm to Sister

Arrest Follows Capture of Purported Accomplice

Accused of a plot to extort money from his own mother, in which threats were made to harm his sister unless the money were forthcoming, Frank Biffer, 43 years of age, was taken into custody in San Francisco yesterday on the request of Detective Lieutenants Torres, Clark and Romero of the Los Angeles police homicide squad.

CONFESSION REPORTED

Biffer's arrest was the result of the seizure here Saturday of Elmer Floyd, alias Tom Walker, 20 years of age, who, according to the detectives, ended a three hours' interrogation by admitting he had connived with the son to extort money from Mrs. Katherine Biffer, 80 years of age, of 1253 West Fifth street.

The case was first investigated by police on the 2nd inst., when Mrs. Biffer reported she had received threats over the telephone. On the day following she received another call and was told that unless she gave $200 to a messenger to be sent, her daughter, Mrs. Anne Roessler residing in Berkeley, would be harmed. The speaker said he was a member of a gang who "meant business."

MESSENGER TRAILED

Saturday afternoon a messenger boy, Orville Bradden, called at Mrs. Biffer's home. The detectives, who had been waiting, gave him a package supposed to have contained the money demanded. Trailed by the detectives he was seen to meet Floyd near Mrs. Biffer's home. Floyd's arrest followed immediately. The messenger boy was exonerated from any part in the plot.

Biffer, in jail at San Francisco, said the charges were the result of a "family feud." He denied knowledge of the reported extortion or of Walker, who was arrested here. He said he was forced to leave the family home because of rivalry over who was to share in the family estate. He said he was a mechanic in Fresno until recently.

DEPUTY SHERIFF FINDS HIS FATHER AFTER LONG HUNT

Discovery of his father, whom he had sought for years, was announced yesterday by Paul A. Chaillie, deputy sheriff assigned to Department Thirty-three, Superior Court.

"All my thirty one years, I haven't known my father or whether he was alive," he explained. "Shortly after I was born in 1899 at Hopkins, Mo., my parents separated, my mother taking me away. She died in 1921. I came to Los Angeles in 1922. Since my youth I have been trying to locate my father, who had moved to Nebraska.

"Recently, I met a schoolmate of my mother's, who told me my father's brother, William Boyd, lives in Hopkins. I wrote him and he replied that my father, Alfred Chaillie, lives in St. Joseph, Mo. I wrote to my father, who replied that he had married three times all told, and had a son by each union, one of them having a child.

"I'm going to visit them on my vacation."

Chaillie was one of the deputies who seized and arrested Frank D. Keaton immediately after the slaying of Motley Flint in Superior Judge Collier's court.

WILLIAM E. ATTWOOD RITES SET FOR TODAY

Funeral rites will be conducted at 1 p.m. today in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, for William E. Attwood, 21 years of age, son of Dr. W. G. Attwood of 3412 Glenhurst avenue. Young Mr. Attwood was a graduate of Glendale High School. He leaves his parents, one brother, John, and one sister, Opal.

EDUCATION PROBLEMS ON AGENDA

Three-Day Session Will be Started Today by State Commission of Inquiry

Junior colleges, school laws, school costs and the training of teachers, are among the problems which will be up for final consideration at the three-day executive session of the State Lay Commission on Public School Problems in the Governor's office, at Los Angeles today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

The commission has concluded its hearings on school problems which have occupied sixteen three-day sessions at San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento during the past year, and at which more than 100 parents, public officials, school-teachers and employers have been questioned.

This session and possibly another three-day session will be conducted behind closed doors, as they will be devoted entirely to discussion and adoption of important sections of the commission's report, which is to be off the press this month in time for presentation to the Governor and Legislature. Twenty-seven outstanding school problems will be included.

Board Approves Bus Rerouting in Venice Area

Rerouting of the bus lines of the Bay Cities Transit Company in the Venice area, requested by the company, has been approved by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation so that the Venice-San Fernando line will operate along Second avenue to Venice Way, to Windward avenue to the Speedway, to Pier avenue and the rest as at present.

The Sawtelle-Venice line is to be routed along the Speedway to Windward avenue, to Second avenue to Venice Way, to Windward avenue to the Speedway.

The Lincoln Boulevard line is to operate on Venice Way, to Windward avenue, to Second avenue, to Venice Way and then to Washington Boulevard.

The Wakgrove avenue line will operate on Venice Way to Windward avenue, and to Riviera.

The Penmar avenue line will operate similarly, except it will run from Riviera to Westminster.

A bus terminal and depot is to be placed at the north side of Venice Way, between Pacific and Second avenues.

LEVY MAP APPROVED

The assessment district map for the sewering of streets in the Center-street district has been approved by the City Council.

SHRINERS' CHILDREN TO FROLIC

Second Annual Christmas Party Will Be Given Them Next Saturday Night

Four thousand children, whose fathers are members of Al Malaikah Temple, will assemble about a giant Christmas tree in the ballroom of the Shrine Auditorium Saturday night, and with encouragement provided by a vast assortment of presents, gallons of ice cream and dozens of clowns, enjoy the second annual Christmas party.

G. E. Nagel, who headed the successful party a year ago, is chairman of this year's event. Together with Potentate Fred J. Wadley, Jr., he spent most of last week completing details of the entertainment, which is expected by its promoters to be the largest fraternal organization children's party ever attempted.

A colorful parade headed by Al Malaikah Band, chanters and patrol will be a feature. There also will be dancing.

PROTESTS SUSTAINED

Protests against the establishment of a used material yard in Fletcher Drive near Larga avenue have been sustained by the City Council and the application of Jesse H. Paler denied.

Today's Bible Text

He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son.—Rev. xxi:7.

KISSLESS

If every person in the country were to refrain from kissing for a decade, the tuberculosis death rate would be halved, says an expert. And if some of the movie kisses were halved, audiences would not have an insane desire to quarter the stars.

UNLIMITED

Even the railways are going into the gents furnishing business. The Burlington system is laying in a stock of pajamas on its crack trains to sell to absent-minded travelers. The modern limited is fast becoming unlimited like the corner drug store.

INTELLIGENCE REWARDED

Towns of Spain where public instruction is not up to standard are denied the privilege of having bullfights. Evidently none but the most highly cultured can appreciate the niceties of a game where a bull gores the stomach of a matador. You have to be educated up to some things.

NEW NAMES, OLD TYPES

Scientists are now classifying people according to their chemical constituents and affinities. As Edison and Mussolini are cited as "calcium types" it is to be inferred that this is merely another way of saying "a calcium type is a man who has backbone." Or perhaps "who enjoys the spot light."

BUGHOUSE BABIES

Eliminate mental-infant drivers and you will abolish most of the accidents, shouts a professor over at the university. These infant minds that constitute but 5 per cent of men at the wheel furnish 90 per cent of the accidents. They should be chauffeuring baby buggies.

SARTORIAL STANDARDS

Evidently the standard of living, about which there is now such a controversy waged in this country, is rising in other countries, too. The second-hand clothing business, which American dealers found so profitable in India, South Africa, Egypt and Syria, has decreased 50 per cent in the last year.

SOOTHSAYERS

We are discovering a great many things today about trees which we never knew before; maybe in time we will find that they are really our best weather prophets. A Pasadena man declares he has found enough conclusive data in the rings in tree trunks to convince him there is direct connection between their placement and rainy seasons.

PROOF

Approximately 2,574,000 persons hold operators' licenses to drive automobiles in California. There are 139,664 in addition who have chauffeurs' licenses, making a total of 2,713,664 legal drivers in the State.

Of these, 72 per cent is made up of men and 28 per cent, women. Male drivers cause 85 per cent of the accidents and female drivers 12 per cent. That is, 72 per cent of the drivers produces 85 per cent of the accidents and the other 28 per cent is responsible for only 12 per cent of highway trouble.

Everybody, from Walt Wallet up or down, accuses women of being tempermental on the big road. Women come down the middle of the pavement accustomed to having the right of way in traffic in the parlor. They saunter along slowly for a moment and when conversation becomes heated, the car speeds up accordingly. Cars twist in and out according to the whim of the persons at the wheel. Some say that the large number of men who grow gray, get that way behind female drivers.

However, the percentages appear to give the woman the best of it. Admission must be made that men drive more than women and use their license more, so their liability is greater. Whether this is sufficient to neutralize the margin of safety in favor of women or not, it is difficult to determine.

At least man has to take the back seat and acknowledge that his wife does not break up the car and destroy life as much as he does. All this proves conclusively that it is difficult to prove anything.

STATE OF THE NAVY

Friends of the Sunnyvale site for the west-coast dirigible base who have been asserting that Secretary of the Navy Adams would recommend Sunnyvale in his annual report, switching from Camp Kearny, which he recommended last year, were disappointed when the report was filed with President Hoover. No choice was indicated, which appears to leave the Secretary of Navy still for the Camp Kearny site. His recommendation last year was based on the unanimous opinion of the Navy General Board, and that board, it may be said, has not changed its opinions.

"It is expected," the report says, "that the ZRS-4 (U.S.S. Akron) will be ready for delivery about June, 1931. The Navy Department has a contract for the construction of the second airship, the ZRS-5. In order to permit these vessels to operate with either fleet, it is considered important that the selection of the site for the west-coast airship base be made by Congress at an early date, and construction of the necessary facilities be pushed vigorously. This base is considered essential, regardless of the total number of lighter-than-air craft operated by the Navy."

The report contains no other reference to the base site, but he asked for the Navy a larger enlisted personnel, more prompt promotion for officers, and better pay for officers. The pay of officers, he pointed out, is only 11 per cent higher than in 1908, though the cost of living has more than doubled since that time. There is no doubt of the justice of his contention that the officers are underpaid, and that many of them remain in the service at heavy sacrifice. These highly technical posts cannot be filled easily. Reduction of the size of the Navy through the London treaty makes it essential that what remains be highly efficient in training and morale, and adequate pay is an aid to the latter.

The Secretary asks appropriations to modernize the battleships New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho, and replacement of worn-out submarines, as well as maintenance of the air-fighting force. He calls attention also to the age of the destroyers and need for more aircraft carriers. All are recommendations which will receive popular approval.

Aside from destroyers and submarines, the material condition of the fleet is generally good, the Secretary said. The health of the men has been excellent and a distinct improvement in this respect is noted in the last year. Deaths from all causes averaged 3.36 per 1000, a very low rate.

The Secretary urges the passage of a pending House bill giving better protection to the naval oil reserves, from drainage by drilling on adjoining lands, and to extend protection to oil-shale lands. The legislation, he declares, is urgently needed.

Marine Corps forces are still on duty, the report reveals, in Nicaragua, China and Haiti. In Nicaragua the force has been twice reduced since the last report, and at the close of the fiscal year was 965 officers and men, excluding 208 officers and men on duty with the Nicaragua National Guard. Since the last reduction there has been some increase in banditry, the report says, but the situation has been successfully handled by the National Guard. There are sixty-three officers and 1145 enlisted men in China. The Haitian force still consists of the First Brigade, with a strength of about 900.

"There are more navy yards on the east coast than can be economically maintained," the report remarks laconically, without comment on the fact. Previous secretaries have urged the abandondment of various navy yards, but political influence has always kept them in commission and no doubt Secretary Adams is wise in merely calling attention to the state of affairs and wasting no breath on recommendations.

On the whole, the state of the Navy as disclosed by Secretary Adams gives the country little to worry about. The Navy is on the job.

HAVE A HEART

The motor cop runs us over to the curb and yelps, "Who do you think you are?" He is never there when you want him, and when you are jogging along at forty per, he is omnipresent and suddenly sirens into the silence.

In these days of vicious hold-ups and many murders, it may not be popular to praise the police. But several recent episodes offer opportunity.

When an officer can be suddenly awakened in the early morning by two bandits quarreling over the swag in the street in front of his home and he suddenly sallies forth to get them both single-handed, acquiring a scalp bullet wound in the process, there is considerable to say. The doughboy going over the top at the zero hour is equalled in courage only by the police officer protecting the sleeping community. His bravery is seldom rewarded. It is expected of him. It is part of his job.

When another policeman in an outside community refused promotion because it would separate him from his horse, he rejected the rise. He couldn't part from his mount! Officers may bark at unpleasant citizens; but they are human.

We tell our troubles to the policeman and the preacher and expect them to work miracles. We demand what our own cowardice refuses. We exact of the man on his beat what we will not go across the street to do on a rainy election day—to help curb crime. And often the citizen who yowls the loudest is guilty of the least patriotism.

The police are hard put these days and nights to round up Chicago's underworld. It is not easy for the officer to convince the gangster that Southern California is not a health resort for criminals. We have roared so much about our climate, that it will take considerable skill to shoot it into him.

There may be scalawags on the police force; but there are also occasional pettifoggers in the law, betrayers in the ministry, and quacks among doctors. The cops are not all angel faces.

But here's a good word for the man on his beat! He also has a Police Commission to worry over!

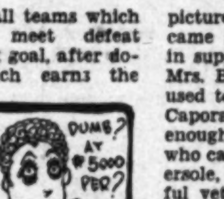
DOGS AS BULLS

George Bryant of Shelbyville, Ky., saw his hunting dog skurry under a culvert and bark furiously. He dived in after it and retrieved five steel safety boxes with $3500 in bonds lately stolen from the Leipsig (Ind.) bank. That dog ought to be imported into Los Angeles and set upon the scent of various caches of cash from some of our own financial institutions. "Bulls" do not seem to touch dogs in finding things.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

HOW many football teams which deserve victory meet defeat through failure to kick goal, after doing all the work which earns the chance.



DUMB? AT $5000 PER?

And now many men there are who are just like that in everyday life.

Every day ability which can fight through opposition and score meets defeat because its possessor lacks the thoroughness to learn how to "convert" that score into its maximum.

Every day we meet Angelenos who have won notable success and others with equal ability who have not. The latter admit they have equal ability. Indeed, they often admit they have vastly more ability and intimate that the world is all wrong because they aren't wearing the other fellows' laurels.

That is particularly true of movie actors. It is the treasured idea of countless thousands who envy them that most motion-picture stars are dumb-bells.

We have met most of the more famous stars and haven't met a dumb-bell yet. Most of them are ingenuous in some ways, but so is Einstein. We doubt that there is a single celebrity in Movieland who is not genuinely gifted.

And the great ability most of them have lies in the courage and carry-on stamina which enables them to "kick goal" after they have bucked the line from extradom to the portals of stardom.

Youth's Limitations

A couple of years ago a lot of efficiency-expert guided employers were declining to employ men older than 35. That may be one of the things which caused the depression. The reason a man under 35 years of age is barred from the Presidency of the United States or one under 30 cannot be elected to the Senate is that the wise builders of our government knew the average man is only beginning to get a little sense at 30.

CALL FOR MISTER FAWCETT!

Motion-picture producers often are accused of stupidity, but we must give them credit for realizing the value of experience and training when it comes to pleasing that great public they must please in order to prosper. When you see such actors as George Fawcett and Joseph Cawthorn gaily freelancing in Hollywood, starting brand new jobs at an age when men used to think they were doomed to retirement and carpet slippers, you realize youth's limitations.

George Arliss is in the very height of his success and Otis Skinner seems as good in the new screen version of "Kismet" as he was when we saw the stage version twenty years ago. Jimmie Gleason never was as good as he is now and Edmund Breese, who used to play leading roles with Mme. Rhea, James O'Neil and Ada Rehan, is firmly established as a character actor in pictures. Lawrence Grant, who became known as an actor in London in support of Mrs. Lewis Waller and Mrs. Brown-Potter (whose pictures used to be given away with Sweet Caporal cigarettes before we were old enough to smoke a cigarette) and who came to America with Olga Nethersole, is another, and other successful veterans are too numerous to mention. Will Rogers, Lucile Webster Gleason, Mrs. Mary Forbes, Lewis Stone, John Barrymore, Noah Beery, Ernest Torrence, Beryl Mercer, Louise Dresser, Marie Dressler and Robert Edeson are only a few of them. They are not pensioners, as many of them are unattached, working here, there and yonder. They do not hold "government jobs," as the jobs made for relatives of studio magnates are called in studio parlance. They simply know how to do some things so well that they are continually in demand.

When Kitty Keen Grew Sharp

People back East are so ready to believe anything of Hollywood's precocious children that we hasten to explain that it was through a typographical error the following appeared in Kitty Keen's column of Christmas suggestions (which our helpspend studies every day with alarming assiduity):

For Little Folks

John's Pipe Shop

Joshua Little Says

"Einstein's Daughter Weds." Well, if she's like the average wife, she'll have some theories of her own which are harder to understand than her dad's.

"King Carol to Wed, Says Report." Funny it wasn't he, instead of Queen Marie, who came over and coquetted with the movies.

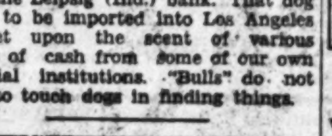
The King of Siam requests films without theme songs. Every now and then we have to admit that those people are smarter than we are in some ways, after all.

"Plea Made for Talkies in State Institutions." We've heard quite a few which would add materially to the terrors of San Quentin and still more which seemed especially designed to entertain the feeble-minded.

Footpads better look out, or they'll soon get so thick they'll be continually holding each other up by mistake.

"Dyott to Lead Expedition to Unexplored Jungles of Brazil." Now the cannibals may learn the latest American ideas on eating for health. He may have them Dyotting in no time.

Ourville is only a small suburb, but it has 10,000 important business concerns in it—that is, 1000 serious concerns for each business.



SURRENDER

By James J. Montague

Dr. Einstein says that he doesn't know whether the hen or the egg came first.

I have long labored over a puzzle
Which I never could quite figure out,
The more I was fraught with rough, mind-racking thought
The more I was plunged in doubt.
I pondered and pondered the problem
Till I thought my brain cells would burst,
But no sage of my day, I discovered, could say
If the hen or the egg arrived first.

This mystery sorely perplexed me,
My head I would futilely scratch,
"If the hen led the way to this life," I would say,
"From what could she possibly hatch?"
And there still was another grave problem
My fast waning reason to plague:
"If the hen wasn't here in Creation's first year
The question is WHAT laid the egg?"

And then I was told about Einstein
And the means he has found to explain
The things which take place in the regions of space
Which have heretofore baffled the brain.
So I read all the works he has written
In the hope that therein might be
Some passages found which perhaps might expound
The hen-or-egg mix-up to me.

But the Doctor now calmly announces
That no one will ever succeed,
In the world's whole career, to make perfectly clear,
If the egg or the hen had the lead.
And if HE cannot dig up an answer
The problem I'll lay on the shelf,
No more I shall grope through illusions of hope
For I can't work it out by myself.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

"RACKETEERS"

[London Economist]

There is an element in American life which could cleanse American cities if it chose, and that is big business. Even without the backing of any overwhelming civic spirit it would be strong enough to have its way. Not that business interests tolerate racketeering as such. No doubt they would welcome its complete suppression. The powerful men of American cities as a rule are enemies of prohibition, and are fighting it in the hope that bootlegging and open lawlessness will go with it. In the long run they have everything to lose and little to gain by an undermining of the respect for law in a whole generation of Americans. But these men do stand to benefit from weak city administrations. This was true a generation ago, it is even more true today, when the development and expansion of American cities is an almost incalculable source of wealth. Honest municipal bodies are always haggling over franchises, questioning corporation privileges, delaying public work. In a city like New York, where the Board of Aldermen could not command a high grade of membership, these corporations would be hampered not only by honest delays, but by innumerable attempts at petty blackmail. In a word, the present kind of administrations can be more easily handled. They are expensive to the taxpayer, increasing the cost of public works by 1, 2, or even 5 per cent. But in the main the community gets its work done expeditiously and well. If the system did not pay, big business would brush it away.

It is against a background of such problems that an Al Capone plays his role of picturesque banditry and a Jack Diamond can astound the world. But they are really creatures of the background, nor can the background be changed by an open war with them and their kind. The next generation will read about them as an exciting but closed chapter of American development. By then American-born children of foreign parents will have been assimilated; by then, too, the problem of prohibition will have been long ago solved. A wholesome public spirit will be possible, dominating civic affairs. Time may not be the only reformer to have his say in improving American cities, but he looks to be the only reliable one.

INJUNCTIONS AGAINST RACKETEERS

[Chicago Tribune]

The former head of a local union has resorted to injunction proceedings to restore him to office. He was shot out of it by gangsters who took over the union as a racket. The latter are now in jail and the ousted union official considers it safe for the time being to appeal to a court of equity in his own behalf.

Perhaps a court of equity can give him a protection the criminal court was not able to provide. Time will tell. Meanwhile we suggest that any measure for the limitation of injunctions to be passed by Congress or the legislatures of States shall be formulated so as not to prevent or improperly restrict this use against racketeers.

THE WASHINGTON WASH

BY STRICKLAND GILLILAN

Just to show you what sort of publicity is for some reason squelched and suppressed by the White House, here is an incident I daren't print at all, though it is true:

A Middle West editor brought his 11-year-old son to call on the President. A friend introduced the young lad to Mr. Hoover by saying:

"Mr. President, this boy thinks he'd like to follow in his father's footsteps and be an editor some day."

Turning aside from the others and forgetting about them, Mr. Hoover said:

"An editor, eh? Well, do you want to know what I wanted to be when I was your age? I wanted to a railroad engineer and run trains—"

The President continued an enthusiastic expose of his own boyhood dreams and the Middle West editor's boy had his great moment that will live with him forever. But could a word of this go out? No, indeed.

Yet you see, yourself, that it would be mighty good reading if we were allowed to print it.

Senator Norris is out for the championship as a threatener. He gets a hammer and stands in front of the mirror, threatening to throw it if he doesn't get his own way. He threatens to go out in the back yard and eat a whole lot of the woollest worms he can find, and then put beans up his nose. He reminds one of Desperate Ambrose in the comic strip. There seems to be a great fear among the rest of the Comic Characters lest George (not the grocer) bite himself and get rabies. So they are going to do everything he says and ask him, "Anything else, Georgie?" The House and the Senate are both ready to jump through fire hoops and balance rubber balls on their noses and swallow raw fish, whenever George asks them to. The rest of us may wish, before this Georgie Porgie orgy is through, that the sugar sander and prune puckerer of Broken Bow had actually got on the ticket and been elected.

The affectionate, clinging embrace of a couple taking advantage of a parked flivver and the shadow of the new Department of Commerce building on "the eclipse" (as the illiterate call the Ellipse,) often turns out to be a silver "spoon" in the mouth of the stickupist. The meanest thing about that form of robbery is that it betrays to the young lady who has just been fed with delusions of grandeur, the true financial status of the young man. It he be found "seized of" only about two dollars in small change he doesn't feel stuck up, even after he has been.

There are so few stories! Recently at Wardman Park one of the old residentaars who has reached not only his dotage, but his anecdotage, stopped me and said:

"Here's one you've never heard—you can work this up and use it: Young Louis Hill, son of Jim Hill, visited a Northern Pacific station where there was a crabbed old character in charge and asked, 'How is the road coming on?' 'Management's rotten,' said the crab. 'Guess you don't know who I am,' said Hill. 'Yes, I do. You're a son of Jim Hill, who was once president of this road, and soon will be again.' 'No, my father is dead.' 'Yep, I know it, and the road's goin' t' hell.'"

I laughed at the dear old Joe Miller museum piece and walked down the lobby to the railway folder racks, where I was given the come hither by another gentleman, who seated himself and began: "I just got hold of a good story about young George Gould—ever hear it?"

"Not about George Gould," I said.

"Well, George approached an old grouchy agent at one of the Missouri-Pacific stations and asked how things were going. The agent said, 'Management's rotten.' 'I guess you don't know who I am,' said George. 'Yes, I do,' said the agent. 'You're George Gould, son of Jay Gould, who was once president of this road and will be president again,' etc."

I had a tough time laughing, this time, but I made it. I left the building through the cellarway for fear somebody else would tell me that new one and I'd have no laugh left.

Yes, there are very few stories.

I have been rereading Clint Gilbert's "Mirrors of Washington" and laughing my head off. Not that the book is intrinsically funny, but to think that when it was written and printed it was considered so goshawful wicked the author's name must not go with it. The world has moved gutterward so far, since that time, that compared with really daring books "Mirrors of Washington," with its mercilessly photographic delineation of character, is a benediction by contrast with really abusive books as "Revelry," "The President's Daughter," "The Great Mistake" and other books that resulted when some conscientious scrivener washed his hands in the swill barrel, picked a piece of paper out of a ditch and dished the dirt. Gilbert was frank and accurate in his character reading, giving the good with the less good. These latter-day lads will look Apollo Belvedere over carefully, see none of his beauty, but devote a thick volume to an ingrowing toenail on that famous figure.

And if the book be dirty enough he can always find a publisher.

Supply and Demand

ARCADIA, Dec. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wish to congratulate you on your recent editorial and Mr. Gale's cartoon of Sunday's Times on the "Supply and Demand" situation as it applies to our government's purchase of wheat and starving China's dire need, I feel like calling on The Times to pioneer the cause of bringing about the consummation of this union. The Times was influential enough to start the Oratorical Contest on United States Constitution resulting so splendidly in worldwide contests among students of the world. Why cannot your great influence be used to bring about a similar success in uniting our wheat surplus and China's need? I assure you if you undertake it, you will have the backing of every right-thinking citizen of our country.

San Diego Slighted

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Southern California has most of the California population and the ratio increases.

Southern California is about to be deprived of the valuable protection of the dirigible along its Latin border. Sunnyvale is as far from the anchorage of the fleet as San Juan Capistrano is from you. And it is on the edge of the foggiest region one can find this side of London, Eng. Visibility usually poor!

Camp Kearny usually has perfect visibility—is a wide, level, practically unused tract of much smaller value. It is only about ten miles from the fleet anchorage. The dirigibles at Camp Kearny can get out and work and see what they are doing at least four days out of five more than around San Francisco Bay.

You whose interests are with Southern California, HELP!

A Radium Water Toast

GLENDALE, Dec. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The following, I think, would interest your regular contributor, Will Rogers. It comes from one of our salesmen who has just been working Claremore:

"They say advertising pays, and I suppose it does, but all the advertising that Will Rogers has done for Claremore has been a bust. It is as dead as Tombstone, Ariz., and that's saying something—still the radium water brings some people there seeking health. About half the doctors have quit and gone elsewhere. The few who remain seem to be fairly busy."

Stream on Peak's Top

Raratonga, the most fertile and most valuable of the Cook Islands, has the attraction of possessing one of the finest tropical climates in the world. The abundant but not excessive rains fall mostly during the warm season and the island is well watered. A unique feature of the island is a spring that gushes from the top of a peak nearly 2000 feet high, giving rise to the principal stream. The houses of the villages are built of coral whitewashed, with thatched roofs. Peeping from the rich green foliage, they add greatly to picturesqueness of the island as the observer steams along the coast.

PASTOR DECLARES GREED ALWAYS DEFEATS ITSELF

ishness of Lot Used to Point Sermon Stressing Importance of Spiritual Values

ing his sermon on the greed of Lot, in choosing for himself land in the fair country, which God gave the Israelites, B. DELAY IN ADVENT OF JESUS EXPLAINED

"In the Fullness of Time" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. J. George Dorn at Hollywood Lutheran Church. Dr. Dorn spoke in part as follows:

"The question often has been asked why Christ did not come sooner. Why were patriarchs, prophets, kings and believers of old left to experience the sickness of heart arising from hope long deferred? The world was surely in want of leadership. Surely Christ might have come 1000 years before! Evidently God had no near road to Bethlehem, no near cut in the accomplishment of the world's redemption. The world had to be led about in the desert of despair before it was ready to be brought to the King at Nazareth. The birth of Jesus, in the fullness of time, did not mark the beginning of the existence of the Son. The one lies far back in the depths of eternity and the mystery of God's eternal council, the other in a historical fact occuring in definite place and at a stated moment. Before time was, the Son was delighting Himself in the Father, for in the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God and the Word was God.' This is a mystery, it is true, but unless our faith lays hold of it, we know not the God whom Jesus came to reveal unto us. With this teaching stands or falls the Christian church. If He is not the Eternal Son, then He cannot be the Universal Savior of men!"

CHRISTIANITY'S RULE OF WORLD PREDICTED

"If the past is any criterion for judging the future, Christianity is destined to dominate the world," declared Dr. Bruce Brown in his sermon yesterday at South Park Christian Church.

"It took 1000 years to get the first 50,000,000 church members, but it took only 500 years to get the next 50,000,000," said Dr. Brown. "It took only 200 years (from 1500 to 1700) to win 50,000,000 more and only 100 years to win another 50,000,000. It took 1800 years to assemble 200,000,000 church members in all the world. The last century saw the most marvelous growth, when the total amounted to 500,000,000. In one century one and a half times as much was accomplished as in the previous eighteen centuries. The most encouraging thing of all is that during the last century legalism and formalism showed evidences of decay and the churches with the highest ethical standards made the greatest progress. At the beginning of the last century Christian nations governed 36 per cent of the population of the world and at the close 55 per cent. In 1600, Christian nations governed only 3,500,000 square miles of territory and non-Christian nations 45,500,000 square miles. During the century there was an astonishing change. In 1900, Christian nations ruled over 40,000,000 square miles and non-Christian nations less than 9,000,000."

OLD-TIME RELIGION SCORED BY MINISTER

"The Christian church will have to rewrite its description of God in terms the modern mind can understand," said Dr. Sheldon Shepard yesterday at First Universalist Church.

"The modern man can believe in God, but not in a piccayunish individual to be argued with, cajoled, teased and placated," said Dr. Shepard. "He can believe in God as Spirit, but not in any localized Deity, surveying the works. The modern mind can believe in God with characteristics of a Father, but not in an old man. We can believe in God as the Universal Father, but not in one who plays favorites or turns His back forever on any of his children. The terms of personality simply do not apply to Infinity. Whether or not there is a personal God is a question that does not arise. Infinity cannot be a person in the sense in which we understand personality.

"We can call the Creator Father because we are His children, because we partake of His life, because He has plans, love and regard for us, and because, receiving from Him all the gifts of life we thankfully accept them with love and adoration. Once let us establish these sensible ideas in the modern conception of God and men will be spared from the two barren deserts which flank on either side the rich plains of thoughtful, mature religion. The name of the one desert is 'old-time religion' and the name of the other is 'materialism.'"

CO-OPERATION URGED FOR ALL CHURCHES

"I believe that all churches should cultivate the habit of co-operating with one another, and uniting for the common good of man and the exaltation of God," said Rabbi E. F. Magnin in his sermon yesterday at Temple B'nai B'rith.

"Theologically and traditionally, religions may differ, but there is only one God and we all are His children, whatever may be our religious affirmations," said Dr. Magnin. "It is a privilege to be able to serve humanity. The greatest problem of the leader who endeavors to remain sincere is to find sufficient hours and energy to meet the demands of those who call upon him for assistance. Another problem is to withstand the temptation to cheapen and vulgarize oneself in the age of sensationalism and materialism. Humility also is a requisite. After all, most of us are dependent upon what we receive from others materially, intellectually and spiritually. I have always felt that what little I have been able to achieve has been the result of what others have enabled me to do and an infinitesimally small part of what I should like to have accomplished, considering my debt to humanity."

LESSON-SERMON GIVEN ON WORDS OF ISAIAH

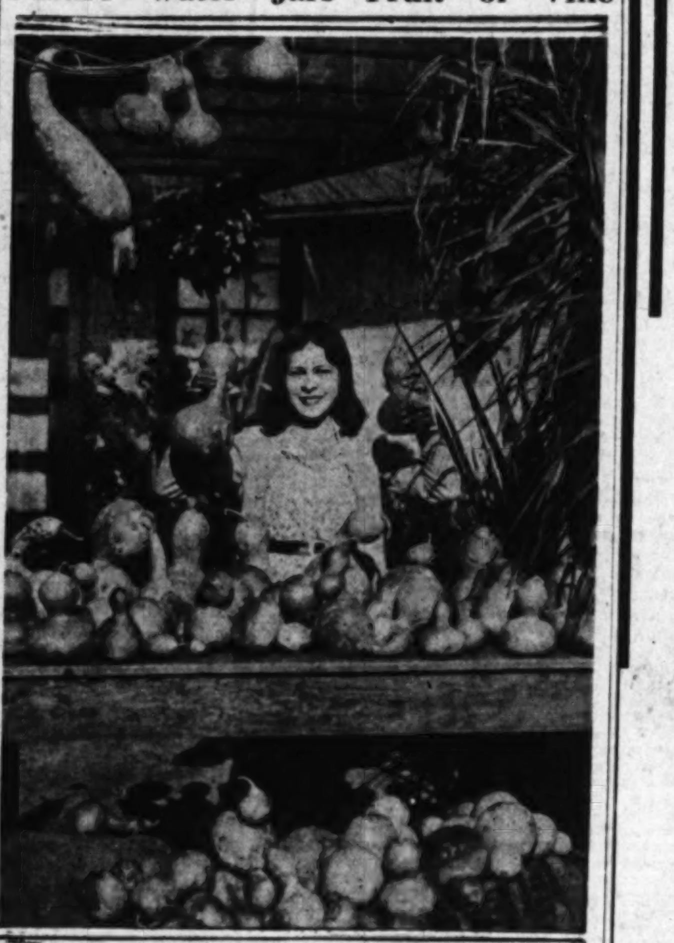
"God the Only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon yesterday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

The following words of Isaiah constituted one of the Scripture selections in the Lesson-Sermon: "Hast thou not known? Hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? There is no searching of His understanding. He giveth power to the faint, and to them that have no might He increaseth strength. Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall, but they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary, and they shall walk, and not faint."

A passage from the chapter, "Footsteps of Truth," in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Omnipotent and infinite Mind made all and includes all. This Mind does not make mistakes and subsequently correct them. God does not cause man to sin, to be sick, or to die."

GUAJE CROP GOES TO EL PASEO

Future Water Jars Fruit of Vine



Elisa Tinajero and Some of the Gourds

The guaje harvest is on at El Avila hacienda on El Paseo de Los Angeles. Hundreds and hundreds of them have been gathered there from the old adobe's own vines or have been brought from near-by rancheria. They are being made ready for display on this "Mexican street of yesterday in a city of today" as old Olvera street now is known.

They will find their way into early Californian, Mexican or Spanish decorative schemes either just as they are right off the vines or polished up a bit and maybe decorated uniquely and made into lamps, dippers, bird houses, candle holders, tobacco jars, water bottles and all sorts of convenient quaint containers.

A guaje, Senorita Elisa Tinajero explains, is a gourd.

REVENUE IN PLAYGROUND FEES DROP

Operating Finances for Year Reported to Mayor by Commissioners

Operating revenue of the Playground and Recreation Department for the present calendar year, including an estimate for the remainder of this month, totals $112,140.17, compared to $149,251.41 in 1929 and $128,621.93 in 1928, according to a comparative report filed with the Playground and Recreation Commission, which will be forwarded to Mayor Porter.

The report, additional to the one recently compiled for the fiscal year ending June 30, last, shows that revenue from the department's mountain camps fell off more than $12,000, while that from pools dropped approximately $32,000, due to their closing during the infantile paralysis precautions.

Revenue from the beaches showed an increase of $3000, while that from the Men's Club at 221 1-2 South Main street increased $500 over the year 1929. The total amount the department received this year was $739,945, approximately $13,000 less than for 1929.

Mission Forms Athletic Club

Formation of an athletic club as part of the work of the Midnight Mission and the signing of Al Treloar, director of athletics at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, to conduct the gymnasium classes, was announced yesterday. The need for an athletic department was expressed when a number of the guests of the mission asked permission to use the roof of the building for morning setting-up exercises.

Through Treloar the loan of gymnasium equipment was obtained and the first class of twenty-four members will begin today.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

Miss Margaret Louise Bayless of Tucson, Ariz., whose enaggement to Kingston Jay Smallhouse was announced last Wednesday, is returning at an early date to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart Bayless of Tucson, following a year in this city.

Announcement of the wedding date as January 10, 1931, was made at a bridge-luncheon in the home of Miss Bayless's cousin, Mrs. Gerald R. Knudson of Inglewood. The engagement was revealed through small cards in corsages of Cecile Brunner roses and violets.

Guests bidden to the luncheon were Mrs. Bayless, Mrs. Girard Allen of Los Angeles, sister of Mr. Smallhouse; Mrs. Ralph Lowe of South Pasadena, who is to assist the bride as matron of honor, and Mrs. Alvin Morrison of San Diego, who is also to be one of the bridal attendants.

Others invited were Miss Helen Spining of Eagle Rock, Miss Eleanor Donau, Mrs. Herndon Norris, Mrs. H. I. H. Holbrook and Mrs. Edward Adams of Los Angeles; Miss Katherine Sample of San Diego, Miss Theora Litt of Tucson, Mrs. Franklin Farman of Beverly Hills, Mrs. George E. Dodge of Pasadena and Mrs. James Lewis of Inglewood.

Among those who have entertained for the bride-to-be are Mrs. Charles Martin Spining of 2027 Chickasaw avenue, Dr. and Mrs. George McCutchen McBride of the U.C.L.A. faculty, who now live at 710 Via de la Paz, Pacific Palisades; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Knudson, 420 East Buckthorne avenue, Inglewood; Dr. and Mrs. George E. Dodge, 966 Topeka avenue, Pasadena, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Lowe, 1927 South Fremont avenue, South Pasadena.

The bride-elect and her mother are now the house guests of Mrs. Bayless's sister, Miss Louise Funston Shields, at 818 West Adams Boulevard.

Mr. Smallhouse is the son of Mrs. Charles Smallhouse of Los Angeles. He studied at the University of Arizona where his fiancee is an alumna and a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority. After the marriage he and his bride will live at San Bernardino, where he is manager of the San Bernardino branch of the American News Company.

Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Knoller of Venice embarked on a trip to San Francisco and Yosemite yesterday, in celebration of their silver wedding anniversary. While in San Francisco they will visit their daughter, Mrs. Harold Shenson.

Royal Coronation Ball

One of the brilliant social events of the winter season will be the Royal Coronation Ball to be given as a pre-Lenten affair under auspices of the Knights of Columbus of Southern California. The purpose of the affair is to stimulate public interest in the coming Olympic Games.

Angelenos prominent in civic and social life will serve on committees to select the king and queen to rule over the Kingdom of Olympia. Those appointed to choose the queen are Mrs. Albert Crutcher, Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy, Mrs. Louis S. Nordlinger, Mrs. Hancock Banning and Mrs. Charles S. Crail.

King Zeus, patron of the games, will be selected by a committee of representative business men including Mayor Porter, John C. Austin, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Harold C. Ferguson, president of the Los Angeles Realty Board, and William Lacy, head of the Community Chest.

Among a large group of women who are actively sponsoring the event are, Mrs. Edward Laurence Doheny, Mrs. Alfred J. Bayer and Mrs. Arnold Burkelman. The committee in charge, representing the Knights of Columbus, includes Edwin C. Boehler, president; D. Joseph Coyne, executive chairman; Judge Aggeler, Joseph Scott, William J. Walsh, Benno Brink, Gus H. Homer, John Schinner, Manuel S. Lopez, Jr., Matt Gallagher, Francis J. Callihan and Thomas A. Gould.

Opening Concert

Assisting Mrs. Cecil Frankel as hostess at the opening concert of the Biltmore series of the Bartlett-Frankel string quartet on Friday evening will be Mrs. Richard B. Fudger, Mrs. Albert L. Baganll, Mrs. J. M. Schneider, Mrs. Albert Griffith Bartlett, Mrs. George Leslie Smith, Mrs. George Benjamin Hull and Mrs. Charles Modini-Wood.

Benefit Affair

Iota Beta Phi, national sorority which has been inactive for two years, will celebrate its reorganization next Saturday with a bridge-tea at the Town House which will be given for the benefit of a hospital fund maintained by the organization.

Birthday Celebration

Capt. and Mrs. Patrick Kelly, 338 South Harcourt avenue, entertained recently with a dinner-dance at the Pacific Coast Club, Long Beach, in celebration of Capt. Kelly's birthday anniversary. Covers were laid for Col. Yates, Col. and Mrs. Olney Place, Maj. and Mrs. L. McMillan, Capt. and Mrs. A. Falcn, Capt. and Mrs. G. Bertchey, Capt. and Mrs. David Loring, Mrs. G. Chambliss, Miss J. Schuman of Pasadena, Miss Alfreda Kerwin, Lionel Davis of Santa Monica, Miss Sue Nichols and G. Daniels.

Formal Initiation

Last Saturday evening the Misses Mary Brown, Mildred Schue, Sarah Major, Lyndell Read, Esther Gamblin, Emily Axtel and Dorothy Lum were formally initiated into Alpha chapter of Delta Phi Upsilon, national honorary kindergarten primary sorority of Broadoaks Teachers' College. The ceremony took place at the home of Miss C. Packard, 2031 Berkshire avenue, South Pasadena, and was followed by a banquet at La Ramada Inn.

Interesting Event

The Southern California Chapter of the Mayflower Club held its annual banquet at the Chapman Park Hotel last Friday. Seventy guests attended.

Orra E. Monnette, regent and deputy governor of the State society, presided. Judge Thompson spoke on the Constitution of the United States and Mrs. S. Ives Wallace gave a report on the society's congress at Plymouth, September 2, last.

The event was held in commemoration of the signing of the "compact" on the Mayflower, November 21, 1620.

A roll call was taken of the members who bear the names of their Pilgrim ancestors.

Arthur C. Davis, retiring regent, presented a miniature model of the Mayflower to the organization.

The long U-shaped tables were adorned with poinsettias and Christmas decorations.

Officers of the organization include Mrs. Fredsrick Bentel, vice-regent; Mrs. E. V. Lathan, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. C. F. Quillian, recording secretary.

Pre-Christmas Affair

Numerous luncheon parties are scheduled for the holiday season fashion show at the Women's Athletic Club Wednesday, the 17th inst. While under rules of the club parties are limited to eight to a table, larger combination luncheons were arranged by making adjacent table reservations for different hostesses. For instance, a group of four individual luncheon parties will occupy adjoining tables, the hostesses being Miss Fannie E. Splatey, Miss Edith Bates, Mrs. W. O. Anderson and Mrs. Vallery Brown. Among other hostesses on fashion show day will be Mrs. S. W. Davey, Mrs. Z. K. Duke, Mrs. Nina B. Moss, Miss Ellen Hartley, Mrs. M. O. McCray, Mrs. H. H. Houghton, Mrs. Anna L. Porterfield, Mrs. Alexander Barret, Miss Lena Morgan, Mrs. Gertrude Childs Huntington, Mrs. C. K. Seymour, Mrs. M. Hamburger, Judge Georgia Bullock, Mrs. Helen Baker, Mrs. C. B. Jones and Mrs. F. K. Armstrong.

Japan's rubber industry is now making the greatest progress of any in the country.

LUNCHEON ANNOUNCES TROTH

Bride-to-Be Graduate of Marlborough

[Curtis Biltmore studios]

Miss Miriam Reid

TINY marriage licenses, naming the 17th inst., as the date, announced the betrothal of Miss Miriam Reid, and Edward Lindsay Redman, at the smartly appointed luncheon given by Mrs. Fred Schader, at the University Club, recently. Miss Reid, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry Reid of 8349 West Fourth street, was graduated from Marlborough School. Mr. Redman, a brother of the hostess, was graduated from Manual Arts High School, later attending the University of California, where he was affiliated with Phi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

Humanism to Be Debate Topic

With humanism as it affects religion to be discussed in the light of modern opinion, modernists, scholars, educators, ministers of all creeds and students of universities and colleges are expected to attend the symposium-debate at the Wilshire-Ebell Theater tonight.

The forensics will present Rabbi Herman Lissauer, head of the Jewish Institute Forum, under the auspices of which the contest is arranged, and Rev. Ernest Caldecott, minister-in-charge, First Unitarian Church, opposing Prof. Frederic P. Woellner of the University of California at Los Angeles, and Rabbi Julius Leibert of Temple Emanu-El in arguing the general subject, "Resolved: That Theism Must Give Way to Humanism."

The humanistic will be presented by Rabbi Lissauer and Mr. Caldecott, while the theistic principal will be supported by Prof. Woellner and Rabbi Leibert. The debate is the second event of the 1930-31 educational program of the Jewish Institute. Since the affair is as much an educational symposium as a debate, no decision will be rendered.

CRUSADERS TO OUTLINE ANTIDRY CAMPAIGN

Plans for expansion of the Crusaders, an antiprohibition organization, to all communities of Southern California will be laid at a meeting of its officers tomorrow at the California Club, John P. Crutcher, Crutcher announces. They will discuss also plans for a national protest demonstration comprising radio talks, mass meetings and educational advertising messages on January 16, the tenth anniversary of constitutional prohibition.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (Exclusive) Side by side in happy contentment, the short and the long evening wraps hold sway, each undisputed in its own field. There is a verve, a youthfulness and a flippant charm about the little jacket or bolero. There is a grace, dignity and allure about the long wrap. The same woman will find occasions and moods for both, in furs or fabrics. One New York furrier of great prestige and no little chic will present some models in snowy ermine, fitted to the waist with a flaring ruffle-like section set on around the waist, standing out full, to about the hips. Important collars prevail. A brilliant long wrap is made especially for resort wear as it is in the thinnest of lames, chiffon weight, with a diaphanous texture. The loose sleeves have jagged edging. Circling them at about the elbow are great bands of sable-dyed fox. A long, beautifully fitted dress of the same fabric makes this one of the season's most arresting ensembles.

A boon which will be appreciated by women of a theatergoing turn of mind is an evening hat of tulle; it has a stitched parting in the center and is plaited down the sides so that it has something of the contour of the hair. There is ruching in the back, giving a soft line at the nape. And while I am on the subject of evening costumes, let me remind you once more of the importance of rubies for costume jewelry. They gleam darkly on costumes of any hue; slippers and bags often match them.

Hats

A New York specialty store, known for its chic, is having an enormous success with a brown antelope skull cap. It is demurely trimmed with a feather fancy, otherwise it is the plainest of the plain. Stitching is important now and will be tremendously so in the organdie, linen and allied resort hats. Talbot, especially, covers a new version of her last year's wide hat (with the ridge down the back of the brim) with stitching contrasting in color the body of the hat. Camellias are much spoken of as trimming for occasional ultra-feminine evening dresses. Their coloring is one of the indefinite but important notes in the range of off and near-whites.

By Way of Novelty

If you've ever tied yourself in horrid knots trying to powder the back of your neck and arms, you will appreciate the brain wave of the person (we suspect it must have been a woman,) who evolved the powder atomizer. It is a charming bottle; would do credit to any dressing table. The bulb is just like the bulb of a perfume atomizer, but the aperture through which the contents are ejected is a slit rather than the pin hole your perfume sprays through. This ingenious device will spray you evenly with powder. But be careful not to spray your favorite black gown by mistake!

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

HOW MUCH FOOD SHOULD THE CHILD CONSUME?

This is an age in which mothers demand definite instructions about everything. In addition to knowing exactly what foods to feed the child, they want to know "how much of each food?" One of our faithful mother readers bemoans the fact that no authority gives this information. "For weeks and months I have looked for an article of general interest to mothers, which I may have missed, though I doubt it," writes Mrs. G. B. S. "A great deal is written about foods, its kind and preparation. But what I want to know from someone in authority is: How much? We all know that babies up to 1 year of age have so many ounces, so many tablespoons, so many drops, but after that we are left to flounder for ourselves. I think nine-tenths of the mothers expect their offsprings to eat too much. I feel sure that was my trouble when my child used to vomit part of her meals.

"Won't you please, Mrs. Eldred, write out how much cereal should be consumed with the morning orange juice and glass of milk, how many vegetables at noon, how much soup for a child of three or four? I would also like to know about chocolate and cocoa for children."

APPETITE ONLY GUIDE

My answer will be a cruel disappointment I know, for there is no such information as that possible. A child's appetite, his desire for what is before him, is the only measure of how much he will eat. It is a bigger mistake, in the main, to force too much food on a child than to give too little. With small portions the child will demand more if he wants it. With large portions, he leaves regularly some of each meal and probably eats more than he wants, with a consequent loss of appetite and interest in his meals.

Some mothers have told me that their children eat one cup of cooked cereal twice daily, which is an amount I would find impossible to consume myself. I feel that four tablespoons of cereal is a moderate serving, and two tablespoons of each of the two vegetables. Give more if the child wants it.

If a child takes both soup and milk at noon, then one-half cup of soup with two tablespoons of the sieved vegetables is enough. Of course if he desires more, give it to him. Chocolate is not advisable in the small child's diet. Cocoa, weak cocoa, may be used occasionally as a means of varying the flavor of the inevitable cup of milk.

AVOID TABLE BATTLE

It is quite true that mothers expect their children to consume quantities of food, and there is a battle at countless tables if any part of the servings is left. If the child regularly leaves some of his cereal or vegetable or any other of regular portions, cut down the amount served him. Then he finished his portion with relish and has an eagerness for more.

And too, there are always days when a child doesn't want certain foods. He is subject to the same appetite cravings as an adult. If no fuss is made over it, the child will accept the spurned food the next time.

Mrs. T. A. T.: We have several times offered a leaflet on "How to Dress Children in Winter," and you may have this for just a self-addressed and stamped envelope and a request for it. The little girl certainly is a husky, she is almost a 3-year-old weight. I'm so glad you enjoy the column so much.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

COCOANUT CREAM PIE

Mix one-half cupful of sugar, with two-thirds of a cupful of flour and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, place it in the top of a double boiler and slowly stir in two cupfuls of milk, and stir and cook until thick and smooth. Add the well-beaten yolks of three eggs, stirring them in a little at a time, and half a cupful of shredded cocoanut. Allow to cook for one minute, but do not allow to boil. Remove from the fire and stir in one tablespoonful of butter and one tablespoonful of orange juice. Pour the mixture into a baked pie shell, cover with a meringue, sprinkle heavily with cocoanut and brown in a very slow oven.

ROQUEFORT SALAD

Rub two-thirds of a cupful of Roquefort cheese to a cream, then rub into it one tablespoonful of butter; roll it into six even-sized balls, peel, and chill six tomatoes, and remove the seeds, place a cheese ball in the center of each tomato; cover with a mixture of chopped tender celery, adding to it an equal amount of finely chopped green peppers, place the tomatoes on lettuce-covered plates, pour over them a small amount of lemon French dressing and serve very cold.

EGYPTIAN MEAT PIE

Line a baking dish with a rich crust, chop fairly fine a half-pound of calves' liver, and half a pound of fresh pork, add one cupful of mushrooms that have been cut in small pieces, one grated onion, and one chopped green pepper, mix all the ingredients together, season with salt and paprika. Place the mixture in a baking dish and pour over it half a cupful of melted butter, a tablespoonful of chutney syrup, one tablespoonful of ketchup, then lightly dredge with flour. Place a top crust on the pie, place in a moderate oven and bake from thirty to forty minutes.

ORANGE SPONGE CAKE

Beat the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth, and beat into them the yolks of three eggs, one yolk at a time, and beat well after the addition of each yolk; then beat in seven-eighths of a cupful of sugar, adding it a little at a time and beat until the mixture is light and creamy. Add one tablespoonful of grated orange rind and one-third of a cupful of strained orange juice. Fold in one and a third cupfuls of sifted flour that has been sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Place the batter in an oblong baking pan, and bake in a moderate oven. When cold cut in desired shapes, and ice with an orange icing.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

THOSE ALKALINE LIMA BEANS

Those who are doing heavy work usually come home wishing for a heavy nourishing meal, and the tendency is to eat too many of the heavy acid-forming foods. One of the recent important discoveries in the food line is that lima beans are very alkaline forming. If you serve lima beans occasionally you may be sure that you are serving an alkaline food which will tend to balance the acid-forming foods in your diet and so build for better health.

Dried lima beans are also rich in vitamin B, which prevents pellagra and polyneuritis. They are a good winter food, being heat and energy producers. The dried lima beans are especially valuable in those places where it is hard to get fresh vegetables during the winter. When cooked, these beans have a rich, nut-like flavor. They are not expensive, and when using them the housewife cuts down the cost of the meal because they swell up by absorbing water. When you buy two cupfuls of dried lima beans you have six cupfuls when they are cooked.

Lima beans are more wholesome than the ordinary dried beans and they do not have as much of a tendency to form gas. Dried lima beans are a good source of protein, containing 18 per cent. However, the protein is not a complete one, and the beans should be supplemented by the use of meat, milk or eggs at some other meal of the day. Lima beans also contain a large amount of starch and those who have a tendency to gas sometimes find that the mixture of protein and starch causes excessive fermentation. This condition will not be so pronounced if vigorous physical culture exercises are used.

When you use lima beans it is the best plan to make them the principal dish of a meal, using in addition large quantities of cooked and raw nonstarchy vegetables. Lima beans may be made into a variety of hearty home dishes that taste good after a day of hard work. Here is a good basic recipe for preparing dried lima beans: In the morning after breakfast put the lima beans to soak in cold water. About half an hour before supper time drain the lima beans, cover them with boiling water and cook slowly until they are tender. This requires about thirty minutes. Add a little salt after they have been cooking about twenty minutes. This recipe can be used for either large or baby limas. If you do not wish to cook the limas yourself, you can obtain them from your grocer already cooked and canned.

LIMA BEAN SOUP

Rub two cupfuls of cooked lima beans through a colander. Add three cupfuls of hot water, one cupful of condensed milk, a half-teaspoonful of salt, and a quarter of a teaspoonful of celery salt. Mix in one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley. Boil for about five minutes, stirring constantly. Serve with a lump of butter in each dish.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

FARMER BROWN'S BOY IS ANGRY

Give way to anger if you must,
But first be sure that it is just.
—Old Mother Nature.

Farmer Brown's Boy had been a very busy boy. To begin with, there were his studies at school and the home work that went with them. Then there were many duties at home, for Farmer Brown's Boy had been taught that it was his place to share in the farm work. So he did not have much spare time to roam in the Green Forest and keep track of what was going on in the Old Pasture and along the Laughing Brook and on the Green Meadows. Whenever he could slip away without neglecting his duties he did so and enjoyed these trips the more for the fact that he felt they were fairly earned.

So it was that Farmer Brown's Boy had not been aware of what was going on around the Smiling Pool and along the Laughing Brook. There were signs warning hunters and trappers that no hunting or trapping would be allowed there and Farmer Brown's Boy felt that these signs would be respected. He himself would respect such a sign on the land of another and so he expected his own signs to be respected.

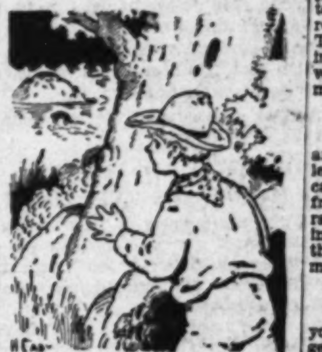
One Saturday afternoon he had some spare time and decided to go down to the Smiling Pool. "I want to see how Jerry Muskrat and his family are getting along," he explained to Bowser the Hound. "You'll have to stay behind this time, old fellow, for you would be sure to scare Jerry or any other members of his family who might be about."

So Bowser mournfully watched his master trudge across the Green Meadows toward the Smiling Pool. In his pockets were carrots and apples, which he intended to scatter for the Muskrats. It was a little before dusk, which is the time when Jerry and his family and friends delight to come out. Farmer Brown's Boy sat down on an old log back of an alder bush. It was a favorite place. Many times had he sat there watching Jerry Muskrat going about his business and not once suspecting that he was being watched.

The Smiling Pool was like a sheet of glass. Not a ripple stirred its placid surface anywhere. From the farther side the Black Shadows were beginning to creep out. Presently a faint, pleasant odor of musk reached the nose of Farmer Brown's Boy and he smiled. Jerry or Mrs. Jerry or some member of the family must be near. Then he heard a faint splash up the Laughing Brook. A moment or two later a brown head appeared moving out into the Smiling Pool. It was headed toward the Big Rock.

"That isn't Jerry," thought Farmer Brown's Boy. "It isn't quite big enough for Jerry. It must be one of his children. Hello! Here comes another."

Sure enough, another Muskrat was swimming out from Jerry Muskrat's house. He was swimming straight toward Farmer Brown's Boy. Just beyond the alder behind which the latter was sitting was a little landing place made long ago by Jerry Muskrat. It was toward this that the swimmer was headed. Farmer Brown's boy held his breath, or almost held it. He took care not to move so much as a finger. It was very still there and he heard faint squeaks from up the Laughing Brook and down the Laughing Brook and across the Smiling Pool. The Muskrats were talking. He wished he could understand what they said. Of one thing he was certain and this was that they did not suspect his presence. There wasn't a suggestion of suspicion or fear in those squeaky voices.



"That isn't Jerry," though Farmer Brown's Boy

The swimmer coming toward him was very near now. Perhaps he would come out on that little landing. He was so near now that that queer tail rapidly moving from side to side could be plainly seen. It was a young Muskrat. Farmer Brown's Boy could tell this by his size and appearance.

"He must be one of Jerry's last family," thought Farmer Brown's Boy. "Probably he'll spend the winter in that house over there with his father and mother."

Just then the young Muskrat reached the little landing and started to climb out. He made hard work of it. He was clumsy. Farmer Brown's Boy thought this queer. Then the young Muskrat turned as he sat up and Farmer Brown's Boy saw that he had nly a stump where one of his front legs should have been. A wave of anger swept over Farmer Brown's Boy. "Someone has been trapping here," he thought. "I must look into this. Poor little fellow! How you must have suffered before you got free from that trap. If I can catch that trapper he'll wish he never had set a trap. Yes, sir, he will so."

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

NORMA TALMADGE will appear in “The Greeks Had a Word for It” on the Los Angeles stage, later doing the movie version.

Joseph Schenck has purchased rights to this Zoe Akins comedy, one of the season's best successes in New York at a price reported to be more than $100,000. The deal was closed Thursday in New York with William Harris, Jr., the producer and attorneys acting for Miss Akins.

NORMA TALMADGE.

The play will come along in the spring. The picture will not be made until after the New York run has been concluded, which means, judging from the box-office record it is now piling up, probably not for another year.

This interesting piece of news had both rialto wiseacres and movie folk circles alike buzzing last night.

It will mark the first time that Miss Talmadge appears on the local stage, and to the best of my knowledge, the first time on the stage anywhere. It wouldn't be at all surprising if Schenck, who is entrepreneuring the production, would get his friend, Sid Grauman, to stage it.

“The Greeks Had a Word For It” in New York has Muriel Kirkland in the role Miss Talmadge will have. Now at the Sam H. Harris Theater, it began its run late in September and been one of the outstanding hits of the season.

Jean Arthur in Play

And Jean Arthur, motion-picture actress, on the contract list at Paramount, is going to take a little flyer in the spoken drama.

JEAN ARTHUR.

Miss Arthur will appear as guest artist in the production of “Spring Song,” by Bella Spewack, which has its premier performance at the Pasadena Community Playhouse this coming Thursday evening.

She will play the role of Florrie, daughter to Mrs. Solomon, as played by Vera Gordon, well-known character actress. The rest of the cast in this play of New York's East Side are Nadje Gordon, Morris Strasberg, Franklin Provo, Fannie Stanley, Burgett, Frank Starr, Harold Enfield, Marguerite Hayes, Pearl Winters and Ralph Neff.

Miss Arthur has appeared in quite a number of motion pictures, including “The Green Murder Case,” “Halfway to Heaven” and others, but this, too, is for her a first venture on the stage.

Vine Street Cast

Here's the complete cast for “She Had to Marry,” which will start tomorrow night at the Vine Street Theater: Nancy Fair, Myrtis Crinley, Al Bridge, Eddie Featherston, Lord Chester, Gordon Demain and Prince Yucca Troubetskoy.

“She Had to Marry” is a brand-new farce by Margaret Echard. It is described as both sophisticated and funny.

“Apple Cart” in North

There is no show at the Music Box this week, but its stage is far from dark and silent. Rehearsals for “Peter Pan,” the Sir James M. Barrie whimsy, are going at a merry pace preparatory to the opening a week from tonight.

“The Apple Cart,” announced to come back this week, is staying an additional seven days in San Francisco.

Along the Eastern Front

“Blackbirds of 1930” closed its run at the Royale Theater on Saturday night.

Brock Pemberton's production of “Made in Hollywood,” by Donald Davis, has gone into rehearsal. The cast includes Alan Brooks, James Brooks, James B. Carson, John Wesley, James Spottswood, Geoffrey Bryant and Margaret Lee. The play will open at the Apollo Theater in Atlantic City.

“Success” will be the latest Schwab and Mandel musical comedy of which Fields, Rodgers and Hart will be the authors.

“The Baby in the Case,” a farce comedy by Anita Hart and Maurice Braddell, is scheduled for a Broadway production late next month by Thomas Kilpatrick.

“MATA HARI” GIVEN AT THEATER MART

Jeraldine Dvorak Enacts Name Role in New Drama by Mrs. Barney

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

Out of that dynamic woman, Mata Hari, creature of a thousand varying moods and tenses, Alice Pike Barney has wrought a play dealing with primeval impulses, whose flames unleashed by war startled a world in the midst of the throes of revolution.

“Mata Hari” is receiving its premiere at the Theater Mart, which is sponsored by Mrs. Barney

A historic personage, “Mata Hari, more or less introvert in processes of mind, becomes a renegade through the exigencies of fate and her own virulent quality. As the play unfolds there would seem to be little consonance between the girl and the woman. The girl is a sensitive, delicately nurtured flower, and later through man's prostitution of her loveliness, returns to the primitive in order to fight the disillusioning effect of a sordid world.

At times there is an overabundance of exposition in the play and the dialogue lags in spots. These faults, however, will doubtless be remedied.

Francis Joseph Hickson contributes beautiful settings which prove an admirable foil for the exotic heroine.

The sublimity of this supreme egotist Mata Hari, as realized by Jeraldine Dvorak, is convincing. It is a part which makes large demands upon the portrayer. Miss Dvorak imbued the part with a mysterious charm and modulated shading. As the Marquis de Montessac, Pierre de Ramey displayed finesse and charm, though slightly more intensity would make the part more appealing. Herbert Evans gave vigorous and sympathetic nuance to the part of the devoted Dr. Bralez. Considerable humor and a deft touch brought tribute to Emilie Straube as Madam Sierd. A dainty little German spy was enacted with aplomb by Joan Lloyd. R. L. Stevenson gave excellent characterization as Monsieur Zelle, and Anthony Sheehan was a properly dissolute English army captain.

Talented Actress Plays New Role

Joan Crawford
Plays what is said to be a truly dramatic part in “Paid,” an M.-G.-M. picture which starts Wednesday at the Criterion Theater.

BELASCO PICKS PLAY CAST

The current New York comedy success which has been playing for the past four months, “Up Pops the Devil,” opens Christmas night at the local Belasco Theater under the banner of Belasco and Curran. The play includes in its cast a number of actors who have won laurels upon stage and screen.

Raymond Hackett, brother of Albert Hackett, who with Frances Goodrich wrote “Up Pops the Devil,” has been engaged for the leading role. Ann Teaman, who recently arrived from New York where she has been playing in Broadway stage productions, will play the little newlywed dancer.

Esther Howard, a noted actress in New York musical and dramatic shows during the past ten years, will portray the “hard-boiled” newspaper scribe. The important comedy part of Biney, a hair-brained press agent at Roxy's movie palace, is in the hands of John Arledge, the young actor who scored in the courtroom scene with Pauline Frederick in “The Crimson Hour.” Leyland Hodgson, who played opposite Lenore Ulric in “East of Suez,” at the Belasco, will appear as an author's agent. Lex Lindsay, the husband with Ina Claire in “Rebound,” also has a prominent part.

This comedy of a struggling young Greenwich Village couple who keep open house to their friends has a group of minor comedy types, one of whom is a laundryman, played by the Negro actor, James Adamson.

“ALADDIN” GIVEN AT MUSIC BOX THEATER

Professional Touch Achieved by Cast Including Junior League Members

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

“Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp” was presented by the Junior League Players Saturday morning at the Music Box with an eye-dazzling luster and a professional finish. Aladdin, himself, was the star of the play, of course. Miss Katherine Rollins held a straightforward boyish attitude throughout a tale that involved the most sophisticated difficulties.

The play progressed through two colorful acts with three scenes each, and the stage management which included so many disappearances and instantaneous, or, at least, almost instant changes was excellently directed. The palace for the princess grew in the most miraculous manner and the genie was an awesome sight. The costumes were nothing short of magnificent with satins and jewels everywhere.

The children for whom this performance was so painstakingly assembled did not seem greatly impressed. They were really more interested in the lollipops which were distributed during the intermission by a charming group of lady Arabians. They liked the rhythms of Gus Arnheim though, and rhythm of movement and sometimes of speech was one of the lovely things about this play. Another was the contagious jollity of one of the three intimate detractors of the young idler, Aladdin. One could not tell which was which by the program, but this one had a red velvet bolero and a delicious sense of the ridiculous.

Perhaps the children's reaction to the play on Saturday was due to their feeling the grown-up atmosphere which prevailed. The “Weaver of Tales,” for instance, came before the curtain with an exact imitation of Miss Soo Yong of Mei Lan Fang's company. This was rather distracting. The opening of a side door which admitted the bright outdoor light also turned thoughts away from the story. And some of the loveliest costumes were quite obviously meant to please the Sunday-night audience rather than these 10 o'clock-Saturday-morning boys and girls who wanted a story. Fairytales for children and fairytales for grownups are quite two different things and this play tried to give some of each with a result that was rather confusing.

Mrs. W. H. Leimert and Mrs. Harrison Lobdell earned special commendation for the staging of this fantasy and there is a long list of workers in the Children's Theater Company whose wit and devotion made possible this production for the Convalescents' Home. It will be repeated again Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Jascha Heifetz Plays Tonight at Auditorium

Heifetz plays a recital tonight at the Philharmonic Auditorium, for the pleasure of devotees who were turned away from the symphony concerts last week. The Grieg “Concerto in C Minor” for piano and violin, the Bruch “Fantasy,” “Tzigane,” by Ravel, and a group of moderns have been announced for the program tonight.

JASCHA HEIFETZ

This recital will be the last opportunity to hear the violin genius in two years, as Heifetz leaves for a world tour in May which will keep him away from the United States for an entire season.

Rhythm Boys Will Perform at Paramount

“Along Came Youth,” Paramount's film comedy, will have its first local showing at the Paramount Theater Thursday in conjunction with a gala array of stage talent, including the Rhythm Boys of the Ambassador Hotel Orchestra, who will appear at the two matinee performances daily and at all performances Sunday. “Harem Hokum,” another New York stage show, is scheduled to start Thursday.

The Rhythm Boys are said to have a tremendous following in musical circles. They are Bing Crosby, Harry Barris and Al Rinker.

“Along Came Youth,” the screen fare is a comedy romance featuring Charles Rogers, Frances Dee, Stuart Erwin, William Austin and others play parts.

“Holiday” Will Start Thursday

“Holiday,” the Pathe picture adapted from Philip Barry's stage play, is announced as the picture coming to Loew's State Theater Thursday.

Starring Ann Harding as the society girl who is in love with her sister's fiance, the picture is declared to present the highest quality of smart dialogue, comedy, sophistication and intelligent direction.

Mary Astor, Robert Ames, Edward Everett Horton, Hedda Hopper, William Holden, Monroe Owsley and others play the supporting roles. E. H. Griffith directed.

WAR FARCE COMING TO DOWNTOWN

“Soldier's Plaything” Booked for Engagement Starting Friday

“A Soldier's Plaything,” from an original screen story by Vina Delmar, is to be the next attraction at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater, starting Friday.

The story of this Vitaphone production is that of a German peasant girl who falls in love with an American doughboy. A humorous side of the war is presented, according to reports.

Included in the cast are Ben Lyon, Harry Langdon, Lotti Loder, Noah Beery, Jean Hersholt, Fred Kohler, Lee Moran and Marie Astaire.

Michael Curtiz directed the production.

Smallman and Singers Offer Fine Program

BY I. M. J.

A choral program of unusual interest was given by the Los Angeles Oratorio Society under the direction of John Smallman yesterday afternoon. In place of the Christmas oratorio which is annually offered by this society, Mr. Smallman presented worthy and varied chorals from Palestrina to Holst and Balfour Gardiner. The greatest effort was put forth in Verdi's Manzoni Requiem and the fine music most fully realized was Brahms's “Song of the Fates.”

The chorus has evidently added some fresh, new voices. The singing yesterday was full of enthusiasm but tempered with musical restraint. Lorna Gregg, at the piano, does bold and vigorous work in shaping the choral phrases. Dr. Ray Hastings presided at the organ, supplying the orchestral effects.

“The Song of the Fates,” by Brahms, is a dramatic masterpiece with the Brahmsian richness and warm color. “A Song of the Future,” by the American, Philip James, had strength of inspiration and a fresh approach. The Oratorio Society is to be commended for overtones. Holst, the English composer, harked back to “Aida” in his praises “To the Unknown God.” It is cycle music of ageless aspiration.

“There Were Three Ravens” and “News from Whydah,” from the pen of H. Balfour Gardiner, were delightful arrangements of folk lore, done with a practiced and loving hand. “Whydah” had a salty tang that was welcome.

The concert closed with “Day of Anger,” from the Verdi Requiem. It included solo parts by Frances Van Gundy, a promising contralto; Samuel Kirk, a bass, who song in the English manner; Betty Boldrick, the lyric soprano, and Warren Coleman, tenor. Although the solo parts were a step beyond the powers of the singers, the quartet ensemble was good and the entire performance a worth-while effort.

Irish Tenor Sings Popular Celtic Gems

A decided novelty in recitals was that given last night at the Beaux Arts Auditorium by Rev. Father George Maguire, whose program consisted chiefly of gems of Celtic melody, popular with all, but seldom heard on the concert stage.

An Irish tenor with a voice hauntingly sweet in tone, Father Maguire charmed his audience with such melodies as the “Derry Air,” “The Rose of Tralee,” “I'm Sitting on the Style, Mary,” “Lark in the Clear Cold Air,” “The Shelling Song” and “Killarney.” His interpretation retained the simplicity and sentiment of these songs admirably and compensated for his somewhat faulty technique.

“Panis Angelicus” from a Cesar Franck's mass, was given with appropriate dignity. “Celeste Aida” from Verdi's opera, “Aida,” could have been omitted from his program as it is decidedly not suited to Father Maguire's temperament. The lovely old gems of Celtic origin belong especially to him and to these he should remain faithful.

Madeline Kelso sang “The Blind Ploughman,” “The Last Rose of Summer,” “The Slumber Song” and “Home Sweet Home,” and is a lyric soprano of promise. She lacks perfect control and assurance, but her voice has a natural loveliness revealing a well-equalized tone and intelligence in use.

CHEST ANSWERS CARPING CRITICS

Excuses for Refusing Help Summed Up

Work of Campaign Goes on Without Halt

Officials Hope Full Quota Will Be Attained

Belated reports and continued hard work on the part of a large number of volunteer workers slowly are bringing the Community Chest fund upward toward the $3,200,000 needed to finance the 124 welfare and relief agencies next year, is the statement made last evening by Campaign Chairman Kerr. The final report luncheon was held at the Biltmore Wednesday, but since that date additional subscriptions have been received daily. Chest officials hope that the entire amount needed will be collected.

"The excuses some people offer for not shouldering their part of the community responsibility are surprising," said Chairman Kerr. "Some of the most common are the following: 'The Chest pays big salaries and is not conducted economically;' 'unfair discrimination is shown in the allocation of funds;' 'there are too much red tape and delay in giving emergency aid;' 'some one told somebody of a case where the Chest failed to render service, and sent a worthy applicant away without assistance;' 'the Chest uses coercion in compelling subscriptions.'

CRITICISM UNJUST

"Any person who will take the trouble to investigate will find that all of these objections and criticisms are unwarranted. There is, perhaps, not another large business concern in the city whose overhead is as economical as that of the Chest. Less than 7 per cent is required to defray the administrative and campaign costs of the Chest for an entire year.

"There is no discrimination in the allocation of funds. The needs of the agencies are determined by semiannual audits and careful investigation on the part of the budget committee. The recommendations of the budget committee subsequently are approved by the board of directors. The budget committee and the board of directors are composed of representative business men and prominent citizens, who devote a great deal of time to the interests of the Community Chest agencies without any financial compensation whatever.

"There is no red tape or delay in administering aid to emergency cases. All such cases brought to the attention of the Community Chest information bureau are given immediate attention. Investigation as to merit is made later.

"Reports of asserted failure to give proper attention to applications for assistance invariably shows either justifiable circumstances or misrepresentation of facts. The Community Chest acts as a clearinghouse for collecting and disbursing through the agencies, the money that is intrusted to it by the public. It does not disburse any money direct to applicants seeking aid. The agencies are supposed to render the service of relief and assistance. It is true that in some circumstances the agencies decline assistance, but there is always a perfectly good reason for doing so. It is a misdemeanor for an individual or an organization to give aid in such cases. Others, upon investigation, are found to have resources or means of obtaining aid that are adequate. It is not uncommon to find that some applicants are impostors.

FUNDS INSUFFICIENT

"The surprising phase of the situation is that there are some persons who expect the Community Chest agencies to give aid to all cases when it is generally known that the funds subscribed by the citizens for welfare and relief work have never been sufficient for the ever-increasing demands. The agencies can make their dollars go just so far and no farther. Thousands of individuals, well able to do so, do not subscribe their full share. Thousands of others give nothing at all. If there was ever a time when human sympathy and financial aid are necessary to take care of the poor and needy it is now. Any person who has not subscribed or who is financially able to increase his subscription previously made is urged to mail his check to the Los Angeles Community Chest, 216 Chamber of Commerce Building.

ELKS HONOR MEMORY OF DEPARTED

Lodge Service Conducted Yesterday as Tribute to Those Who Have Died

A tribute, "written on the tablets of love and memory," was paid yesterday afternoon to eighty-two members of the Los Angeles Elks' lodge who died during the past twelve months. The memorial service, described by members of the organization as the most solemn of the lodge rituals, was held in the Elks' Temple near Westlake Park. It was one of 1500 similar services held by other lodges, here and abroad.

Lafayette A. Lewis, Past Exalted Ruler of the Anaheim lodge, who gave the spoken tribute at yesterday's service, said the great principal of the order is fidelity.

"Our brothers who have passed on," Mr. Lewis said, "are exemplars of fidelity and they are the inspiration to us to carry on the three principles of fidelity, charity and brotherly love."

During the course of the service sprays of forget-me-nots, amaranth and ivy were placed on the memorial altar as symbols of the three principles.

The memorial was carried out with the solemnity of a church service. The vested choir of St. James' Episcopal Church sang the processional and recessional and two anthems. Hugh Wellington Martyn, youthful Canadian baritone, who sang "Requiem," and J. A. Apert, harpist, were included in the musical program.

The service has been a yearly ritual since 1889 when the faults of three brothers were "written upon the sands and their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory."

MUSICIAN WED TO ANGELENO BANKER

Mrs. Louis H. Roseberry

ROSEBERRY AND BRIDE ON HONEYMOON

Well-Known Banker Weds Music Instructress at Mission Inn Friday

Louis H Roseberry

Following a quiet wedding in Riverside Friday evening, Louis H. Roseberry, vice-president in charge of the trust department, Security First National Bank of Los Angeles, former State Senator, and his bride, nee Mae Kennedy, are honeymooning in Monterey today.

The wedding took place in Mission Inn with only a few close friends in attendance after a year and a half of romance. The bride was a teacher of harmony and history of music at the Hollywood Conservatory of Music and resided in the school dormitory at 5332 Hollywood Boulevard.

Miss Eleda Nourie, a student at the school, acted as bridesmaid, and Charles Bent, Los Angeles insurance man, as best man. Guests in attendance at the wedding and dinner besides them included Mrs. Bent, Mrs. Gladys T. Lyttell, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin W. Widney and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Longyear.

Roseberry was divorced last summer in Reno, Nev., by Jeanette Roseberry, whom he married in Santa Barbara in 1912.

The bride, 30 years of age, came to Hollywood from Winnipeg, Canada, about two years ago.

Friends said they expected Mr. and Mrs. Roseberry to return here within ten days. It is expected they will reside in the banker's home at 1965 De Mille Drive, Beverly Hills. He is 50 years of age.

EXHIBITION OF POULTRY CONCLUDED

Fifth Annual Show Comes to End as "Times" Prize Goes to Scherruble

With the final awarding of prizes to more than seventy exhibitors and with the announcement of the Board of Supervisors that plans now are being made for a sixth exhibition, the fifth annual Los Angeles County Midwinter Poultry Show, held in the Shrine Civic Auditorium since Tuesday, closed yesterday.

An unusually large number of exhibits were entered in the show. There were approximately 700 chickens, 160 rabbits, 1400 pigeons, 120 bantams, fifty waterfowl and fifty turkeys.

One of the feature attractions at the show was the "best bird," a Buff Orpington cockerel owned by Henry Scherruble of Encinitas. His entrant won the Los Angeles Times Farm and Garden Magazine challenge cup for the best bird of any breed in the show. Having won a similar award previously Scherruble retains permanent possession of the cup.

Championship awards for best of breed and class were won by P. J. Peltier of Los Angeles for the champion cock, a Rhode Island Red; J. Will Blackman of La Canada for the champion bantam, a Black Cochin; Buena Vista Turkey Ranch in El Cajon for the champion turkey, a bronze turkey; Horace Gibson of Nuevo for the champion water fowl, a young white China goose; P. J. Peltier of Los Angeles for the champion ornamental bird, a Buff Cochin bantam; Thomas P. Endicott of Granada for the champion hen, a White Orpington; Scholl & Scholl of Long Beach for the champion pullet, a Barred Plymouth Rock.

PLEA FOR COUNTY AID ON PROJECT URGED

A bequest that the city apply to the Board of Supervisors for an allocation of $242,203 toward the improvement of Venice Boulevard, between Sixth avenue and Rimpau Boulevard, has been made by the Venice Boulevard Improvement Association. The City Council referred the matter to its County Affairs Committee.

CITY BIRTHDAY PLANS SHAPING

Committee Announcement on Fete Plans Due Today

Dockweiler Heads Move for Affair in September

Large Group Will be Named to Conduct Event

Ground work for festive observance of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Los Angeles will be officially laid today with the announcement of the Mayor's committee on organization which is charged with the responsibility of naming a large and representative committee and an executive committee to carry the project through.

Steps to launch a celebration of the birthday of the city were taken last month when Mayor Porter called a conference of civic and business leaders. From this group a committee on organization was chosen and its personnel as now announced follows: Isidore B. Dockweiler, chairman; John G. Bullock, James R. Martin, D. W. Pontius, John G. Mott, Orra E. Monnette, Laurance L. Hill, Mrs. Christine Sterling, Miss Grace Stoermer, Edwin A. Meserve, Bruce A. Findlay and N. P. Alexander. This committee already is holding sessions and is expected to announce the large general committee and the executive committee before the first of the year.

Not since Los Angeles was 100 years old, on September 4, 1881, has any attempt been made to hold a large-scale celebration. Mr. Dockweiler, a native of this city, has boyhood memories of that community jubilation. Los Angeles then had about 12,000 population and Mr. Dockweiler states that if the present population of 1,200,000 works as enthusiastically in preparing for the sesquicentennial as the 12,000 persons did in getting ready for the centennial, the resulting celebration will rival even the Olympic Games in attracting visitors to Los Angeles and Southern California.

"No city is more justified in celebrating the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of its founding than ours, because no city in all the world has made the proportionate growth in the past half-century that Los Angeles has or has accomplished more," he said. "To commemorate the birthday will serve to bring our accomplishments to the attention of the world, but even more important it will bring those accomplishments to our own attention. If the celebration did not bring a single outside visitor, it would be worth while in itself. We need to sell Los Angeles to ourselves more than ever in the past."

With plans yet in a formative state, there is a general agreement among those who have taken the initiative in starting the celebration movement, that the festivities should extend over at least a week, with special events on the natal day, September 4, and Admission Day, September 9. It is proposed that great historical parades and pageants and a huge floral parade shall be features. The latter will be an elaboration of the beautiful flower festivals of "La Fiesta de Los Angeles" held back in the '90's. The whole spirit of these gala occasions of nearly forty years ago, which meant so much to the life of a city yet under 100,000 population will be revived and carried on by the colorful celebration of next year.

The King of Spain and the President of Mexico have already been invited to be honor guests. With the Olympic Games to be conducted here before the 150th year of the city's history has sped its course, it is expected that Los Angeles will be much in the international eye during that period.

SON OF "TIGER" VISITING HERE

while he was teaching school in New England as a young man.

By profession the son of the famous French statesman is an engineer. Although half-American by birth, his command of English is limited but he has managed to tour across the country with little inconvenience caused by his inability to speak the tongue of his mother.

While he has not attempted to follow his father into the political arena he naturally has a keen interest not only in French political affairs, but in international relations. He would not discuss the present political upheaval in France, but on the general European situation he was glad to comment for, he said, the danger of war has been somewhat exaggerated.

While he agreed that all Europe seems to be an armed camp he does not feel that war in any important part of the continent is imminent. As to Franco-Italian relations, he thinks the situation is more one of noise than of real danger. There will never be a war between the two nations, in his opinion.

EVANGELIST SITS IN PEW AT TEMPLE

Mrs. McPherson Hears Another Deliver Sermon From Her Pulpit

Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple, sat in a pew there yesterday morning and listened to a sermon from the pulpit she has occupied for so many years. She partook of communion and made a few brief remarks in which she expressed the hope of a quick recovery from her illness, which dates from last August.

She has been passing the week at a beach cottage with her secretary, May Waldron. The bulldog guard placed over the home of "Ma" Kennedy, the mother of the evangelist, for the past week has been withdrawn and Mrs. Kennedy has discontinued comment on the case.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING VALUE FIXED

Head of Agency Here to Establish Branch, Lauds "The Times" Standards

OTTO GUNTHER JR

"A newspaper may have millions of subscribers, but if it lacks the confidence of its readers, it has little value as an advertising medium," said Otto Guenther, president of the Guenther-Bradford & Co. advertising agency of Chicago, on his arrival in Los Angeles to establish a branch. He expects to spend a week in the Southland, making a general survey of marketing and industrial conditions.

Newspapers, Guenther said, may be divided into two classes: those which build up an enormous circulation by handling news in a sensational manner and the conservative type which wins and holds the confidence of its readers by presenting the truth unadorned. If a newspaper's readers question its editorial honesty, this lack of confidence may also extend to its advertising columns.

The Los Angeles Times Guenther characterized as one of the nation's greatest newspapers and one which enjoys, to the fullest degree, the confidence of both the buying public and the advertisers who spend millions of dollars annually in getting their sales message over to the masses.

He paid a high personal tribute to the late Gen. Otis, founder of The Times, ranking him with Horace Greeley, Charles Dana and other great editors who have had the courage of their convictions.

"The Southland," the advertising executive declared, "is an empire in itself, and its development is largely due, I believe, to the influence of The Times. Los Angeles has only begun to grow. When I was here in 1915 I predicted a population within a few years of 1,000,000—and here you are, well on the way toward the second million! You have climate, plenty of room for development and every natural resource. So why shouldn't Los Angeles become one of America's greatest cities?"

LONG BEACH DOCTOR DIES IN MYSTERY

Dr. Cleon C. Mason Victim of Overdose of Sleeping Powder at His Home

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 7.—Dr. Cleon C. Mason, 42 years of age, widely known here as a specialist in children's diseases, died unexpectedly today at his home, 219 East Tenth street. An overdose of amytal, a sleeping powder, was given as the cause of death. Whether an inquest will be conducted will be determined tomorrow by Deputy Coroner Donlin, following an autopsy.

The death claimed police attention when members of Dr. Mason's household summoned a fire department inhalator squad. When detectives arrived at the house they found four other physicians attending the stricken man. Aside from announcing Dr. Mason had succumbed to an overdose of the powder, the doctors gave the detectives no information. The officers reported they were unable, therefore, to conduct an investigation.

Dr. Mason received his education at Grinnell College, Iowa. He taught school for a time at San Pedro and Torrance; then entered Johns-Hopkins for his medical training. He was a major in the medical corps during the World War and later prepared the food reports that were presented by the Army Medical Corps in connection with the Versailles treaty.

Several years ago, Dr. Mason served a term as president of the Long Beach Breakfast Club. He also was a member of the Rotary Club. Besides his widow, Mrs. Emily Baldwin Mason, he leaves a daughter, Anna, 12, and two brothers, Bruce Mason, formerly City Attorney here, and Dr. Verne R. Mason of Los Angeles.

VETERANS' AID PLAN ADVANCED

Block of $4,000,000 Bonds Will be Offered for Sale in January

Speeding the program to make available to California ex-service men the benefits of the veterans' bonds voted at the last general election, Allen B. Bixby, chairman of the State Veterans' Welfare Board, has reported to Gov. Young that a $4,000,000 block of the bonds will be placed on sale about the first week in February, the earliest date possible under the law.

"Immediately after the new bond act became effective a meeting of the board was called to begin the necessary procedure for the creation and sale of these bonds," said Bixby. "A meeting of the Veterans' Welfare Finance Committee resulted in the authorization of the creation of a block of 4000 of these bonds, in denominations of $1000 each, to bear interest at the rate of 4 1-4 per cent."

Several hundred tentatively approved applications have been sent to the board's branch offices that the applicants may be interviewed and issued certificates authorizing them to select and submit property for purchase under the Farm and Home Purchase Act, Bixby added. He said further it is anticipated that by the time the money derived from the bond sale is available an immense amount of property will be ready to be taken out of escrow.

WILDCAT PREPARED FOR TEST

Ritchie No. 1 in New Kern County Field Succeeds With Water Shut-off

The Ritchie No. 1 wildcat, which Dr. J. J. Ritchie is drilling on the boundary of Tejon Range, six miles east of Wheeler Ridge, in Kern county, will perhaps prepare today to set liner, after which the crew will undertake to bring in the well.

Yesterday the crew swabbed the well down to the top of the oil sand, and, according to reports, it showed no water. It now is believed that a perfect cement job was done and that a water shut-off was obtained.

While the well was being bailed yesterday the gas pressure was so heavy that it shot the fluid clear over the crown block of the derrick. The well is situated on Sec. 33, 11-18. Total depth is 4923 feet, with oil showings from 4725 feet to bottom.

In the event that this well should be brought in as a commercial producer it would open up another important oil field in Kern county, and would be the most southeasterly field in the county.

PILOT NEAR DEATH FROM GLIDER FALL

Fred Chambers Injured Severely in Second Crash Within Two Months

Only two months after he had been severely injured in a glider crash, Fred Chambers, 45 years of age, president of the Monterey Park Glider Club, crashed to the ground again yesterday afternoon as his glider was cruising over his club's field, and suffered injuries which this time may prove fatal. He was taken to the Alhambra Health Center where, in addition to several broken ribs, it was found that he had been injured internally.

The gliding club's field, which is about a mile from the home of Chambers at 132 West Garvey Road, Monterey Park, was surrounded by a large number of parked automobiles whose occupants were watching the flight of Chambers when, in making a turn in a corner of the field the glider apparently struck an air pocket and dashed down from a height of 100 feet.

Just before it hit the ground, the glider struck the hood of an automobile, in which five people were seated, but none of the spectators was injured.

Four-fifths of the exports from British Malaya last year were to the United States.

BEDTIME STORY TRAGEDY INVESTIGATION CONCLUDED

Detectives assigned to the investigation of the shooting of Mrs. Lydia Sorrell, 42-year-old mother who was killed Saturday night as she was reading to her two small sons, last night said their investigation of the tragedy had been closed. The officers said their report would be given to the County Coroner today, when an inquest date will be set.

The shot which ended Mrs. Sorrell's life came as the family were planning a Sunday outing in the desert and, according to Richard Sorrell, the husband, was caused when he made an abrupt movement with a gun in his hand in order to turn a radio dial. The family resides at 106 West Eighty-seventh street.

Mrs. Sorrell was the sister of Al and Abe Espinosa, well known golf professionals. One of the brothers, Al, was not told of the accidental death of his sister until yesterday and the news came to him in San Francisco, where he was playing for a links championship.

Al's brother broke the news to him and the information was too much for him. He "broke" shortly after play had started in the afternoon round and was beaten by Leo Diegel.

Besides her brothers, Mrs. Sorrell leaves two sisters, Mrs. Selig Stigler, San Francisco, and Mrs. Al de la Torres of Monterey.

Realty Dealer Kills Himself

With a self-inflicted bullet wound in the head, E. R. Hoover, real estate dealer, was found dead yesterday in his office at 40 Avenue 28, Venice. Business acquaintances told police he recently hinted at suicide, complaining that he had "lived seven years too long." Two sealed letters were found beside the body, accompanied by a note requesting that they be mailed. One was addressed to Mrs. Miriam Hoover, 1108 Eighth street, Greeley, Colo., the other to Mrs. Jennie Hoover, Lincoln, N. C. The body was removed to the Kirkelie, Bernard & Peek mortuary, Venice.

KINGS COLLECT POSTAGE STAMPS

To kings and small boys alike who ride together, the world over, the hobby of stamp collecting, the second annual exhibition and convention of the National Philatelic Society in Boston, Mass., will make an effective appeal.

While it may be a comparatively simple problem for King George of England, King Albert of Belgium, Queen Helena of Italy, Emperor Hirohito of Japan and other celebrities to gather splendid collections, their interest scarcely can exceed the thrill of the youth who swaps tops, marbles and his pet knife for stamps, or will mow your lawn for 50 cents that he may buy a specially desired colorful bit of airplane postage.

Although the stamp-collecting market is always bullish and the competition keen, the dividends are always largely pleasure. To be sure, fabulous profits are sometimes reported, but the value of his collection is incidental to the genuine collector, who would rather talk about his treasures than sell them.

Stamps record and teach both history and geography. To make such subjects of interest to a small child is of itself a valuable accomplishment. The present exhibit—estimated to be worth $2,000,000 — representing every corner of the globe, indicates the universality and far-reaching variety of the lore of philately.

One of the curious points about the stamp business is the fact that mistakes made therein have often high money value. Some people merely profit by their errors in learning to do better, but the philatelist cashes in on them. For instance, a sheet of 100 24-cent stamps inadvertently printed, which was purchased at face value, was later sold for $20,000.

The story of a 1-cent stamp of British Guiana of 1856 quoted at $40,000 is but one of the many romances that this hobby, which serves as a splendid international ambassador of good will, boasts.

The possibilities of philately, the hobby of some, the livelihood of others and the delight of many, are hard to estimate.—[Exchange.

Ladies and Gentlemen All

The rural couple were in the city on their honeymoon and were seated in the corridor of their hotel where a jazz orchestra was playing.

"Don't you love that music, Eldora," invited the husband.

BEACH PROJECT BEFORE BOARD

Supervisors to Consider Pact With State Today

Action on the proposition that Los Angeles county transfer 1100 feet of its publicly owned beach front valued at $1,000,000, located near the mouth of Santa Monica Canyon, to the State, providing the latter match it with land valued at a like amount, is scheduled to come before the Board of Supervisors at its meeting today.

The matter was before the board a week ago, but was continued until today in order to give the two new members, Supervisors Thatcher and Mahaffey, time to study the proposal.

If the proposal is accepted the State would purchase 3330 feet of beach frontage, known as the Gillis property, for $1,000,000. This, it is asserted, would match the county's investment. In addition 2411 feet of the Gillis property would be offered to the county on a lease for three-year periods, providing the county paid the taxes on the land.

Efforts are being made to obtain the State beach frontage under the terms of the $6,000,000 bond issue voted to purchase lands for State recreational purposes, providing localities matched that purchased by the State Park Board.

If the proposition is accepted, according to Attorney Alfred Hill, representing the property owners selling the land, the State will construct groins to build the beach out 150 feet as a means of protecting the Roosevelt Highway which extends along the shore line near the beach property.

The Houses of Parliament and all other royal palaces of England have been placed under the jurisdiction of the special coroner attached to the Royal Household.

WIDOW CARRIES ON FOSTER USURY SUIT

A suit under the usury law for $360,000, thrice the value of Hollywood Polo and Hunt Club property surrendered by the late A. F. Foster to the California Finance Corporation, will be resumed in Superior Judge Warne's court this morning.

Foster, who was shot by bandits July 29, 1929, in front of his home, 2700 San Marino street, deeded an interest in property worth $120,000 to the defendants for a loan of $10,000, in return for which he had to buy $2500 worth of stock in the company, it was testified. Later a mortgage on the property was foreclosed by the finance company and this act is asserted to have been usurious and in violation of the law.

The suit begun by Foster before his death now is being prosecuted by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy W. Foster, special administratrix of his estate.

DALY RITES NOW BEING ARRANGED

Well-Known Realty Man of Venice Victim of Auto on Broadway Saturday

Arrangements are to be completed today for a funeral of Carroll J. Daly, prominent Venice real estate man, who was killed Saturday night by a hit-and-run driver at Sixtieth street and Broadway.

Mr. Daly was born in Brooklyn forty-five years ago. He started life as a newspaper man, but after a brief career turned his attention to real estate. He came to Los Angeles in 1905 and five years later moved to Venice where he established the firm of Carroll J. Daly & Co. He was the first president of the Venice Realty Board and last week was elected chairman of its board of governors. He was first vice-president of the Florence Avenue Improvement Association, one of the founders of the Los Angeles County Association of City Planners, chairman of the Venice Advisory Association, and a director of the Venice branch of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the Venice Business and Amusement Men's Association.

Unmarried, Mr. Daly lived at 19 Avenue 19, Venice, with his sister, Mrs. Josephine Regensberg, and his niece, Miss Elizabeth Regensberg.

NEW CITY DEALS WILL BE SIFTED

Grand Jury Will Subpoena Witnesses Today

Mayor and Steckel Expected to Get "Invitation"

Mono Basin and Harbor Land on Inquiry List

A number of subpoenas are scheduled to be issued and served by the District Attorney's office today on witnesses whom the grand jury has indicated that it wishes to interrogate tomorrow morning.

Although it was admitted yesterday that more than a dozen witnesses will be commanded to appear at the grand jury room tomorrow morning, the names upon the subpoenas were kept a secret.

Whether Mayor Porter, W. B. Mosher, the Mayor's secretary, and Chief of Police Steckel are among those to be subpoenaed was not made known. It was intimated, however, that if the jurors express a desire to see the three they would be "invited" to attend the grand jury session rather than subpoenaed. Last week it was admitted that a faction of the grand jury is in favor of calling Porter, Steckel and Mosher, but whether the situation has changed in the light of subsequent developments was not disclosed.

Whether the Mayor is called, however, it was asserted yesterday that the jurors intend to investigate certain land and water deals in the Mono Basin water district and the condition of municipally owned property at the harbor.

MAP BEFORE COMMITTEE

The City Council has referred to the Public Works Committee the assessment district map for the construction of sewers in the Atlas-street and Lowell-avenue district.
